Happiest Day of My Life...

This rural Warroad, Minnesota, housewife says that one of the happiest days in her life was when the local rural electric cooperative hooked up the power to their farm. They were the first in the area to get service. When she thinks of all the water that she used to have to carry by hand, it makes her appreciate running water all the more, made possible by electricity. She is one of the thousands of farm housewives who appreciate the conveniences of electricity supplied by local rural electric cooperatives and generated by Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc.

School Board Has Special Meet Tuesday

Accepts Resignation Of George Stockman, Hires Two Teachers

Acceptance of one resignation, hiring of two teachers and transfer of funds prior to closing books in preparation for auditing were accomplished by the Thief River Falls board of education meeting in special session Tuesday evening.

It was noted at the session that the operating fund of the district has a balance of $150,702 (exclusive of the building fund) and represents an increase of $33,752 from the previous year. The balances include $129,363 in the general fund, $12,046 in the capital outlay fund and $11,941 in the debt redemption fund. The school lunch fund has a deficit of $2,649.

The resignation of George Stockman as director of elementary education was accepted by the board. Stockman has accepted a similar position at Grand Rapids.

Faculty members hired included Edwin Coombe, elementary teacher, and Miss Genevieve Hutmacher, business teacher. Coombe is a 1964 graduate of St. Cloud State college and his addition to the faculty fills all elementary positions in the city's school system. Miss Hutmacher is a native of Minot, N. D., a graduate of Minot State Teacher's college and has taught for two years in the Minot school system.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson was instructed by the board to advertise for bids on coal and fuel oil and for a station wagon for the school district. Bids will be opened at the August meeting. Next regular meeting of the board will be on July 13.

Fitzsimons Files For Seventh Term In Legislature

Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle has announced his filing for reelection to the Minnesota Legislature from the 67th District which consists of Marshall county. He issued the following statement upon filing.

"During the last session of the legislature it was my privilege to serve as chairman of the House appropriations committee and also as a member of the House rules committee which is the policy-making group in the House. In addition to these two committee assignments, I served on the committees, of agriculture, elections and reapportionment and public domain. I serve as a member of the Natural resources and outdoor recreation commission.

"I was proud to be part of the leadership that made such an outstanding record during the last session of the Legislature. One of my longtime goals as a legislator came much closer to reality as the result of the passage of the state junior college bill. This action appears to put our area of the state withing reach of one of our long time needs for higher education.

The possibility of a junior college at Thief Rier Falls and a technical institute at Crookston are cause of the action of the last Legislative session. As chairman of the House appropriations committee and rules committee member, I was able to exert considerable influence on these decisions and will continue to exert this influence until the goal is a reality.

"As a result of a very recent Supreme Court decision, the pressure for immediate re-apportionment of the Legislature is growing in spite of the fact we re-apportioned the state just two years ago. Before we get into another reapportionment that could leave large areas of northwestern Minnesota without any representation, I want to see the outcome of efforts to amend the U. S. Constitution to allow an area factor in state legislatures. As a member of the House election and reapportionment committee. It will be my aim to make every effort to protect the legitimate interests of rural Minnesota in this very vital decision.

"In filing for a seventh term I appreciate the confidence of the voters of Marshall County and pledge my continuing efforts on their behalf."

Maves, Hoium To Attend Jamboree

Two Thief River Falls members of the Lake Agassiz council of the Boy Scouts of America are among a group of 40 scouts, explorers and leaders from the council who will attend the sixth national scout jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., from July 17 to 23. They are James Maves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Maves, and Harold Hoium, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoium.

A jamboree troop of four patrols of eight boys each is the basis for all jamboree operations, according to Dr. John J. Taylor, jamboree committee chairman. Each patrol elects its own patrol leader and assistant patrol leader.

Maves, a member of Explorer Post 46, Community Methodist church, is quartermaster of Troop 68 of the Lake Agassiz council. Hoium, a member of Troop 60, Trinity Lutheran church, is a member of the Flaming Arrow patrol, one of the four patrols making up Troop 68.

The troop will leave by train from Grand Forks July 12 and will return July 26.

Historic sites related to America's heritage will be highlights of the tour. Valley Forge, where troops of General George Washington camped during the winter of 1777-78, will be the campsite of more than 50,000 scouts and leaders from throughout the United States.

As part of the "Strengthen America's Heritage" program of the Boy Scouts of America, the jamboree troop will visit Washington D. C., with stops at the White House, Capitol, Smithsonian Institute, Washington monument, Lincoln and Jefferson memorials, Two Jima statue, Arlington National cemetery, President Kennedy's grave and Mt. Vernon, home of General Washington. In Philadelphia visits will be made to Independence hall and other sites of historical interest.

Other features of the trip will include a tour of New York City, with about 12 hours at the World's Fair, and on the return trip a visit to Chicago.

Matts Discusses FHA Program at St. Louis Meeting

Area Supervisor Cites Several Loans Made To NW Minnesota Communities

Leslie Matts, Farmer's Home Administration area supervisor for northwestern Minnesota, returned recently from a national FHA meeting in St. Louis, Mo. with eight midwestern states represented. Those at the meeting discussed the program for fiscal 1965, methods of assistance to low-income farmers and pending legislation to give FHA more authority to grant loans.

A specific item at the meeting was discussion of the Economic Opportunities Development act, which is part of President Johnson's poverty program. The act is designed to provide added opportunities to help low-income farmers.

Matts will attend a meeting of the state FHA staff in St. Paul July 7 and 8. Later in July a meeting of the staff in the northwestern Minnesota area will be held.

Several recent FHA loans cited by Matts included a recreational loan to Fosston for a golf course, a senior citizen's housing loan to Oklee, a watershed loan to Lake of the Woods county and recreational loans to Roseau and Kittson counties. Such loans are granted to rural areas only, which include towns of under 2,500 population.

Driver's License Necessary To Use Motor Scooters

Safety Council, Police Warn of Restrictions On Use of Motor Bikes

Warning to youngsters operating motor bikes and scooters was issued today by the Pennington County Safety council and the Thief River Falls police department.

Any persons in the age group 15 to 16 years can not operate anything registered as a motorcycle, according to Elton Cummings, Thief River Falls police chief. This includes any motor vehicle over five horsepower or carrying a license with the prefix "MC" or "I". Licenses with I" prefix were issued due to a shortage of "MC" plates.

Such vehicles can not be operated on a public road with a driver's permit and practice driving with such vehicles must be done on private property with the permission of the property owner, Cummings said. All driving rules, including signals, that apply to cars also apply to motor bikes, motor schooters and motorcycles.

Chief Cummings cited Section 171.041 of Minnesota Statutes, Subdivision 2, which states: "Notwithstanding any provisions of Minnesota Statutes, Section 171.04, relating to the age of an applicant to the contrary, the commissioner may issue a restricted license to operate a motor scooter of not more than five brake horsepower to a person who has attained the age of 15 years but who is under the age of 16 years and who, except for his age, is qualified to hold a driver's license."

"Since scooters and motor bikes are at a lower level and more difficult for motorists to see than other automobiles," Chief Cummings said, "they are more likely to be involved in accidents. No person may legally drive a scooter or motor bike without a proper driver's license."

bout the operation of motor bikes and motor scooters are asked to contact the city police department.

Rotary Hears of Plan for State Park on Monday

Plans for constructing a dam to create a 190-acre lake and to establish a 1,400-acre state park were revealed to the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. Speakers were "Cap" Nelson, president, and Meredith Haslerud, secretary of the Hayes State Park association.

The Roseau men outlined plans for the area which includes the east branch of the Roseau river in the Bemis hill area of the Beltrami Island forest east of Wannaska. A dam on the river would provide the 190-acre lake with water depth up to 27 feet in some places, Nelson said.

Only 400 acres of private land would be involved in the project, he added, with the majority of the property being state-owned. There would be a constant source of fresh water from the Beltrami Island forest and no cropland flooding from the dam, he added.

The area, which is expected to have a "zone of influence" reaching from Warroad to Thief River Falls and a considerable distance east and west of a line between these two points, would offer recreational opportunities such as swimming, boating, fishing, camping, wilderness area exploration, wildlife observation and hunting. It would also be in close proximity to areas noted for waterfowl and upland game hunting, golf, walleye fishing and other recreation possibilities.

The area will be visited in July by the Minnesota natural resources commission and has already been visited by U. W. Hella, director of the division of state parks. The Rotary club adopted a resolution supporting the proposal.

The lodge hopes to have a class of 50 new members to initiate during the anniversary celebration, according to Vern Erickson, exalted ruler. Dates for the event have been set at July 16, 17 and 18.

Invitations to attend are being mailed to all members with programs. Included with the invitations, according to J. M. Roche, general chairman. Initiation night will be observed on July 16 with a stag dinner to follow the initiation.

Legion Auxiliary Urges Ringing of Bells On July 4th

American Legion auxiliary members in Thief River Falls are again promoting the ringing of all bells in the city for four minutes on July 4 at 1 p. m. daylight saving time in conjunction with nationwide time.

All clergymen are respectfully asked to co-operate by having the church bells rung. If everyone who has a bell, no matter how small, would ring it at that time and explain to the children why the bells are being rung, a renewal of patriotic spirit would be rekindled and inspired, the auxiliary reports.

Rining of bells has always been a symbol of freedom and the call to worship. When bells ring, think of those who lived and died to make and keep our country free, and then determine to keep it free and to respect its flag and laws.

Let us not turn America's birthday into just another fun day, but give some thought to the reason of celebration, an auxiliary spokesman said. The auxiliary appeals for city-wide display and respect to the American flag on July 4 at home and public buildings. Freedom is precious; take it seriously.

Council Defers Action to Open Bids on Tuesday

Four natural gas companies are expected to submit bids for the granting of a 25-year franchise for the right to distribute natural gas in Thief River Falls and the surrounding area at the regular meeting of the city council July 21. Discussion on natural gas service for the city took place at the special council meeting Tuesday evening.

The council was to have opened bids on the franchise Tuesday, but decided earlier to re-advertise for bids since interested companies would not bid under specifications in the original advertisement. Franchise bids will be opened at the July 21 meeting of the council on the basis of an advertisement for bids more acceptable to the companies seeking to obtain a franchise.

At the special meeting, the council heard Glenn Olsen, a representative of the American Gas company, present the advantages of his company. The firm has franchises in Wisconsin, Missouri and Iowa, but none in Minnesota at present. If American Gas received the franchise, Olsen said, the company would make Thief River Falls its Minnesota headquarters.

All gas companies meeting with the council have taken exception to the forfeiture clause of the city's advertisement for franchise bids, which states that "the successful bidder shall furnish a performance bond, the terms of which shall provide that unless natural gas is so provided to the City of Thief River Falls within the time specified in said regulatory ordinance, the company shall forfeit to the city the sum of $20,000."

No company has agreed to bid under this provision. Therefore the council decided that at the time of the bid opening, each company may submit its own franchise ordinance, which the council may accept or reject. Each company will also submit a financial statement containing assets and liabilities for the past three years plus a list of communities with which it now has franchises.

In other business, the council voted to proceed on the street improvement and storm sewer project for Arnold, Duluth, Knight and South State avenues. The project involves grading and surfacing plus installation of storm sewers at an estimated cost of $600 per 100-foot lot or $6 per front foot of property.

In discussion of river clean-up, it was reported that no money for the project is available from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at this time. Inquiries are being made with regard to availability of federal or state recreational funds to help finance the clean-up. Many areas of the river are reportedly choked with silt, logs and rapidly-growing weeds.

Mosquito control in the city was also discussed. Contrary to the opinion of many local citizens, the city's insecticide fogger is in full operation, covering areas in the city both morning and evening, it was reported at the session.

Red Lake Indian Pow-wow Begins At Red Lake Today

Red Lake's Indian pow-wow and Fourth of July celebration will start this evening and continue through Sunday. Main feature of the celebration will be the second annual national dance contest, with eliminations each night and finals at 9:30 p. m. Sunday.

July 4 festivities will include a parade at 10 a. m. and a pow-wow at 1 p. m. At 3 p. m. will be an address by Philleo Nash, commissioner of Indian affairs, after which he will be adopted by the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians in a formal ceremony.

Festivities will take place at the new celebration grounds located on the south shore of Red Lake east of the village of Redlake. Direction markers will be erected to direct visitors to the grounds.

Bonne La Nelson of Fargo, N.D. became the bride of Rollin Glenn Solheim of Moorhead at Trinity Lutheran church of this city June 13. Rev. Reuben Wangberg prompted the vows for the 7:30 evening ceremony. Approximately 250 guests attended.

Miss Nelson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Nelson of this city and Mr. Solheim is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Kaisler, also of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Walter Larson played the traditional wedding music and "Song of Ruth" was sung by James Solheim, brother of the groom, and "The Lord's Prayer" was sung in ministerial chorus. Miss Nelson's father escorted her and gave her in marriage. Her floor-length bell-skirted gown, which she herself fashioned, was of neolite peau de sole and featured a lace jacket and detachable train. Her fingertip veil was secured by a small pillbox crown featuring a single rose with seed pearl and sequin accents. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Becki Ferber of Minneapolis, and Misses Susan Starekow of Minneapolis and Sandy Nelson of Randall were bridesmaids. They were gowned in dresses similar to that of the bride in styling, but in a blue shade, with pillbox hats and matching circular veils. The maid of honor carried three long-stemmed white roses, while the bridesmaids each carried a single long-stemmed white rose. Junior birdesmaids were the sisters of the bride and groom, respectively, Evie Nelson and Jill Kaisler.

Attending the groom was his brother James Solheim, a student at Luther seminary in St. Paul, who served as best man, and groomsmen were Steve Embury of this city and Lon Gobell, Duluth. John Nelson and Terry Nelson, both of St. Paul, seated the guests.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece suit of turquoise fashioned of pure silk. Her accessories were of a matching shade. Mrs. Kaisler wore a sheath dress with a white lace coat. They had harmonizing corsages.

At the reception given by the bride's parents in the church parlors, the newlyweds received 250 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle D. Nelson, Randall, Minn., uncle and aunt of the bride, were the official host and hostess. Miss Cindy Steen, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Leland Steen, sang, "Bless This House."

Centering the serving table was a four-tiered wedding cake topped with triple bells of silk, arranged with four candles near each corner of the cake. Two matching floral arrangements of red Roses, mums and red rosebuds were attached as trim on the nylon overskirt covering the serving table. Cutting the cake was Mrs. Arthur Rivetts, great-aunt of the bride, of Little Falls. Mrs. Marc Otremba and Mrs. Kelly Stumph, cousin of the bride, both also of Little Falls, served the cake, and Norma E. Nelson, Randall, an aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Art Gobell, Duluth, aunt of the groom, presided at the coffee service. Gifts were arranged by Pat Brown, Fargo, N. D.; Faye Fuller of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Erwin Ferber, Thief River Falls. Jo Toutges of Bemidji and Karen Mittelstadt of Thief River Falls served punch, and Debbie and Karen Ferber were waitresses.

Guests attending were from Pierz, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Randall, Little Falls, St. James, Kerkroven, Hibbing, Duluth, Lamberton, Madelia, Winthrop, New Ulm, St. Louis Park, all in Minnesota, and from Chicago, Ill. Miss Nelson's four grandparents and Mr. Solheim's grandmother were all in attendance at the wedding and reception.

The couple chose a lake cottage near Randall as their honeymoon site and are at home at 222 4th street, Moorhead.

Many of you 4-H'ers are working on your dresses for the fair. You may have a few questions on seams. I shall try and answer them for you.

A seam is formed by sewing two or more pieces of fabric together. If the purpose of that seam is purely fuctional, the seam should be as inconspicuous and flat as possible. There are seams, depending on the design of the garment, which need to be emphasized. This can be achieved by handling them in a more decorative way.

Each seam should be an even width, and all seams on one garment should be an even width. This width is ⅝% of an inch. If it is shaped or curved, the curve should be smooth and even; if the seam combines straight and curved lines, there should be a smooth transition from one to the other.

The purpose of a seam finish is to finish raw edges to prevent fraying and to make the inside of the garment more attractive. Of these two, the first is the most important. A seam cut along the straight or crosswise threads of the fabric will fray more than a seam cut on the bias. Each time you work with a new fabric, test a scrap of it to determine how much fraying will occur. Cut it on the straight and the cross of the material. Then pull at the edges with your fingernails. If the entire length of thread pulls away from the fabric, the fabric will fray very badly. If it is almost impossible to pull some of the threads from the fabric, there will be little fraying.

In general, the seam finish that is the quickest to do and that will add the least amount of bulk to the seam is the one to use if it is sufficient to prevent fraying. The more complicated finishes, the time consuming one and the finishes that add bulk, are used for problems of serious fraying.

Seam finishes recommended for cotton are "turned under and stitch", "pinking and self stitching", "flat fell french", "false flatfell", "top stitch", and "piped." If pinking is done also be sure to self-stitch.

For wool, good seam finishes are "turn under and stitch," "pinking and self-stitching", and "bound".

I hope these seam finishing hints help you members who sew. If you have any questions, be sure to call me. I am more than willing to help you.

An eye-catching booth may reach people 4-H clubs might otherwise miss. But to be effective it must attract their attention, tell a story quickly and make them want to take some action.

Since the Pennington Co. fair is approaching soon, now is the time to plan your booth.

A score card is followed when booths are judged at the fair. It is a good idea to keep this in mind when you are planning you booth. The score card used is as follows.

The booth has only one story or central theme. The theme may be just one phase of a large project, but everything in the booth must contribute to the central theme.

The story tells what the group accomplished and how many members participated. It does not list the 4-H club members.

The power to attract attention is extremely important. A good way of attracting attention is by using moving parts, lighting effects, sounds, odors or vivid colors. One must remember that the audience must participate. If you can get your viewer to stop and look twice, the booth is a good one.

Why don't you try making a good booth? They are not hard. It just takes time to plan and execute your ideas. If you have any questions concerning a booth feel free to ask me.

After Klemmet Helgeson died in 1874 in Norway, Kristi and her 6 children immigrated to America and came to Spring Grove, where the seventh and oldest child had arrived the year before. In 1879 they moved to Clay county. Later Helge Klemmetson and his wife, Gor Olson, moved to Thief River Falls while Elling Klemmetson and his wife, Sigri Syverson, moved to McIntosh and later to Highlanding. The last of this generation to die was Mrs. Lars (Andrea Klemmetson) Mosbeck who died this spring at 92 years of age in East Grand Forks. Today, descendants of four of the children live in Thief River Falls.

Legion Juniors Win Two Games in League

The local American Legion junior baseball club opened the week's play by scoring a pair of wins in Northwest American Legion league play, defeating Newfolden 10 to 0, and Warren 6 to 4, and losing to Moorhead 7 to 2 in an inter-district game.

The local juniors will play a doubleheader on the Fairgrounds diamond this evening meeting the highly-rated Grand Forks team at 6 p.m., and the Detroit Lakes juniors in the nightcap at 8 p.m. On Thursday evening, July 2, the defending Ninth District champions, the East Grand Forks juniors, will play coach Ralph Skay's club on the Fairgrounds diamond. On Friday, July 3, in the rescheduling of a previously postponed game, the locals will travel to Red Lake Falls for a game against coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls juniors.

In the opener of Monday evening's doubleheader, Billy Poole pitched five innings of no-hit and no-run ball as the locals defeated the Newfolden juniors, 10 to 0. The game was called in the fifth inning with the 10-run rule being enforced.

In the second game on Monday night's twin bill the Moorhead juniors with a 13-hit attack paced by Keith Geizler's home run over the right-field fence, scored a 7 to 2 win over the locals. Moorhead erupted for four unearned runs in the forth inning, with Gene Bakkum slicing a double down the left-field line to drive in a pair of the runs.

Coach Skay's team, on back-to-back doubles by Paul Klungness and John Aune, and a single by Mike Benke, tallied a pair of runs in sixth inning to pare the Moorhead lead to two runs. But the visitors "insured" the game in the seventh when Geizler led off with a home run, and a walk and singles by Ken Sjulstad and Howie Lohman accounted for three runs.

On Tuesday evening, on the Fairground diamond, coach Maynard Ranstrom's Warren juniors, on a game come-from behind effort, nearly nipped the locals, losing by a 6 to 4 score.

Lefty Pat Fischer hurled no-hit and no-run baseball for five innings as his teammates built up a 5 to 0 lead over Warren and lefty Pete Gilbert. In the sixth, an error, a single by Dick Rominski, a triple by Gilbert, and a wild pitch, scored three runs for Warren.

The locals picked up an unearned run in the last half of the sixth for a 6 to 3 lead. But Warren came back in the top of the seventh when an error, two walks, and a single accounted for one run and left the bases loaded with two out and Gilbert at the plate. Coach Skay called in John Aune to relieve Fischer, and Aune, after having several pitches fouled off, struck out Gilbert to preserve the win.

TRF Women Go to WSCS Mission Meet in St. Paul

Mrs. Orville Kruschke and Mrs. A. Dean Headley spent last week at Hamline university in St. Paul, attending the school of missions sponsored by the Minnesota Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church.

New study materials on major themes are being used in classes and workshops. The course on "Spanish Americans", which deals with these people all over the United States, has a special interest because of the migrant workers in Minnesota.

Mrs. A. Dean Headley conducted a two-hour seminar on youth work each day as a part of her job as secretary of youth work for the Minnesota conference. Mrs. Kruschke is a member of the committee on district mission personel.

Dangerous Tactics

Well, you can't say that Jarvis (Jub) Prichard doesn't live dangerously. And here's a brief explanation. It has been the custom of members of the Hamm's Beer bowling team of several years ago—Sid Lieberman, Dude Waldera, Jub Prichard, Dr. Orion Beich, Orvis Olen, and the others to go on an annual walleyed pike fishing expedition on Lake of the Woods. And that was the case again this year.

The party, headquartering in the Moose and Musky Camp in Sabaskong Bay of Lake of the Woods, had excellent luck and an enjoyable time. Two inboard-outboard cruisers were used, one being owned by Orvis Olen and the other being owned by Gene Gaer, and with these accommodations it was convenient to divide the group into two four-man squads.

On the Gene Gaer boat were Dr. Beich, Waldera, Prichard and Gaer, and to add a bit of interest to the fishing it was decided that a premium of fifty cents a pound would be paid on any walleyed pike caught that weighed more than two pounds. This was the agreement, and it was fair enough as the "professional" fishermen were restricted to Orvis Olen's boat.

While trolling near Miles Bay, Dr. Beich got a heavy strike, and, after setting the hook, called the attention of the rest of the party to the heavy fish that he had on his line. The pike was brought up close, and it was a good one, weighing four pounds or more, and then the conspiracy began!

Jub banged into Doc's rod with the landing net in an effort to shake the fish off the hook. (Rapid calculation had brought out the figure that the fish, if boated, would have been worth about six dollars to Dr. Beich). The rod-banging strategy failed to work as Beich had the fish well-hooked, and as he endeavored to bring the pike to the landing net, Jub, with his little knife, cut the line!

Dr. Beich still doesn't think it was very funny, but the rest of the boys, well, they think that Jub has the finest sense of humor.

Lake of the Woods fishing, incidentally, has been pretty good this past week. Harold Olson and Ing Fossum, fishing at Long Point, have been getting limits whenever they can get out on the lake. And on Saturday, Don Harbott and Lloyd Samuelson fished in the vicinity of the "big rock" just inside Buffalo Bay, and they, too, reported good luck. Of course Don and Sam have Manitoba licenses so they were entitled to fish the Manitoba waters of Buffalo Bay, and take eight walleyes apiece.

But to get back to Jub. Don't you think that he was living dangerously by cutting the line on Dr. Beich's "money" fish?

Makes a Difference

While two successful relief appearances by Al Worthington isn't conclusive evidence that the Twin's comparatively low rating in the American League standings was due to the lack of competent relief pitching, there seems to be a feeling among baseball fans that these fans, using Worthington's performances as an argument that shoddy relief pitching has cost the season, have some basis to support their beliefs.

It is hoped that Worthington will continue to provide the Twins with the experienced relief pitching that he has shown in his two assignments. He will give much aid to the young hurlers on the Twins' staff, with Jim Roland and Gerry Arrigo benefiting from the fact that a veteran pitcher is on call for relief duty. These two young Twin hurlers have great promise, but in their anxiety to pitch complete games, or protect a lead, they begin to press.

And manager Sam Mele has perhaps been forced to keep these youngsters on the mound longer than sound strategy requires, because of the lack of a reliable relief pitcher. With a Dick Radatz or a Stu Miller on the relief staff, it's probable that the Twins would be leading the league at this time. And it's not too late for the Twins to overhaul the leaders, especially if the pitching staff become solid.

It Had to Happen

The Bea's Food Market finally had a game put into their loss column when, on Tuesday evening on the East Side diamond, they dropped an 8 to 5 decision to the Hartz Stores and Kermit Maiberg.

The Bea's now have a mark of seven wins and one loss in city softball league play, and while they continue to hold a favorable position in the league championship race, they cannot afford to dawdle away any games. And on Monday, July 6, the Bea's will play the up-and-coming Bridgeman's squad, and this game could decide the league title.

The Bridgeman's came through with a 5 to 4 win over the Hamm's Beer on Monday evening, and it was a base hit by Roddy Carlson that gave veteran righthander Bob Carlson, Roddy's dad, the win. Roddy's allowance will be doubled this week.

The Bridgeman's have another game on this week's schedule, playing the Rasmussen Insurance on Thursday evening, and if the orange-and-black win this game, and they are heavily favored, they will have a mark of six wins and two losses. That's just one game behind the league-leading Bea's.

FHA Watershed Loan Approved For Lake of the Woods County

Farmers Home administration has announced approval of a $113,500 watershed loan to Lake of the Woods county to alleviate flooding and to provide surface drainage outlets for the agricultural land within the watershed. This is the first loan of this type to be made in the state.

The watershed loan funds will be used to help finance a program of channel improvement and land treatment measures which will reduce the flood water, erosion and sediment damage and provide adequate drainage outlets to farms and woodlands of Lake of the Woods county adjacent to Zippel bay.

Approximately 52,000 acres of land, which include 90 farms and the village of Williams, will benefit because flood danger will be removed and increased production will be obtained from farm and forest lands.

To assist in financing the project, the federal government — through the Soil Conservation service — furnishes cost-sharing that amounts to approximately $220,000. An additional $10,000 will be supplied by the U. S. Forest service. Local contributions and the Farmers Home administration loan provide the remainder of the needed funds.

The Farmers Home administration is to be repaid over a period of 20 years, with a 3.046 per cent interest rate.

Officers of the Zippel watershed are members of the board of county commissioners. Legal counsel is being provided by Robert Wynne, Lake of the Woods county attorney.

Leslie G. Matts, FHA area supervisor, and Paul R. Warble, county supervisor, worked closely with the commissioners in developing this project.

More Fuel Added To Cigarette Fire By Heart Pamphlet

Leaflet Available Now Answers Questions About Dangers from Smoking

About 60,000 men die prematurely in the United States each year of heart attacks associated with cigarette smoking, according to a new leaflet, "What Everyone Should Know About Smoking and Heart Disease," just published by the American Heart association and its affiliates.

This increase of 60,000 "extra" deaths is approximately equal, the leaflet points out, to the estimated number of men who die prematurely of all other diseases associated with smoking, including lung cancer.

Contributing to the increase in premature deaths, according to the leaflet, is an increase in the rate of heart attacks among cigarette smokers. In one study cited, the heart attack rate in heavy cigarette smokers was three times higher than that of non-smokers, pipe and cigar smokers and former cigarette smokers. The increased heart attack rate is acompanied by an increase in the heart attack death rate among cigarette smokers, averaging about 70 percent higher.

In question and answer format, the pocket-sized leaflet briefly summarizes some of the information obtained thus far from research smoking on the heart and blood vessels.

Single copies of "What Everyone Should Know about Smoking and Heart Disease" are available without charge from Minnesota Heart Association, 1821 University Avenue, St. Paul Minnesota 55104. Physicians may also request a supply of copies to give their patients.

Theodore Johnson Ends Six-Month Far East Cruise

Theodore C. Johnson, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman T. Johnson of Rt. 5, Thief River Falls, recently returned to Alameda, Calif., aboard the 62,000-ton Navy attack aircraft carrier USS Midway after completing a six and one-half month Far East cruise with the U. S. Seventh Fleet.

Midway has been on guard—against armed Communist aggression in that area since November of last year. While on this cruise, the ship visited Hawaii, Hong Kong, Subic Bay in the Philippines and the Japanese cities of Sasebo, Beppu, Iwakuni and Yokosuka. The ship will remain in Alameda about a month before resuming operations with the Pacific Fleet off the California coast.

Eighteen-year-old Papsie Georgian, four-time National Senior Women's Solo synchronized swimming champion and recently elected to Helms Hall of Fame, will headline Al Sheehan's 25th anniversary Aqua Follies of 1964, July 15-26 at Theodore Wirth pool on Wirth Lake, Minneapolis, as a highlight of the Minneapolis Aquatennial. Miss Georgian will share the star's spotlight with singer Pat Suzuki. Miss Suzuki, who gained fame in "Flower Drum Song," is one of America's most popular female singers and has credits in movies, TV, radio, records and on Broadway. Aqua Follies performances are held nightly at 8:30, with added 11:00 p.m. shows on July 20 and 27. Tickets are $3.50, 3.00 and 2.50 and are on mail order from Dayton's Ticket Office, Minneapolis 55402.

Project Crews Improve Wildlife Areas in State

Minnesota game and fish division today reported the results of work by Conservation Work Project crews during 1963 in northwestern Minnesota. CWP crews are comprised of formerly unemployed men under the direction of conservation work crews in the counties of Becker, Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Polk and Roseau.

Types of work done included such things as fencing, access development, posting, seeding and planting, building construction, picnic and campground development, waterfowl impoundments, small dams and wildlife habitat improvement.

A total of approximately $97,000 was expended on the numerous projects during the 12-month period. Ted Shields, state game and fish director, said CWP crews made a valuable contribution to the development of wildlife habitat and outdoor recreation opportunities during the year in many areas of northern Minnesota.

Address Change Causes Veterans To Miss Payments

Every year more than 200,000 veterans or their beneficiaries miss at least one payment of their monthly compensation, pension or other benefit checks from the Veterans administration. The amount of money involved totals more than $15 million a year.

John R. Parrish, center director of the Veterans administration in Fargo, N. D., said this is due to failure to notify the VA and post office department of a change in address when veterans move or plan to move.

Often the next check is in the process of being mailed before the VA receives notice of change of address and the check goes to the old address. Prompt or advance notice to the VA and the post office, which has the authority to forward checks to the new address, will avoid this problem.

Low Fat Consumption Helps Heart Trouble

The public was advised recently to reduce fat consumption as a possible means of decreasing the risk of heart attacks and strokes. In addition to reduced fat consumption, "reasonable substitution" of vegetable oils and other polyunsaturated fats for animal fats in the diet, under medical supervision, was recommended by the board of directors of the American Heart association.

The board acted favorably on a proposal to extend to the general public the dietary recommendations of the American Heart association's 1961 statement, "Dietary Fat and Its Relation to Heart Attacks and Strokes."

Previously, these recommendations were held to apply principally to three groups with a particularly high risk of heart attacks and strokes—namely, the overweight; persons who have already had a heart attack or stroke; and men whose personal and family histories suggest that they may be particularly susceptible to heart attacks and strokes. The board emphasized that members of the general public should seek medical changes in the fat content of their diet.

In the 1961 statement, which was reaffirmed and broadened by the board's action, it was made clear that a major purpose of the dietary recommendations is to reduce blood levels of cholesterol. This fatty substance is implicated in the development of atherosclerosis, the type of hardening of the arteries responsible for most heart attacks and strokes.

Another method of lowering blood cholesterol, according to the statement, is controling the amount and type of fat in the diet, without changing the calorie intake. In the usual diet eaten by Americans, a large part of the fats has been of the saturated (animal origin) type. Too much of this type of fat tends to increase the cholesterol in the blood. If saturated fat intake is substantially reduced and polyunsaturated fats (chiefly vegetable oils) are substituted from some of the saturated fats, blood cholesterol goes down.

The statement emphasized that there is no final proof yet that dietary changes will prevent heart attacks or strokes. It made clear that many factors influence the development of atherosclerosis (including age, sex, heredity, cigarette smoking, elevated blood pressure and diabetes).

On the other hand, the statement pointed out, "evidence from many countries suggests a relationship between the amount and type of fat consumed, the amount of cholesterol in the blood, and the reported incidence of coronary artery disease." The association's recommendations are thus aimed at lowering blood levels of cholesterol in the belief that "reduction in blood cholesterol may lessen the development or extension of atherosclerosis and hence the risk of heart attacks or strokes."

Editorials . . .

"If you succeed in life, you must do it in spite of the efforts of others to pull you down. There is nothing in the idea that people are willing to help those who help themselves. People are willing to help a man who can't help himself, but as soon as a man is able to help himself, and does it, they join in making his life as uncomfortable as possible."

—E. W. Howe

A Two-Way Street

President Johnson's war on poverty, the recently-publicized, share-the-wealth program advocated by the administration, could well have a two-way effect on the nation. It is illustrated by a story recently told in a trade publication.

The story concerns a minister who prepared an eloquent sermon describing the plight of the poor and how it was the charitable duty of the rich to share their wealth with the poor. After the service, a friend asked how the sermon was received. "Well, it was partially successful," the minister reflected. "I convinced the poor."

Under the President's program, all persons having income of less than $3,000 per year are arbitrarily determined to be poverty stricken. It is likely that some of these would not have been concerned about what dire straits they were in, or that they should be due special favors from their benevolent Uncle Sam, if it had not been brought to their attention.

The program has succeeded to a partial extent—it has convinced the poor.

To the Rescue

Beef farmers in the United States will be happy to know that Sen. Eugene McCarthy has proposed legislation for their assistance. He has authored a bill which would extend the emergency loan provisions of the Farmers Home Administration Act to include areas where farmers have had severe losses in the production of non-price supported commodities whose market price has been adversely affected by competitive foreign imports.

In a recent news release, Sen. McCarthy noted that ". . .emergency credit should be available to those suffering distress when the distress results from causes not subject to the farmer's or cattleman's control". This is interesting, particularly since it was only a short time ago that Minnesota's junior Senator was telling farmers that falling beef prices were the result of domestic overproduction rather than foreign imports.

"The economic difficulties of cattlemen today require emergency action," the Senator's news release continued. He noted that the government's special beef purchase program for the distribution of beef to schools, institutions and needy families has resulted in the purchase of 117 million pounds at a cost of $65 million in the past three months. (That figures out to 55 cents per pound).

If it were not for the seriousness of the cattle feeders' plight, the turnabout in opinion would be quite humorous. All of a sudden the "mole hills" criticized by others have become "mountains" to Senator McCarthy. We don't imagine the forth-coming election has much to do with the sudden about-face.

Over-Protection?

In addressing the National Editorial association convention in New York City recently, C. W. Cook, president of General Foods corporation, had some interesting commentary on the government's recent forays into the food industry.

"As you are doubtless aware," Cook said, "political interest in the food industry has expanded dramatically in recent months. Government's intention to make protection of the consumer more and more a federal matter is becoming increasingly clear...

"There is, first, the so-called 'truth in packaging' bill in Congress—a measure which would inhibit innovation and therefore stifle competition. Then, in recent weeks, there has been launched a series of consumer conferences around the nation, organized and conducted by Mrs. Esther Peterson, the President's advisor on consumer affairs, whose very appointment reflects the expanded governmental involvement in the nation's most important consumer industry—food. And finally, as you know, the Congress has recently created a bipartisan, 15-man commission to study food marketing.

"Taken singly or together, these government activities seem to suggest that the industry which has made this the best-fed nation on earth must be watched even more closely than it already is. The clear implication is that the legendary 'middleman'... is getting rich at the expense of the farmer or the consumer or both."

The food company president noted that the 15-member commission was originally intended to focus on the farmer and to discover a way to increase his reward for his immense forward strides in efficiency and productivity. Recognizing the problem of the small farmer, Cook added an interesting bit of statistics:

"Between 1945 and 1963, the U. S. farmer's share of the consumer dollar spent on domestic foods dropped from 53 per cent to 37 per cent. It is rarely noted that the 53 per cent share which the farmer got in 1945 was the highest in the 51-year record of these data — a phenomenon of World War II, which caused the farmer's share to move up 13 percentage points in five years, from a base of 40 per cent.

"When all the statistics are viewed, this truth emerges: If every single dollar of corporate profits made from the food marketing system were eliminated—that is, all the profits of processors, wholesalers, food chains and independent food retailing corporations—the total marketing bill would be reduced only enough to add a single percentage point to the farmer's share of the retail food dollar."

It would appar that there is more to the food controversy than meets the political eye. We feel slightly like we are being overprotected.

There Are Barriers

President Johnson's war on poverty faces some major hurdles—many yet unseen or unimagined. What success it may have hinges on the cost of training or retraining the unemployed or never-employed, the question of whether or not it can be done to a substantial degree and the ability or inability of these persons to get and hold jobs.

U. S. News and World Report recently carried a report on a project financed by the federal government and sponsored by a Negro college in Virginia. It would appear from this that donning armor, mounting a snow-white steed and riding off into the glowing sunset does not necessarily guarantee the successful climax of a war.

The project was confined to Negroes, and its recruits were all uneducated, unskilled and unemployed. Courses in such trades as bricklaying and auto mechanics were offered. The government gave each participant a $27 a week allowance, and that was later supplemented by a benefactor. To begin with, it was hard to find people who would join up for the training, and numbers of those who did so, dropped out. Some who got jobs soon lost them.

A further difficulty lay in finding jobs, one reason being that established policies followed both by industry and government excluded people for various reasons, such as police records. Of this, the report states: "The hard-core man comes out of a pool-hall culture, where there is a high incidence of arrest. Their marital and family problems, their troubles with automobiles, are much more likely to result in police action than in the case of middle-class families. And the genuine hard-core man is likely to have a major police record." Another barrier was found in dishonorable discharges from the armed forces.

This does not mean that the project was a failure. A goodly number of the graduates have found jobs and are holding them. But it does show that many a high obstacle stands in the way of a successful war on poverty—and that it would be folly to set our hopes and sights too high, and to minimize or overlook the deep problems which are involved.

Getting Impatient

Residents of Meadowlands, a small community on the Minnesota iron range, are getting a little impatient with the federal government. It seems that two years ago the federal Housing and Home Finance agency promised a loan for a water tank and supply system involving a federal loan of about $20,000. The villagers, plagued by complications, are still waiting.

Village voters approved the village water supply system in 1960 and again in 1961, according to an article in "Minnesota News Features". Advised that federal funds were available for the project the village council applied to the HHFA for funds in 1962. It was assured it could get the money and to go ahead.

The article continues:

"Bids were taken, the low one being $17,465. Village officials got the project under way. That they could save some money for the taxpayers by buying a second hand tank capable of storing all the water the village needs threw the HHFA officials into a frenzy. They called the loan deal off unless the village bought a brand new tank. Village officials agreed to buy a new tank.

"Under HHFA rules, this meant starting back at scratch again, with new bids and more red tape. This time, the bid was $20,400 — almost $3,000 more. This was okay with the HHFA, although thrifty citizens grumbled about the added cost in principal and interest they'd have to pay.

"The village went ahead again, agreeing to pay the contractor specified sums on specified dates. Much of the work has been done, but no one can collect anything for his services because there isn't any money in the village treasury to pay them. The HHFA still hasn't taken action.

"Now because of the digging and other work needed for the project, Meadowlands has been advised that the private wells of its citizens have been contaminated by stagnant water seeping into them.

"Said Mayor Paul Sramek in his last letter pleading with the HHFA officials to carry out their promise: "I know quite well, as any independent businessman does, that if I managed my business as you manage the HHFA, I would be long dead and buried. We of Meadowlands hope you will end this two-year-old procedure of inactivity and mail us the check for $20,400 as agreed, and that someone along the line will see that the project is completed before any serious ailments or damage can develop.'

"He also reminded the HHFA that he and other village officials have signed enough papers during the past two years, which, at $1 apiece, would have taken care of the total expense."

WONDERFUL PRIVILEGE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We are proud of our freedom . . . whether it be freedom of speech, freedom of assembly (the ayes have it), freedom of the press, or freedom of religion. Of all these, we sing: "Let freedom ring!"

Freedom of religion is not the property of the clergy, but of all the people. Every schoolboy knows that the Constitution says so. It guarantees freedom of worship . . . freedom to honor God according to one's own conscience. It is a precious gift.

How you worship is your business! That you must worship, ah, that's God's business! Choose the church to honor God with your fellowman . . . thanking God for this wonderful privilege. For, so often in other lands, such worship is forbidden and outlawed. Sunday is His day! Make it your day!

15 Days of Rain

June Rainfall Measures 7.79 Inches at Airport

Cool temperatures, cloudy skies and soaking rains were the rule during the month of June. Daily maximum temperatures were in the 60's and 70's most days, and did not top 80 until the recent warm spell beginning June 24. High for the month was 90, recorded June 28.

Low nightly minimum temperatures were also in evidence, with most lows in the 50's and several in the 40's. Low for June was 26, recorded the first day of the month. June's mean temperature was 62.8 degrees, a degree and a half below the five-year average of 64.3 degrees.

Measurable rain fell on 13 days. The greatest amount recorded in one day wes 2.65 inches, recorded the morning of June 9. This cloudburst, which actually occurred the previous night, virtually turned streets into canals and fields into lakes. Total precipitation for the month was 7.79 inches—4.03 inches above the five-year June average and 5.23 inches above the total for June of 1963. Average precipitation for the past five years is 3.76 inches.

Plentiful moisture in northern Minnesota with too much in the Red River valley was indicated by the crop report released June 29 by the Soo Line railway. The report states that crops are fully 10 days behind normal but look good, and production should be as good as in 1963. A week of sunshine would be desirable, however.

High Temperature And Light Rain

Moderately high temperatures and light rainfall have marked the first week of July. Little temperature change is in the immediate forecast, which calls for occasional cloudiness with widely scattered thunder-showers today and mostly fair and cooler tomorrow. High today is expected to reach 75 to 85 with a low tonight of 52.

Daily high and low temperature and precipitation figures recorded by the North Central Airlines weather station at the municipal airport are as follows: 82, 58 and .12 inch on Wednesday; 78, 57 and .04 inch on Thursday; 78 and 51 on Friday; 79 and 54 on Saturday; 82 and 62 on Sunday; and a low this morning of 65. The airport recorded only .15 of an inch of rain this morning, but readings of an inch and a quarter to an inch and a half were reported from points north of town.

Asks Return of Questionnaires

Thomas H. Hodne of Hodne Associates has reported that only 75 out of approximately 275 replies to the downtown study questionnaire, sent to Thief River Falls businessmen, have been received. He urges those who have not answered to do so as the questionnaires are important toward formulating a downtown plan for the city. Anyone who has lost his copy may obtain additional copies from Hodne.

PATRIOTIC flair was added to the Plummer Fourth of July parade on Saturday by the McGarey twins of Plummer, daughters of Mrs. Jean McGarey. The girls were decked out in red, white and blue and carried miniature American flags.

Adoption Meeting Dates Are Changed

Because of an insufficient number of registrations received, the adoption group meeting scheduled to be held in Thief River Falls on Tuesday and Wednesday has been postponed. Announcement of the postponement was made today by Ronald Mooers, director of the Pennington county welfare office. The meeting has been re-scheduled for August 18 and 19 when it is hoped that there will be more couples interested, Mooers said.

As of the middle of May there were 423 children available for adoption through the county welfare departments and the department of public welfare of Minnesota. There are also many more awaiting placement through the licensed adoption agencies of the state.

These children are of all descriptions. They have become charges of the state of Minnesota for many reasons; parents unable to make homes for them because of serious illness, death or desertion, or because of parents who are mostly incapable of providing for them, or simply because they were born to women who were not married.

The children are as different as the reasons for their being free for adoption. Almost all live in good boarding homes but none have good families of thier own who are permanently and legally responsible for thier welfare.

Adoption is the taking of permanent and legal responsibility for a child as a member of your family. The responsibility is all inclusive; the child takes the name of his adoptive family, the parents are legally responsible to give him food lodging and love. A child gains rights through adoption to his share of any estate or other benefits from his adoptive parents. Legally his rights are the same as a child born into a family.

The reverse is also true, the parents have all the rights of natural parents and can expect to gain some of the same satisfactions.

In attempting to provide the best home for these different types of children, the county welfare department, the county agencies and four licensed adoption agencies, Lutheran Social service, Children Family service, Catholic Social service, and Children's Home society, have united their efforts in making adopting more convenient.

For families who feel that they can make a home for an adoptive child, a group meeting is being held in this area on August 18 and 19. This is the first time these adoption agencies have come together in behalf of the children awaiting placement. At this meeting will be representatives of these agencies who will welcome your questions and provide information about their adoption programs.

Attendance at the meeting is by invitation. Any interested family may contact its local county welfare department or the adoption agencies for an invitation.

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of eight interview features on candidates for the Miss Aquacade title at the 10th annual Jaycees event to be held Saturday, August 1, at the Lincoln high school auditorium. Other features will be carried in succeeding issues of the Times.

Among eight hopeful candidates competing for the title of Miss Aquacade at the 10th annual Jaycees Aquacade in Thief River Falls August 1 will be Bonnie Finstad, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Finstad of rural Thief River Falls. She is a 1964 graduate of Lincoln high school and plans to enroll in Moorhead State college this fall.

Petite Bonnie is five feet, three inches tall, weighs 102 pounds and has a 34-22-34 figure. She has dark brown hair and brown eyes.

For seven years Bonnie has played clarinet in various school bands and during high school was a member of the Prowler, pep and concert bands at Lincoln high school. She has played in band ensembles in her junior and senior years and also played in the concert orchestra for two years.

Bonnie is the youngest of three daughters in the Finstad family. Mrs. Donald (Jan) Brieland lives in Thief River Falls and Mrs. Joe (Virginia) Armstrong resides in California.

Bonnie's hobbies include sewing and reading non-fiction novels. Her talent presentation at the pageant will likely be a dramatic selection.

Mary Lee Trickle Is Bride of Ronald Broten

Miss Mary Lee Trickle and Ronald H. Broten, both of this city, were united in marriage June 20 at Zion Lutheran church, with Rev. Leland Steen prompting the vows at the 8 o'clock evening ceremony. About 200 guests attndd.

Miss Trickle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Trickle of Thief River Falls, and Mr. Broten is the son of the Henry C. Brotens of Roseau.

Jerry Joringdal played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson, cousins of the bride, who sang "O Perfect Love". Mr. Erickson also offered "The Lord's Prayer" as a vocal solo.

The bride was escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. Her floor-length gown of white nylon featured a full skirt, nylon embroidery at the neckline, cummerbund, and front ruffle detail. Ruffles also cascaded down the length of the back skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was of bridal tulle and was secured by nylon bells with pearl trim. Her rose-shaped bouquet was formed of red roses with white leaves and stem.

Maid of honor Sandra Halvorson, and bridesmaids Susan Trickle, sister of the bride, and Miss Sharyl Reveling of Minneapolis, a cousin of the bride, wore bell-shaped full-length gowns with rounded necklines and elbow-length sleeves. The gowns were in harmonizing shades of blue, and hats were of bridal tulle ruffles surrounding two blue roses. Their white gloves had blue ribbon and white lace trim. Each carried five long-stemmed red roses. Glena Jean Trickle, the bride's sister, wore a white nylon dress with full collar and cummerbund. She dropped red rose petals in the aisle.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Kenneth Broten of Roseau, and Roger Skime and Jerry Johnson, both of this city, were groomsmen. Lighting the candles were David Trickle, brother of the bride, and Michael Broten, the groom's brother. They also ushered. Gerald Trickle, the brother of the bride, carried the rings. Men of the party were attired in dark trousers, white jackets, and wore a red rose boutonniere.

Mrs. Trickle's dress was of whipped cream dacron in yellow and beige print on white. Her accessories were beige. The groom's mother wore a dress of beige linen with pink accessories. Their corsages were of roses and carnations.

At the reception given by the bride's parents in the church parlors, blue and white decorations, and white bells, were used as decor. Two four-tiered cakes with a stairway and a bridal couple topping one of them, and a church atop the other, were joined by a connecting stairway, and trimmed with red roses and bells. The cakes were made and decorated by Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, and cut by Mrs. John Trickle and Mrs. Clyde Trickle, sisters-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Walter Halvorson, godmother of the bride. Punch was served by Gaylene Trickle and Lynette Broten, sisters of the bride and groom, respectively. Mrs. Lelain Fugleberg, godmother of the groom, and Mrs. Darrel Reveling, cousin of the bride, poured. Serving the guests were Mrs. D. Robbins, Jane Walseth, and Marilyn Smith. Gifts were arranged by Mrs. Ronald Arnold, Judy Hagen, and Linda Noel. Guests were from Roseau, Badger, Minneapolis, St. Louis Park, Rochester, Bemidji, all in Minnesota, and from Sioux Falls, S. D. The bride's grandparents also attended.

Bonnie Dicken Says Vows With Curt Ness

Vows of marriage were exchanged June 27 at Zion Lutheran church of this city between Miss Bonnie Dicken and Curt Ness, both of this city. Prompting the vows was Rev. Leland Steen.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Dicken are the parents of the bride, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ness, all of this city.

The double-ring ceremony took place at 4 p.m. and was performed in the presence of about 400 guests. Ferns, and a floral arrangement of gladioli provided the altar setting. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. Leland Steen, who played traditional nuptial music and accompanied soloist Jim Wendel in "The Song of Ruth," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her wedding attire was a gown of lace and white satin, fashioned with a train. Her veil was held in place by a crown of pearls and her cascade bouquet was of white roses and stephanotis, with trailing ivy.

Nancy Dicken, her sister, who was maid of honor, was gowned in turquoise blue satin, worn with matching heels. Her headpiece was fashioned of matching flowers and veiling, and her bouquet was of blue carnations arranged in a cascade with stephanotis. Ramona Lanska, Thief River Falls, bridesmaid and her other attendant, Mrs. Diana Hanson of Minneapolis, were attired in like fashion and carried bouquets identical to hers. Paula Fordyce of Thief River Falls, the flower girl, had a miniature bouquet like those carried by the attendants, and wore a white satin dress and white veil. Mike Fordyce was ring-bearer.

Loren Ness of Eveleth attended his brother as best man, and Rick Welton and Dennis Bakke served as groomsmen. Seating the guests were Barry Fellman and Tim Welton.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dicken chose an aqua dress and accessorized it with tan. Pink roses and white carnations made up her corsage. The groom's mother elected a knit dress of green and with it she wore white accessories and a corsage like that worn by Mrs. Dicken.

A reception for over 300 guests was held in the church parlors after the ceremony. The bride's parents gave the reception, and Mrs. Charles Krause was official hostess. Guests were registered by Vicki Brooten. The wedding cake was flanked on the serving table by tapers and by turquoise carnations in a setting of smilax. Topping the 5-tier cake were fresh turquoise carnations and festoons of white icing trimmed one layer. Mrs. Gil Sannes baked and decorated the cake, and it was cut by Mrs. Clarence Dicken, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Minnie Myrom, aunt of the groom. The bride's greant-aunt, Mrs. Gust Larson of Thief River Falls, and a sister-in-law of the groom, Mrs. Loren Ness of Eveleth, were at the coffee service. Punch was served by Mrs. Faye Johnson of this city and Mary Ellen Cline of Minneapolis. Gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Martin Finstad, Wanda Thramer, Jeanne Rambeck and Kathy Hinze.

Mrs. Florence Homme pinned on the corsages and she and Mrs. George Mostue assisted in other functions. Waitresses were Mrs. Eldon Larson, Pat Larson, Kaye Dorn, Pat Judy, and Bonnie Finstad.

Out-of-town guests were from Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, California; Eveleth and Minneapolis, Minn., and from many of the towns in the area.

The bride wore a yellow and white suit with yellow accessories for their wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells.

Miss Dicken was a 1961 graduate of Lincoln high school and of the Area Vocational-Technical school of practical nursing in 1962. She is employed at Northwestern hospital. KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. STANTON DAHLEN

A gay, colorful salad, with which today's homemaker likes to "celebrate" summer (in all its brevity), is called, appropriately enough, Jewel Salad. It's especially light on calories, and will add a sparkling touch to a summer menu.

JEWEL SALAD

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1¼ cups ginger ale
4 cups honeydew melon balls
2 cups watermelon balls
6 1-inch rings of honeydew melon

Soften gelatine in the cold water; dissolve over hot water. Add lemon juice and ginger ale. Arrange melon balls in mold and pour gelatine mixture over all. Chill over night or until firm. Unmold on honeydew rings. Top with a fluff of whipped cream cheese.

The Dahlens are the parents of three daughters. Jeanne, the eldest, is working on her Ph. D. degree in physiological chemistry at the U. of Wisconsin at Madison, where she also has a research assistantship. Rochelle teaches Spanish and art in the Coon Rapids high school, and Rosemary, at home, will be a sophomore at Lincoln high school this fall. Her interests lie mainly in music and speech.

Father heads the Federal Savings and Loan association here. And Mama....well, there is a busy gal! She started out here as a teacher of French and English, and dramatics director in Lincoln high school, a position she held four years. Marriage halted her formal teaching career but Mrs. Dahlen states that she'd rather be teaching and learning than almost anything else outside her home duties. Voluminous files on her varied interests attest to her yearning to keep her active mind in a constant state of stimulation. Her reading tastes do not embrace much in the field of fiction, however. She is editor of the Trinity Tidings, and has a promotional assignment for her alma mater, Gustavus Adolphus college of St. Peter. On the library board of this city and a member of the Friends of the Library, she is also active in the woman's organizations of Trinity Lutheran church and teaches the high school branch of the Bible class. Sewing clothing once took up much of her time (the girls all sew for themselves now); she sews draperies and clothing for herself still, and has hobbies of knitting and gardening, and really enjoys cooking, especially baking. Each week finds her baking bread, which she freezes and stores.

Enjoying summer American-style, they often found boating among their many activities, with Father at the helm, and the girls enjoying waterskiing.

Still summer.

Still reading? If not, you're missing the boat. . .or is it the "best"?

College-bound teen-readers are finding the available lists helpful as can be. The novels, the dramas, the poetry, the biographies, the histories, are being checked in and out almost as fast as you can say "public library".

How long has it been since you have read Stevenson's "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped"? Wouldn't you like to rapid-read them again, just for fun?

How about reading Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray" and A. J. Cronin's "The Keys of the Kingdom" and Maugham's "The Moon and Sixpence" or his "Of Human Bondage" or Orwel's "Nineteen Eighty Four"? If you missed, for one reason or another, Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra" or Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman", this would be an excellent week to give yourself the pleasure!

There are so many volumes to read, so many words written which have so much to say. . .and there are so many ways to say things — each author to his very own! Compare styles, compare form, as well as content.

Here's a first in the publishing world! Margaret Laurence, a native Canadian, Province of Manitoba, (which makes her a near-neighbor, or did, before she moved abroad) has had three works published simultaneously by the same company, Alfred A. Knopf! One volume is "The Tomorrow-Tamer" a collection of 10 short stores. . . nine of which have appeared elsewhere prior to this publishing. "The Stone Angel", a novel, was greeted with "bravos" from the critics and will reach the "best-seller list" quickly and remain. . . a long, long, time. . .for it is that different, that good, and that well-done. "New Wind in a Dry Land" will give the reader an insight into the lives and character of the natives of Somaliland. Naturally —your library has all three works.

Speaking of reading. . .and volumes and the like! Many, many are reading more and more! Figures for the month of June, compared with those of a year ago, speak for themselves! Listen! Some 1,600 juvenile fiction books and 1,324 non-fiction juvenile volumes were checked out of the library during the month. Just imagine—a shade short of 3,000 volumes were taken out of the library and read by the junior inhabitants of our area. Last year approximately 2,500 volumes, this year. . .3,000. That's almost 500 more!

Adults borrowed more than that many. . .3,121 altogether. . . 1,467 fiction and 1,654 non-fiction. (Notice. . .more non-fiction than novels!) Last year the figures show a trifle less from the fiction shelf and 1,351 from the non-fiction sections. Of the total 1964 June count, 3,951 books were borrowed by residents of Thief River Falls and 2,091 by rural residents. Total count: 6,045 volumes during June totaled 61, including 23 city juveniles and 16 rural. There were 15 city adults and three from the rural areas. Two families residing outside Pennington county received cards after payment of the membership fees ($2.50 for three months; $5.00 for six months and $4 for a year).

I agine! More than 800 more volumes were checked out of the public library during the month of June, 1964, than during the month of June, 1963. New volumes placed on the shelves for your reading pleasure and your mental growth totaled 125. Just think, 125 books covering subjects from apples to zebras and people. . .some saints, some sinners!

So how can you place your library in the "non-profit organization" category? The only non-profiting is on the part of those who do not use it!

Your library is open for your use. . .we'll see you soon, anytime from noon to 7 p. m., every day but Saturday and Sunday during the summer.

PUBLIC OPINION

To the Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Mr. Editor:

After reading and considering your editorial appearing in the Times of June 29, 1964 entitled "Where is the Power", we would like to ask, "Where is the Logic?"

In your editorial you have rightly pointed out that the subversive elements of both the extreme right and left would like to infiltrate respected institutions in the United States: our youth, our military, and our political system. However, it does not follow, as you assume, that they have been successful. You have offered no evidence to substantiate your claims. Your assumptions are based more on personal likes and dislikes than on evidence. The record of our achievements in education and government do not justify your cynical and dismal attitude.

For example, take, education: Does the editor really grasp the purpose of education. Is not education an impartial search for truth? Can there be any true education if certain topics are left beyond the scope of free inquiry? American education, because it has been based on free inquiry, has produced individuals noted for outstanding accomplishments in science, humanities, and the arts. Would the editor desire an educational system without free inquiry: One in which only commonly accepted and uncontroversial "truths" are "imprinted upon the student's mind," a view of education which would condemn a Socrates, denounce a Galileo, chastise a Thomas Paine, or silence a Pasternak?

We all know of the good effect of education in America. But possibly we should consider the corrosive effect on every phase of society caused by a continuous outpouring of caustic comments against our judiciary, our military, our educational institutions, and our students, in which this paper has taken part.

Our generation does not need, we are sure, the lack of faith you show in our judgement. Our generation will assume a rightful position in both achievement and responsibility.

Mr. Editor, why not leave the gloom and doom of your editorial position and come out into the sunlight and breath the clean air of forward looking optimism? We are confident in the future of the United States. We are proud of our democracy, of our schools, our friends, our parents, our community, and we wish we could take the same pride in our home town paper's editorial philosophy.

Sincerely,
Charles Larson

Summer Mulches Help to Gardener In Several Ways

Mulches can be a big help to both garden and gardener if they are applied at the right time.

Mulches help to control weeds, conserve moisture, keep the ground cool and keep fruits and edible parts of vegetables clean. They also cut down on the work of hoeing and watering and make gardening easier.

Cultivation often results in cutting roots on the plants. Problems like blossom-end rot of tomatoes may be due to this practice. A mulch will tend to prevent this trouble.

Some good mulches are ground corncobs, finely chopped straw, grass clippings or sawdust. A layer an inch or two deep will be sufficient. Apply the mulch before mid-July, immediately following a rain or right after watering.

If slugs become troublesome, secures one of the chemicals available containing metaldehyde. These chemicals are on the market under various trade names. Follow directions for applying.

Sometimes you may notice a yellowing of foliage with the use of a mulch. This yellowing indicates a nitrogen competition which can be corrected by adding a little ammonium nitrate or a complete fertilizer over the mulch.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

At this stage of the campaign the Democrats have a big lead over the Republicans and most forecasters are predicting victories for Democratic party candidates in the coming election. My guess at this time is that the forecasters are guessing right. By election day the campaign year boom, built up largely by the spending of government dollars, will be at its peak. People are not likely to vote against what they accept as prosperity.

One of the biggest advantages the Democrats have is the organizational weakness of the Republican party. Those who speak for the Republican party haven't been able to decide whether the party should be liberal or conservative. Too many of those who speak for the party seem to have the idea that in order to win the Republicans must be more liberal than the left-wing Democrats.

Well, I think we will all agree, there should be at least two parties, one liberal and one conservative. Within these two parties there is room for most of the middle of the roaders. At the extreme left there are the radicals and at the extreme right there are the reactionaries. We cannot look to the extremists for reasonable solutions for any of our problems.

But over a period of time we can have too much of liberalism or too much of conservativeism. At tre present time I am satisfied that we have had too many years of liberalism—so many years of it that we now have a 38 cent dollar and a national debt of $324 billion. We are at the peak of a government-financed boom that is headed for a bust. One of our most responsible reporting agencies predicts that we are headed for a record inflation. It can be averted only by responsible, and generally unpopular, government controls.

Under its present spineless leadership, at both the state and the national levels, the Republican party is not measuring up to its responsibilities as the present leading minority group. The party leaders do not have, and do not deserve the respect and confidence of the voters who are seriously concerned about the present trend in our economic and international problems.

And as our nation is threatened by both economic and international disturbances, brought on largely by liberal and short-sighted policies of the party now in power, the Republican party does have an opportunity for service that, if properly handled, could restore the party to a reasonable level of respectability. But the prospects under the present leadership are not encouraging.

It should be of interest to our agricultural community, in which dairying plays an important part, to know that the Irish, in Ireland, have less heart disease per capita than we do in our country. This in spite of the fact that while the average American eats only 8 pounds of butter a year, the average Irishman in Ireland eats more than 40 pounds of butter a year. Tests show that there is no difference in the amounts and types of fatty acids in Irish and American butter.

A research organization, studying the problem, has come up with the conclusion that the work patterns of the two countries make the big difference in the incidence of heart trouble in the two countries. It seems that the Irish get more of their exercise in the form of physical labor than on the golf course.

Please pass the butter.

President Lyndon Johnson, in a general declaration of war, recently declared that our country would fight anywhere and everywhere in the world, wherever liberty was threatened. That, of course, is a commendable spirit. We should always stand ready to defend and assist those who are in danger of losing their liberties.

But, almost invariably in such problems, there is the difficulty in deciding who are the oppressed and who are the oppressors. President Johnson didn't elaborate on how these decisions would be arrived at. And the procedure for arriving at these decisions are quite important. I am satisfied that the decisions should not be made in Washington, but rather by one of our international agencies representitive of a group of free nations whith which we are affiliated. There is no good reason why we, alone, should fight all of the wars for freedom around the world.

So before we become more involved in this international conflict, let's submit the problems to a group of our friends, and approach them with some assurance that we would have a little support in our efforts to make this a better world.

Our friends seem to be a little confused as to what our intentions are and to what extent our objectives can be measured with some degree of accuracy. Their lack of understanding is understandable.

The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved funds for the first silver dollar production since 1935. Silver dollars are scarce mainly because they are being hoarded by people who look forward to inflation as inevitable. They expect that the American silver dollar will have more value in terms of its silver content than as a coin.

I don't know the answers to problems of this kind, but my reaction is that the first consideration of Congress should be the stability of our economy and the buying power of our dollar, whether that buying power be expressed in terms of ounces of silver or promises to pay by a responsible agency of the federal government.

ASPIRIN

Q. Is it true that aspirin causes internal bleeding?

A. A small, perhaps insignificant, number of people have trouble after taking aspirin. This drug . . . aspirin is a drug . . . apparently causes stomach irritation in such persons, and the irritation may be accompanied by blood loss, sometimes in large amounts. However, the vast majority of people apparently tolerate normal amounts of aspirin without difficulty.

ATHLETIC HEART A MYTH

Q. What is an "athletic" heart?

A. There isn't such a thing, according to most authorities. Medical opinion can be summed up like this. Infections are more important as a cause of heart disease than exercise; strenuous exercise won't damage a normal heart; the term "athletic" heart should be dropped because it describes a condition that probably does not exist.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

4-H night is in need of some local talent. If anyone has talent, be sure and contact the extension office. This is open to other interested people as well as 4-H members.

Some of you 4-H members are making bread for the fair. Did you know that the kind of liquid that is used makes the bread different? Milk, water or potato water give yeast bread a fine though slightly differnet texture and flavor.

The dough made with milk will have the finest texture, the one with potato water will have the greatest volume, and the loaf with water will have a tasty wheaty flavor.

When making milk bread with dry yeast, begin with just enough warm water or potato water to dissolve the yeast. Then add scalded milk cooled to lukewarm for the rest of the liquid.

Bing cherries will be in shortly, but only for a short time. If you wish to can them, buy them when you first see the cherries in the store. Because of the weather this spring, there is a limited supply, and they will be expensive. The raw pack method and the hot pack method are the two methods of canning cherries.

In the raw pack, wash and drain the cherries and place them in a jar one-half inch from the top. Cover them with boiling thin or medium syrup depending upon how sweet you like your cherry sauce. Leave one-half inch air space on the top.

In the hot pack method, wash and drain the cherries. Place them in a pan of water and one-half cup of sugar for each quart of cherries and bring to a boil. Pack into jars and leave one-half inch air space on the top.

For both the raw or hot pack, put the filled jars into a canner containing hot or boiling water. Add boiling water to bring the water an inch or two over the tops of the jars. Do not pour the boiling water directly on the glass jars. Begin counting the processing time when the water in the canner comes to a rolling boil. The processing time for the raw pack is 25 minutes for quarts, and the processing time for the hot pack is 15 minutes for quarts.

For any further information on canning, stop in the extension office and ask for extension folder 100. The title is "Home Canning Fruits and Vegetables."

Aug. 14 Deadline Noted for MSC Registrations

Friday, Aug. 14, has been designated as the last day applications for admission can be accepted for the fall quarter at Moorhead State college, Dr. Robert A. Hanson, director of admissions and registrar, has announced.

The deadline, first announced last winter, represents a new policy at the college and the cutoff date coincides with admissions deadlines at several of the other Minnesota public colleges.

Both new entering freshmen and transfer students must register not later than Aug. 14 if they plan to enroll for the fall quarter, Dr. Hanson said. Under a new admissions policy, effective last spring, students who rank in the lower 37 per cent of their high school class and have a score of less than 16 in the American college test will not qualify for admission without the approval of a special faculty committee.

The fall quarter at Moorhead State opens Sept. 28. A freshman welcome week has been scheduled for Sept. 21-25.

Everly Brothers Will Appear at Fargo July 22

One of the nation's popular entertainment duos, the Everly Brothers, will appear in person at the Fargo civic memorial auditorium on July 22 under the auspice F-M Community Productions, Inc. They will headline a four-hour stage revue and rock hop show.

The Everly Brothers, Phil and Don, became overnight sensations with their first big record hit, "Bye Bye Love," in 1957. Subsequent big hits by this pair include "Wake Up, Little Susie," "Walk On By," and "Ferris Wheel."

Tickets for the Everly Brothers state revue and rock hop are now on sale at Daveau's in Fargo-Moorhead.

Glen Fellman, 54, R. L. County Judge of Probate, Dies

Glen N. Fellman, who has served Red Lake county as judge of probate since 1939, died Wednesday morning at St. John's hospital in Red Lake Falls. He was 54.

A Requiem high mass was offered Saturday, July 4 at 9 a.m. from St. Joseph Catholic Church at Red Lake Falls. Monsignor Arthur Lemere was the celebrant. Interment was in the church cemetery, the Petterson funeral home handling arrangements.

Mr. Fellman, who became widely known through his work with juvenile courts and as a past president of the Minnesota probate judges association, suffered a heart attack three weeks ago and had been hospitalized since that time.

A life-long resident of this area, Mr. Fellman was born June 27, 1910 at St. Hilaire, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fellman. He was graduated from Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls and attended both the University of North Dakota and the University of Minnesota. He was regarded as a community leader, taking part in a large number of community affairs.

On Feb. 14, 1938 he was married to Eleanor Marshaldon of Red Lake Falls. She survives him, along with four daughters and two sons. They are Julie (Mrs. William Horak) of Minneapolis, Maureen (Mrs. Ronald Lehrer) of Midland, Mich.; James, Valerie, Tom and Joan, all at home.

Also surviving are four grandchildren; four brothers, Vern of Seattle, Wash.; Duane of Richland Wash.; Robert of Palo Alto, Calif.; and Donald of Red Lake Falls; four sisters, Myrtle (Mrs. W. B. Grise) of Austin, Minn.) Alice (Mrs. Roy Johnson); Lois (Mrs. Bruce Higin (botham) and Violet, of Red Lake Falls.

Granddaughter Of T. Grovoms Loses Life in Accident

Miss Judy Tillman, 17, Crookston, a former resident of Thief River Falls, lost her life in a collision with a semitrailer truck north of Crookston on highway 75, about 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

She was the daughter of the Armond Tillmans of Crookston, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grovem of this city and of Mrs. Emil Tillman of Plummer, and the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Ida Premo of Red Lake Falls.

Funeral services are being held today (Monday) at 2 p.m. from the Trinity Lutheran church of Crookston, with Rev. Ralph L. Tellesen officiating. Interment will be in the Oakdale cemetery. Stenshoel funeral home of Crookston is in charge of arrangements.

Driver of the car in which Miss Tillman was a passenger, Mario Moren, 17, of Crookston, was hospitalized with injuries that were not considered serious. Miss Tillman was thrown from the car and run over by the semitrailer, the driver of which was uninjured.

She was born in Thief River Falls May 1, 1947, and attended school here and in Hibbing and at Garrison, N. D. before the family moved to Crookston. She would have been a senior at Crookston high school this fall, and had just recently completed a nurses' aide course.

She is survived by her parents, maternal grandparents, paternal grandmother, and her great-grandmother. She was the Tillman's only child.

MAIN STREET, U.S.A.

BY BERT MILLS
Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

Your nation's capital has not turned out the way the founding fathers planned it. The federal city was supposed to become a major port and center of commerce. Instead it has become a company town", completely dominated by the government.

The District of Columbia comprises 69 square miles carved out of Maryland and Virginia. It is one of the 10 largest cities in the nation and its population of about 800,000 is larger than 10 of the states.

The federal government owns 43 per cent of the land and employs 47 per cent of the labor force. Except for Nevada, average per capita income in D. C. is higher than in any state—$3,219 in 1962. The primary reason is that Uncle Sam pays well.

Washington is the only major city in the U. S. where Negroes are in the majority. According to 1960 census figures, 57 per cent of D. C. residents are non-white, and 97 per cent of the non-whites are Negroes.

Most Washington residents come from someplace else. Fifty-seven per cent were born elsewhere but natives of eight states supply 38 per cent of the D. C. population. At the head of the migration list is Virginia, followed by North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Georgia and West Virginia.

2.2 Million in D. C. Area

Like many major cities, Washington is surrounded by "bedroom" communities. A D. C. suburb, Silver Spring, is Maryland's second largest city behind Baltimore. Alexandria and Arlington, Va., are both in the 100,000 population class.

The metropolitan area of Washington comprises two Maryland and two Virginia counties, plus George Washington's "old home town", the city of Alexandria. Except for Los Angeles, the Washington metropolitan area is the fastest growing among the 15 largest in the nation.

Forty-four out of every 100 employed suburban residents commute to Washington to work — a larger proportion than New York or Los Angeles, but third behind Cleveland and Milwaukee among the 15 biggest cities.

Although Washington's city population is down about 100,000 from its 900,000 peak of 1943, there are fewer places to live now than then and city population is practically at capacity. It would take an apartment building boom to allow D. C. population to rise to any appreciable degree.

Population density of Washington is less than one-sixth that of Manhattan. However, that figure is misleading because the government-owned area in D. C. consists mostly of parks and non-residential buildings. The Population Reference bureau, a private research organization, points out that the effective density in Washington is much higher than the unweighted figure.

Congress Rules D. C.

Politically, the Washington area suffers both from a common affliction and a unique lack of self-government. Like practically all the major metropolitan areas, greater Washington extends across state and county lines. Two states, four counties, one city, and the federal government control the Washington area.

In some other areas, notably New York, need for a single, central administrative unit has been met by creation of an "authority", with broad powers delegated by two or more states. The Port of New York Authority, for example, operates in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Washington has nothing similar, and suffers from the lack. Highways and bridges connecting D. C. with Maryland and Virginia always take longer to plan and build because of the conflicting jurisdictions. No solution to this problem is in sight.

Within the confines of the District, Congress is king. D. C. residents have no representation in Congress, and indeed no vote. "Home rule" has been ardently sought for decades but Congress insists on retaining control. Partial suffrage has finally been granted and in November, Washington residents will vote for President and Vice President for the first time since 1800.

However, Washington will still lack an elected city council or anything similar. A three-man board of commissioners, appointed by the President, performs routine functions like directing the police and fire departments. But it takes an act of Congress for even the most minor matter.

Congress governs Washington and rather shamefully neglects its responsibilities. Lacking the vote, Washington residents can't do much about it.

Columnists, commentators and editorial writers keep insisting that Barry Goldwater will wreck the Republican party if he is nominated by the GOP next month. The charge is that Goldwater is too conservative for many Republicans, will win no Democrcratic or independent votes and will be defeated by Lyndon Johnson so badly that the Republican party will never recover.

Let's examine this thesis in the light of the available evidence. In the first place, the odds are the Republicans will lose any Presidential election in our time, by simple mathematics, and irrespective of the identity of the candidates. There are millions more Democrats than Republicans. It would be a real upset for any Republican to win the White House in 1964.

Secondly, if the Republicans are doomed to defeat again this year, why is it so widely believed that Johnson would swamp Goldwater? Is the Arizona Senator likely to run worse than would Richard Nixon, or Cabot Lodge, or William Scranton, or anybody else the Republicans might name in San Francisco next month? Could it be the opinion polls are influencing national thinking in this respect?

If the polls are part of the answer, consider the vast advantages enjoyed by the President. A nation aghast at the tragedy of Dallas has been relieved beyond measure that Johnson took hold of the reins of government with strong hands. One Democrat, thrust suddenly into the most powerful post in the world, convinced the nation and the world in short order that he was capable of handling the job.

While Johnson was building his image as a doer and a successful President, Republicans were fighting among themselves in a frantic struggle for preferment. Is it any wonder the polls showed Johnson an overwhelming favorite over Goldwater or any other Republican? And how accurate are the polls, which picked losers in New Hampshire, Oregon and California primaries?

Goldwater's Bad Press

Senator Goldwater has millions of admirers, including a probable majority of rank-and-file local leaders of his party. But he has few cheerleaders among the writers of syndicated columns or the mouthpieces for electronic media. Nationally at least, Goldwater gets a bad press. This in turn probably affects adversely his standing in the polls.

The vast majority of columnists and commentators, operating out of Washington and New York, are dedicated liberals. Many have been personal friends of Lyndon Johnson for many years and you may be sure the President has cultivated them assiduously.

It will be recalled that Nixon cut loose a blast at the press after his narrow defeat by John F. Kennedy in the Presidential race in 1960. While Nixon's outburst was ill-tempered and politically unwise, there is no doubt that the personal preference of most political correspondents was Kennedy.

As a Senator, Goldwater's only leadership role has been as Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee. Its job is to elect Republicans to the Senate. Bucking the tide as he was, particularly during the Kennedy administration, Goldwater was not notably successful. But he did raise a lot of money and make many friends, particularly at the grass roots.

His own Presidential candidacy sprung from his travels to spread the GOP gospel to elect Republican Senators. His blunt message of conservative doctrine won converts everywhere he went. Local editors often became supporters but the metropolitan press never cottoned to him. For example, most important city dailies in California backed Nelson Rockefeller in the recent primary.

The Radical Right Issue

If Senator Goldwater wins the Republican nomination, it will be said that he is the darling of the "radical right." This is a relatively new term in the political dictionary, used to describe members of the John Birch Society and other groups even farther to the right. Undoubtedly these people will support Goldwater against Johnson, and possibly embarrass him in the process.

The Radical Right Issue

But what about the "radical left?" Surely the socialists and the communists and those who think similarly will support Johnson, just as they did Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Harry Truman and Franklin Roosevelt. It would seem that the Republicans will have at least as good a case against Democratic leftists as the Democrats have against Republican rightists. In total numbers, probably neither group is too important although both are noisy.

Most Americans are not too far off center politically. One may be a confirmed Democrat and another a regular Republican but their views are not too distant. This is why Kennedy was more conservative as President than as a candidate, and why Johnson has been working so hard to live down his New Deal background and appeal to conservatives as a tax-cutter and an economizer. He needs the middle as well as the left.

If it is to be Johnson vs. Goldwater on November 3, the contest will be for the support of those near the political center. Johnson has a head start in this area but he has some liabilities as a candidate which have not been exposed yet. The election is not over before the nominating conventions and it is unlikely that the forecasts of a forever-doomed GOP will be fulfilled.

The Republican party survived 20 years of Roosevelt and Truman, then found a Dwight Eisenhower to regain the White House for eight years. Barry is no Ike but the suspicion is that the party can and will survive even a losing campaign by Goldwater.

Probably four out of every five Americans will be affected personally by the revolutionary Supreme Court decision of June 15 that legislative districts must be substantially equal in population.

At least 40 states are now in jeopardy. Even brand new apportionment laws like the one passed by Michigan last year appear to be illegal under the sweeping rule set forth by the social reformers who control the highest court in the land.

Apportionment — meaning the method by which citizens are represented in state legislative bodies — is normally a matter for politicians to wrangle over, but the Supreme Court edict reduces a complicated and controversial subject to a personal issue reaching into almost every living room.

A majority of six decreed "one person, one vote." Seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned by population. This means city and suburbs will monopolize most legislatures and that many people living outside major metropolitan areas will have their laws written by those who do not represent their views.

The decision flies in the face of the system so carefully devised by our founding fathers for our national legislative body. Each state has two Senators regardless of size or population.

That means a Senator from Nevada represents less people than are contained in a single square mile of New York City, and yet the Nevada Senator's vote counts just as much as that of the New York Senator's. This is the way the framers of the Constitution planned it, and it has worked well for about 19 decades.

Many states have followed the same pattern, with a House membership based on population and a Senate representation chosen without relation to numbers. This is part of the intricate system of checks and balances which has succeeded remarkably well.

Pity the Poor Farmer

Geographical representation has allowed those elected from small towns and rural districts to exercise a strong voice in the affairs of their state. That will become a thing of the past as soon as the Supreme Court edict is implemented. The New York State Assembly now includes a representative of 15,000 people in Schuyler County, and his vote is worth as much as that of the Assemblyman from a Brooklyn section who has 150,000 constituents.

This will mean the cities will dominate. Farmers will be faced with new taxes to pay for city subways and other expensive projects long sought by urban interests. The balance of power in many legislatures is going to shift just as soon as states get in compliance with the mandate from Washington. And the court expects the reform to be accomplished by 1966.

It is true that the failure of states and Congress to act on apportionment problems opened the door to the seizure of power by the Supreme Court. However, the remedy seems to be too drastic for the ailment, like using electric shock treatment to cure a headache.

When the man in the street realizes what has happened, the hour will be late for remedial action. Rights once lost are especially difficult to regain. Supreme Court decisions cannot be appealed. But if a national majority rejects the verdict, there are two courses open. Both require legislative action by Congress.

Bill or Constitutional Amendment?

A Constitutional amendment could reverse the court decision but the procedure is cumbersome and time-consuming, requiring first agreement in Congress and then ratification by the states. Even a successful effort of this sort would take years.

Some claim Congress has the right to pass a bill to reverse the decision, without resort to a Constitutional amendment. Several bills have been introduced to deprive the Supreme Court of power to change or outlaw any apportionment system adopted by a state. It would be less difficult to enact such a bill than to go the Constitutional route.

However, no bill is likely to pass this year unless there is a loud outcry from an outraged citizenry. And an election year is the best time for protesting.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

Minnesota State Medical association urges that every individual carry with him at all times an emergency medical identification card that shows his name, where he lives, whom to call if he becomes ill or injured, the name of his doctor, and when he was immunized—particularly against tetanus or lockjaw.

Noted on this medical identity card should be any special problems that need immediate attention in an emergency. Diabetics, for example, must be identified so that a person in a diabetic coma will get prompt treatment and needed doses of insulin. Unfortunately, many diabetics having a severe insulin reaction have been mistaken for drunk.

The need for certain medicines must be known. Heart patients taking drugs to prevent blood clots may bleed profusely if injured unless they receive special care.

Epileptics could be saved much trouble and unnecessary hospitalization if they carried a card indicating they have seizures. Persons who breathe through a tube surgically inserted in their throats must be recognized to protect them from smothering.

Allergies are not only annoying, but can be serious. For instance, persons allergic to horse serum should not receive tetanus antitoxin. This preventive drug, usually given after an injury, contains horse serum.

Penicillin causes sensitization in many who take it, so a warning against the use of penicillin or other drugs to which a person is sensitive should be noted. The association notes that even a feather allergy could have a tremendous adverse affect on a person hospitalized for an injury if he were given a feather pillow.

If a person's problems are so serious that they must be immediately known in an emergency, the association advises wearing a durable signal device made of metal or plastic about the neck, wrist or ankle. This warning device should be worn at all times, in bed, in the bath, while swimming, et cetera, so that the right information gets to the physician in case the victim is unconscious or unable to communicate.

Copies of the Emergency Medical Identification card are available free of charge from the Minnesota State Medical Association, 496 Lowry Medical Arts, St. Paul 2.

Soil Survey Has Wide Use

Planning a recreation area? One necessary item in your tool kit would be a soil survey map.

If you're a forester concerned with management practices, an urban planner looking into subdivision needs, an engineer designing state or federal highway construction, or a county tax assessor attempting to develop a real estate tax base you can also make use of the information contained in a soil survey.

Of course the major users of this type of information are farmers and technical personnel in areas of related interest.

But many would ask, "What is a soil survey and who provides this service?"

The objectives of such a program in Minnesota are to classify the soils, to make multiple-use interpretations of the soils and to provide an inventory of the soil resources for the state.

Basically the survey consists of making soil maps which distinguish the different kinds of soils of an area. The comparison of these soils with other soils in this state or other states allows the making of a report which can describe the soils as well as their uses and management for a variety of purposes.

The program is a cooperative effort of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation service.

The types of maps being made fall into three categories: detailed, reconnaissance, and generalized soil association maps.

A detailed map is made by carefully going over the land and mapping out all specific soil, slope and erosion differences. This particular type is important for individual farm planning by farmers, soil conservation technicians and others interested in intensive agricultural enterprises. Such maps are available for more than 15 million acres of Minnesota land.

A reconnaissance map is less detailed. The maps only show major soil and slope changes which are useful for general land use planning. Major users of this type of service are developers of outdoor recreation sites and planning of broad-scale forestry, wildlife and agricultural programs.

The generalized soil association maps are used to portray broad soil characteristics and distribution in the state. These are usually constructed from the information found on the other two types of maps and they provide an overview of the state's soil profile.

Soil classification, correlation and characterization studies of the different soil areas also supplement the maps. These studies aid in making full use of land characteristics.

These might include fertilizer and lime recommendations, drainage and erosion control measures, or any other information that can be used to make land usage more effective.

Some of these maps are available from the Department of Soil Science at the University of Minnesota in St. Paul or from your congressional representative as long as his supply lasts. They can also be obtained from USDA's office of information in Washington, D. C.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Too many veterans sell their GI homes and then learn they are still liable to the government for any mortgage. John R. Parrish, center director of the Veterans administration in Fargo, has released the following series of questions and answers in order to help any GI home owner contemplating the sale of his home:

Q—What steps should a veteran, planning to sell his GI home, take to avoid future liability?

A—He can (a) see that his GI loan is paid in full, either by the purchaser paying full cash or by obtaining his own loan, or (b) allow the purchaser to assume the GI loan, at the same time obtaining a release of liability to the government on the GI loan form both the lender who holds the note and mortgage and from the VA.

Q—How does a veteran go about obtaining a release from liability?

A—He submits a written request (no special form needed) to the VA regional office which processed the loan. Request should include the VA loan number, address of property, name and address of proposed purchaser, and name and address of lender who holds the note and mortgage. He should make this application before signing a contract to sell the home.

Q—Who determines whether the release will be granted?

A—The VA regional office. The proposed purchaser will be required to submit a financial statement and sign an agreement to assume the liability.

Q—Must the proposed purchaser be a veteran?

A—No.

Poole and Aune Hurl Juniors to Two Wins

With veterans Tony Poole and John Aune pitching steady ball coach Ralph Skay's juniors moved back into the wins column on Thursday and Friday, defeating East Grand Forks and Red Lake Falls. Tony Poole, on a five-hit effort, hurled the locals to a 6 to 2 win over the defending Ninth District champion East Grand Forks team in a game played on the Fairgrounds diamond on Thursday evening. And on Friday evening, with Aune tossing a three-hit shutout, the locals defeated Red Lake Falls 8 to 0, in a game played on Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park diamond.

A twelve-hit attack on East Side's Ken Wavra, with Paul Klungness having three hits in four tries, and Buzz Olson, Tom Cummings, and Tony Poole racking up two hits apiece, coach Skay's club held a decisive edge in Thursday's league game here. The locals picked up a three runs in the first inning, on a five hits, and added another three-run inning in the third.

The East Siders picked up their runs, on singletons, in the fourth and fifth innings. John Neppel doubled to lead off the fourth, and moved around to score on a pair of infield outs. And in the fifth, a single by Dennis Marek, an error, and Dave Achen's double down the left-field line plated the East Siders' second tally.

Playing at Red Lake Falls on Friday evening coach Skay's batsmen, after Buzz Olson had lofted a foul pop to third base to lead off, came up with six successive singles to score five runs. Getting the base hits were Jerry Erickson, Paul Klungness, Mike Benke, Tony Poole.

Red Lake Falls batsmen were held to but threee hits, with Chuck Kleven and Louie Toulouse singling in the third inning, and Fred Landman getting a safety in the fourth.

TRF RECREATION

by Jim Foley
Park and Recreation Director

With warm weather and sunshine in abundance, the summer recreation activities are now in full swing. The attendance at Tindolph beach has been near capacity daily, with very large crowds on week-ends. The adult swimming classes have started and are held on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. Registrations are still open at the beach these same evenings.

The park and recreation tennis classes are being well attended, and are held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at Lincoln high school. There is a possiblity of starting tennis instructions for an adult class if there are enough persons interested in joining. Any adult interested in receiving tennis instruction should call the park and recreation office for more information. This class would be for both men and women. Tennis is a great game and this is a wonderful opportunity for anyone interested in learning.

The softball tournament will be held in Thief River Falls August 8 and 9 this year. With the interest shown in softball, this year's tournament could be one of the best in the Northwest. On a recent trip to St. Paul I was in contact with Pat Rusch, player-coach of the Wallace club in St. Paul. He expressed much interest in entering our tournament.

The parks in Thief River Falls, I believe, are some of the finest of their size in the state. I would like to encourage more people to use these parks and picnic areas. At Riverside park we have all the facilities that make a family outing truly an enjoyable event. Provided are playground apparatus, picnic tables, toilet facilities, water faucet and plenty of beautiful shade trees and a parking area.

Small craft safety class will be held on Friday morning at the beach. Participants learn how to row, handle a boat or canoe in various situations.

They will learn safety factors pertaining to water-front activities in general and boating specifically.

Diving lessons get underway each Saturday morning at 9 a.m. at the beach. The class is for every boy or girl interested in learning to dive. Registration for the class is limited to those that pass the swimmer test. Instructor is Rae Carlson.

Archery club meeting and shoot is held each Thursday at 7 p.m. at the archery range at the west end of the fairgrounds. The club is open to the public and everyone is welcome.

A pet show will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at the East side field. Any pet owner is invited to enter his pet free of charge. All pets must be leashed or controlled in cages, etc. There will be awards and certificates given to winners.

Wardens To Give More Emphasis to Fishing Licenses

The state's chief game warden, F. W. Johnson, said today that wardens have started an intensified search for persons fishing without licenses.

Johnson said the stepped-up investigation was stimulated by reports from game wardens that routine checks are disclosing an unusually high number of fishermen without licenses.

"Of 23 arrests made recently by a game warden in the Twin Cities area, about one-half were for fishing without a license," he said.

"Considering that a court usually fines a person between $10 and $100 for this charge, the refusal to buy a license costing less than three dollars reflects a very short-sighted and stubborn attitude," Johnson said.

To Permit Boating At Sandy Beach Area on Red Lake

Tribal Council Expands Recreational Opportunity: No Fishing Is Allowed

Boating and water sports, with the exception of fishing, will be permitted at the Sandy Beach recreation area at Red lake, according to Dan Needham, treasurer of the tribal council of the Red lake band of Chippewa Indians. The beach area was opened to swimming several years ago.

A shoreline area will be roped off and reserved for swimming only, Needham said, but an area about two miles in length and three-fourths of a mile into the lake from the shoreline will be open for water skiing and family boating. There is to be no fishing on Red lake, however, with fishing permits being sold for the Red Lake river below the outlet dam and for other inland lakes on the reservation.

A charge of $1 per car is charged by the tribal council for use of the beach and picnic area on a daily basis. An extra charge of $1 will be assessed people bringing their boats. A season permit of $10.50 will admit cars and boats to the recreation area for the entire season. Boats are to be launched at the recreation area only.

The tribal council has employed a day watchman to supervise the car parking area and a night watchman to prevent vandalism on the grounds. Camping in the area is also available on a permit basis. There is only one entrance to the area and visitors are advised to watch for signs. The entrance is four miles south of the outlet dam.

Although the area is sprayed for mosquito control, Needham said, visitors to Sandy Beach would be more comfortable if they brought mosquito repellant with them.

Use a good quality top soil to fill around the roots of the shrubs. Firm the soil to remove all air pockets. Once the shrub is established, you can add fertilizer.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Boost for Hockey

Preparations are just about completed for installing the concrete foundation for the arena building that will be erected in Red Lake Falls' Riverside park. This building, which will have a dual role, will be used by coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls high school hockey team during the winter season, and during the summer it will be utilized by the Red Lake county fair.

This building, with its provisions for an ice sheet with the demensions of 196 feet in length by 82 feet in width, should be a boon for the Eagles.

Over the years, Red Lake Falls has produced some first-rate football teams, with one of their boys, Ken Bombardier going on to play with the Minnesota Gophers, and hockey should be a natural for these body-contact athletes.

Hockey has become and "in" sport for the country's colleges, and particularly for the eastern colleges and universities. And these colleges are anxious to provide scholarships for American boys who can play hockey. Boys from northern Minnesota, with hockey backgrounds, are held at a premium. And too, the smaller schools in Region Eight have a better chance of gaining a berth in a state high school tournament via the hockey route than through basketball.

Let's hope that the Red Lake Falls Eagles have success with their new arena and rink.

A Timid Vote

Ever since my grade-school days, when I read, and was influenced by, Christy Mathewson's "Pitching in a Pinch", I have been a National league fan, and a Giants fan in particular. And so, with the All-Star game on tap for Tuesday afternoon, I cast a timid vote for the National League All-Stars over the American League All-Stars.

The National leaguers have been installed as favorites to even the series which began back in the early 1930's, and which at present finds the American league holding a 17 to 16 edge in games won. And the reason for the odds in favor of the National league is due to the exceptional pitching that is available for manager Walt Alston, who will direct the National leaguers. He has such top flight hurlers as Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax, Juan Marichal, Jim Bunning and Dick Farrell on his staff. The American league will counter with such hurlers as the Twins' Camilo Pascual, the Angels' Dean Chance, the Indians' Jack Kralick, the White Sox' Juan Pizarro and Gary Peters. The National league must be given the edge.

Everything Happens

On the East Side softball diamond, that is. Last week, for instance, the Hartz Stores, carrying a three wins and three losses record, defeated the league-leading Bea's Food Market team, 8 to 5. And on Thursday night, the Rasmussen Insurance team, with just two wins in eight games, upset the title-minded Bridgeman's, winning by a 6 to 3 score.

You can be sure that there were a number of afternoon lunches won and lost on the outcome of that game. And the odds, well, the "bookies" were offering four to one on Bridgeman's; that is, four glasses of milk to one cup of black coffee! And if the Bridgeman's lose this evening's game to the Bea's Food Market, the wagers will be paid off in skim milk!

This week's schedule:

July 7, Thorp Loan vs. Hartz Stores
July 8, Rasmussen Ins. vs. V.F.W.
July 9, Bea's Food Mkt. vs. Hamm's Beer

Last week's play in the city softball league must be entered into the record books as the "week of upsets", what with the Hartz Stores scoring an 8 to 5 win over the previously undefeated Bea's Food Market team on Tuesday evening, and the Rasmussen Insurance taking the measure of the Bridgeman's, 6 to 3, on Thursday evening.

This week's play will be featured by this evening's, Monday, game between the Bridgeman's, who are in third place, and the Bea's Food Market. It is a "must" game for the Bridgeman's, and a loss for the league-leading Bea's would boost the Vets into a tie (in the loss column) with manager Marc Selness' club. In a previous game between the Bea's and the Vets, the Bea's scored a 1 to 0 win.

Chuck Wilcox pitched the Rasmussen Insurance to its 6 to 3 win over the Bridgeman' on Thursday evening. Wilcox was given excellent support by his defense.

TRF Legion Juniors Lose Doubleheader

Wednesday evening's American Legion junior baseball doubleheader at the Fairgrounds proved entertaining for the fans even though it resulted in a pair of losses for coach Ralph Skay's local club. The Grand Forks team, on a home run by Gene Storbakken in the fifth inning, edged out the locals, 3 to 2. And the Detroit Lakes juniors, utilizing a five-run cluster in the fourth inning, defeated the local juniors, 7 to 5, in the nightcap.

This week's slate will find the Thief River Falls club playing a return game against the Grand Forks juniors this evening, Monday, at 8:30 p.m. On Tuesday the locals will make the trip to Warroad for a Northwest American Legion game against Warroad, with game time at 7:00 p.m. On Wednesday evening, in another league game, coach Skay's club will meet the East Grand Forks juniors at East Grand Forks. Thursday will find a double-header for the Fairgrounds diamond, with the Stephen juniors playing the locals at 6:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. And another doubleheader for the Fairgrounds diamond is billed for Friday night, with Argyle playing the locals at 6:00 p.m., and the Fertile juniors playing the local juniors at 8:00 p.m.

In Wednesday evening's opener of the doubleheader, the locals, on an error on Buzz Olson's ground ball, a walk to Jerry Erickson, and a double by Paul Klungness, tallied a pair of runs in the first inning to gain an early lead, 2 to 1, over the Grand Forks Juniors.

Grand Forks, on a walk to Jerry Hebert, a stolen base, and a double by Bob Juve, knotted the score at 2-all in the third innings. And in the fifth inning, with two men out, Storbakken connected with one of Tommy Cummings' curve balls and drove a home run over the left-field fence for the game-winning tally.

In the nightcap, against Detroit Lakes, the local again forged into a lead, holding a 3 to 1 margin at the end of the third inning. In the top of the forth, with one out, the Lakers erupted for five runs, utilizing four hits, a walk, a passed ball, and an error to rack up the cluster of runs. Mike Siekas slammed out a double during the uprising.

The locals came back with a pair of runs in the fifth when Klungness and Benke hit a pair of singles and Cummings lashed a triple into right field.

The Lakers closed out the game's scoring with a tally in the seventh when Siekas led off with a single, advanced to second on a passed ball, and then scored on Mike Grip's single to left field.

Selective Service To Examine 18-Year-Olds

Most Minnesota Selective Service local boards will begin in July to order 18-year-old registrants for complete examination by the Armed Forces, according to Col. Edward P. Barrows, acting state director of Selective service. Col. Barrows emphasized that the examination of 18-year-olds does not mean that they face induction in the immediate future.

The examination of 18-year-olds who are out of school and not deferred for other reasons initiates a program announced by President Johnson on January 5. The President directed the secretary of defense and the director of selective service to begin the early examination of 18-year-old registrants after a presidential task force study determined that large numbers of young men being found disqualified for military service were interested in obtaining educational, vocational and medical rehabilitation.

In announcing the plan to examine 18-year-olds, the President pointed out that early examination will "....enable those who are qualified for military service to plan intelligently their future careers in this respect. It will enable those found unqualified to get to work promptly on the education, training.... can be of benefit to them."

The President also noted that "... early examination will not mean early induction. There will be no change in the present practice of calling older registrants for actual induction into the armed forces before younger ones are called."

At the present time, men are being reached for induction between 21½ and 22, as a national average. In Minnesota, the average age of involuntary induction is about the same as the national average, Col. Barrows said.

Social Security Benefits Often Lost by Delay

Some people under 65 with severe disabilities lose social security benefits because they delay too long in applying, according to Clifford Kittelson, manager of the Grand Forks district of the Social Security administration.

To qualify for disability benefits a person must meet the following conditions: He must be under age 65; he must have worked under social security at least fve years out of the last 10 before he became disabled; and the disability must be long-continuing and so severe that he is able to do little, if any, gainful work.

Mr. Fahlberg of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Marshall County ASC Offers Fall ACP Practices

Seeding for Vegetative Cover, Stubble Mulching Cost Sharing Available

Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, stated that sign up will be taken for fall practices beginning July 13. Anyone interested in seeding a winter cover crop or stubble mulching should sign up at the Marshall county ASCS office in Warren.

Practices eligible for sign up at this time are: D-1—Seeding three pecks per acre of oats, barley or rye or one peck per acre of flax for vegetative cover for winter protection from erosion. A good stand must be obtained this fall to protect the area in the fall and winter and must be maintained until spring. None of the growth may be harvested for hay or seed. The flax seeding must be made by August 15 and rye seedings must be made by June 15, 1965: Cost-share payments are: 50 cents an acre for oats, and $1 per acre for barley, rye or flax.

E-1—Stubble mulching must be carried out on land from which small grain crops or flax have been harvested. A stubble mulch must be maintained by performing tillage operations which will leave sufficient crop residue on the surface or mixed in the upper part of the soil to provide protection against wind and water erosion. Cost-share is 50 cents an acre.

Dahl reminds all farmers that are interested in either of these practices that they must sign up the practice before it is started. He also urges all farers in Marshall county to take part in some form of winter cover program for their crop land.

(Warroad Pioneer)

Two boys and a horse came out on about even terms with a car in a collision at the Jack Story corssing southeast of Warroad Monday afternoon.

The horse was badly hurt and had to be destroyed. The car was badly damaged, probably a total wreck. The boys were both hurt. William Knight suffered a broken left ankle and bruises and cuts on his face and head. The other rider on the horse, Gary Fish, suffered a sprained knee, bruised shoulder and hip and cut ankle. Both were admitted to Warroad Hospital following the accident.

Low County Gets Watershed Loan
(Roseau Times Region)

Approval of a $113,500 FHA Watershed loan to Lake of the Woods county to alleviate flooding and to provide surface drainage for agricultural land within the watershed, was announced last week by the USDA. State FHA Director Arthur Hansen said this is the first such loan in the state.

The watershed loan funds will be used to help finance a program of channel improvement and land treatment measures which will reduce the flood water, erosion and sediment damage and provide adequate drainage outlets to farm and woodlands of Lake of the Woods county adjacent to Zippel Bay.

Approximately 52,000 acres of land, which includes 90 farms and the vil... of Williams, will benefit through removal of flood danger and increased production from farm and forest lands, the news release declared.

Home Demolished, Smashed by Truck
(Mahnomen Pioneer)

The Everett Darco home, located near TH No. 31 at the east edge of Mahnomen, was almost completely wrecked when struck by a truck in an unusual accident early Saturday evening. Fortunately, the Darco family was not at home at the time, and an equal stroke of luck saw none of the four occupants of the truck injured.

The mishap was investigated by the Minnesota Highway Patrol and Sheriff Rudy Tupa. Officers said that a truck driven by Bernard Clark, 29, rural Mahnomen, was traveling west toward the junction. The truck first struck the rear of a car, also traveling west, driven by Peter Blaeser, 62, Mahnomen.

Following this impact, officers said, the truck left the road. It then went through the south ditch, over a hedge in the Darco yard and struck the Darco house at a point 250 feet from where it left the road. The impact knocked the house off its foundation.

Officials placed a preliminary estimate of damages to the Darco home at approximately $5,000. The impact of the truck, in knocking the house from the foundation, twisted the frame. The interior of the house was a shambles as most of the furniture was tipped over or tossed around.

Absent Students Costly to School
(Gonvick Leader-Record)

Students who stayed home, because they had to "Help" their parents, proved to be costly help last school term in Gonvick. It might have been a saving, if such wss the case, to hire qualified out-of-school help. Superintendent Tatter figured the effect of loss in aids to the school district because of student absences and has discovered that school taxes would have been reduced by a whomping 24.5 mills if there had been no absences. Last year's school non-ag levy was 140.77 mills.

Loss to the district due to student absences amounted to an average of 38.1 pupil units. In money this was $2,317.50 in the elementary department and $9,455.40 in the high school department for a grand total of $11,772.90.

Include Us In

When you talk about the apathetic group of Americans that take their freedom for granted, include us in with the group. We completely forgot to comment editorially in Wednesday's edition about Independence Day—an observance most basic to our American way of life.

The day has now passed, and perhaps it is just as fitting to make mention of it at this time. It is a time for reflection—to look back and recall how we observed the birthday anniversary of our nation—to remember if we gave appropriate tribute to our flag and our country.

We would also like to commend the American Legion and auxiliary for their encouragement of bellringing to further note the observance. Bell-ringing and flag-waving are not old-fashioned. Our country has its problems, but is a great nation—and it deserves any tribute we can give it.

Which Came First?

Advocates of socialism—the fore-runner of communism—fail to recognize the danger of human frailties. Writing in Newsweek magazine, Henry Hazlitt presents an interesting insight into the workings of our free enterprise system:

"A popular argument of the industrialization-at-any-cost advocates is that it is impossible to point to a purely agricultural country that is as wealthy as 'industrialized' countries. But this argument puts the cart before the horse. Once a dominantly agricultural economy becomes properous (as the early United States) it develops the capital to invest in domestic industries and therefore rapidly becomes a country of diversified production—both agricultural and industrial. It is diversified because it is prosperous rather than prosperous because it is diversified.

"It is the great supersitition of economic planners everywhere that only they know exactly what commodities their country should produce and just how much of each. Their arrogance prevents them from recognizing that a system of free markets and free competition, in which everyone is free to invest his labor or capital in the direction that seems to him most profitable, must solve this problem infinitely better."

There Are Differences

Published by the Republican National committee in Washington, D. C., is a small pamphlet entitled, "The Choice Is up to You." It cites nine essential defferences between Republican and Democratic party philosophy. The views expressed are, of course, those of politically biased people.

In spite of this slanted opinion, however, the pamphlet does point out basic differences between the country's two major political parties. It is nice to know that these differences do exist, at least in theory, particularly at this time when it is becoming increasingly difficult to tell representatives of the two parties apart.

It is no secret that we have leanings toward the Republican theory, since we believe it to be the most closely associated with the principles upon which our nation was founded and has grown and prospered. We quote from "The Choice Is up to You" several excerpts which point out some basic differences in party philosophy:

"The Republicans think and act in terms of the individual American citizen and believe in a form of government which enables the most people to do most for themselves. They trust you. The Democrats think and act in terms of masses, classes and blocs and aim to serve people directly from Washington. They tell you. The Republicans believe in providing us with the greatest possible incentives to do things for ourselves and the Democrats say in effect, 'Sit down and we will bring it to you.'

"The Republicans believe in a balanced budget and a reduction in the national debt, and are prepared to demonstrate that this can be done with a reduction in taxes and with a sound, prosperous and growing economy. They seek to preserve the purchasing power of the dollar at home and respect for it abroad. They believe that a government big enough to give you everything you want is big enough to take away everything you have.

"The Republiens believe in a very minimum of government intervention in labor disputes and in protecting the rights of collective bargaining, but when the public interest is importantly involved, they believe in meeting the issues head-on, with restrictive legislation as a last resort. In other words, they believe in exactly what Democrats promise but conveniently forget until crisis demands a policy of expediency, delay and last-minute intervention.

"The Democrats, from the very beginning of the New Deal, have persisted in tinkering with the American farm economy, imposing quotas, setting prices, buying up surpluses and constantly adding to the bureaucratic burden of the tax-payer while at the same time worsening the market position of the farmer and the buying position of the consumer. Republicans believe that this is probably the sickest part of our economy today and one which can be improved only through a gradual return to the basic laws of supply and demand under which our producers of food and fiber can operate on a basis of self-determination, rather than as wards of the federal government."

We believe that these issues, slanted as they may be, should be determining factors in individual opinion—whichever side an individual may choose. Now, if only the elected representatives would adhere to these principles, the voting public would have little difficulty in choosing leaders. Voting for the man without voting for the party can be detrimental to our two-party system.

A Fine Line

Called to our attention recently was an item from the Des Moines, Iowa, "Register", noting a fine imposed on National Dairy Products corporation which had been convicted of violating anti-trust laws. The corporation was accused of conspiring with other dairies, named as co-conspirators but not defendants, of selling milk below cost to destroy competition.

A fine of $380,000 was imposed on the company and a former vice president of the corporation was also fined $52,500 and given three-month suspended jail sentences on each of three counts against him. The item was reproduced in a publication of the National Farmer's Organization (NFO), apparently to show that the air is not so pure around the dairy industry as some people would like to have us think.

The dairy industry's many phases are operated by humans and being human they are likely to commit errors in good judgment, just as other humans are not always perfect in their dealings and intentions. This is not to condone the price-fixing tactics of the corporation mentioned, but rather to note that one case of illness does not necessarily indicate a plague.

We can't quite understand the difference between a charge of price-fixing against the dairy company and the path the NFO plans to follow to accomplish its stated goals. If the NFO seeks to gain control of enough production so that it can dictate the price which a processor must pay for the raw material, how is this more right than a company selling milk below cost to consumers in the apparent hope of gaining control of the market? The line between right and wrong must be exceedingly fine.

A Crushing Blow

Justices of the U. S. Supreme Court have dealt a crushing blow to rural America in their majority-rule decision that all state Senators and Representatives should be elected on a basis of population. The loss of representation for rural areas would be unfortunate, and the control invested in the federal government would become greater—not an attractive situation by an means.

Not only the rural areas are revolted by the Supreme Court action, however, as evidenced by editorial opinion in the Ft. Lauderdale (Fla.) News. In part, the editorial states:

"Once again the 50 states of this nation have been given a vivid illustration which clearly shows that, as far as the U. S. Supreme court is concerned, the doctrine of States' right no longer exists. This time the "nine old men," who are rapidly assuming the status of a dictatorial legislative rather than a judicial body, stuck down one of the last remaining barriers to virtually complete control of all governmental processes by our massive federal government structure.

"By decreeing that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to a population basis, the Supreme Court has established a precedent of almost unbelievable impact on all of our state governments.

"The supreme court certainly cannot argue that the national Congress is apportioned in such a manner that every citizen of voting age has equal representation. Yet, the high court, by its own peculiar interpretation of the Constitution, now seeks to force the individual state to conform to a legislative apportionment formula which the men who drafted our Constitution deliberately avoided in creating a national legislative body.

"Even more importantly, in arriving at this decision the Supreme Court ignored the fact that this same Constitution clearly and unmistakably limits the powers given to the federal government only to those specifically mentioned and that all other powers reside in the individual states.

"This is the states' rights doctrine which the present Supreme Court has been in the process of throwing on the ash heap for the past 10 years. This court apparently does not believe in correcting our written Constution by the amendment processes outlined in that document itself.

"Instead, it brings about the changes it desires by making new interpretations of written laws by which these laws can be made to conform to what the justices think they ought to be rather than what they are.

"In this process the Supreme Court is arbitrarily setting itself up as a dictator rather than an equal and limited partner in the governmental system established by the Constitution, and if the trend isn't soon reversed we'll soon have a judicial monarchy on our hands instead of the constitutional republic our fore-fathers envisioned."

Pennington county 4-H Leader's council met Monday evening to make final preparations for the county fair, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl Pennington county home agent. Paul Furuseth gave a report on the program for 4-H night of the fair. More acts were requested to make a more varied program. Conrad Kvamme of Ada will present two 10-minute acts and act as master of ceremonies of the program.

Work schedule and menu for the county fair cafeteria was handed out to the 4-H leaders. There have been changes made in the running of the cafeteria, as well as menu changes, Miss Offerdahl said.

Mrs. Ernest Swanson reported for the fair grounds improvement committee. Demonstrations this year will be given in the 4-H building. Home economic demonstrations will be given on the stage and the agricultural demonstrations will be given in the north room.

The committee felt there should be large posters on the outside of the building giving the demonstration schedules. There should also be a junior leader posted at the entry of the demonstration area telling who is demonstrating and what tye of demonstration is being given in each area. Those volunteering to help with fixing up the fairgrounds are Oliver Haugen, Ray Oen, Fred Mantel, Carl Lindblom, Harland Knutson, Benhard Wold and Vernon Wold.

4-H club members were reminded to have their fair entry blanks and their dress revue cards in the office immediately. Titles of demonstrations should be in the office by July 16.

A fall festival will be held this year. These appointed to serve on the committee are Barbara Wold, Kathy Wysoski, Florence Arneson, Mark Bruggeman, Peter Furuseth, Wayne Ptacek, Mrs. Si Hanson and Don Bruggeman.

Drivers are needed for winners receiving state fair trips this year. Anyone attending state fair and having room for passengers should contact the extension office. 4-H members were encouraged to participate in Farm Safety Week on July 19-25. This is the time for clubs to conduct their drives and to reduce accidents.

Three boy campers are needed for state fair. Nominations are needed in the extension office by July 9. That evening the awards committe will select the campers. All their expenses are paid by the state. IFYE applications are due in the state office 15.

Sewing project members were reminded that the best seam finishes are "turn under and stitch" or "pink and stitch". Standard report forms are due August 7. They will be judged in Crookston the following Tuesday. The Dairy Day financial statement was given and compared to 1963.

Pennington county state fair demonstrations are based on two factors: (1) county 4-H enrollment reported on June 1 and (2) participation in county oral demonstration contest this year. According to the enrollment, Pennington county has six. One demonstration for every 15

Langen Files for Fourth Term As U.S. Congressman

Says Campaign Will Be Based on Record of Service and Experience

Congressman Odin Langen, six-year veteran Republican Representative from Minnesota's Seventh District in Washington, today filed for his fourth consecutive two-year term.

Langen, who mailed his filing statement to the secretary of state in St. Paul said his decision to seek a fourth term was based on many expressions from people who believe the Seventh District needs the continued seniority and service of an experienced representative in Washington.

"I have heard from people all over the District," said Langen, "both by letters and through personal visits. They have been most encouraging and complimentary, and it is with great optimism that I enter the campaign for re-election. I share our people's concern over falling farm prices and economic distress in northwestern Minnesota and it is heartening to know that the citizens of the seventh district recognize that these situations would not exist today if the majority party in Congress had listened to our warnings and suggestions five years ago."

Congressman Langen, Minnesota's only voice on the powerful House Appropriations committee, said his campaign will be conducted entirely on a constructive, factual level. "I will campaign on my record of service to the people of the Seventh District," he said, "and invite every citizen to inspect that record, confident that it will warrant your continued favor and support.

Langen said he did not know exactly when he would be in Minnesota to actively campaign. "It will be my purpose to be back in Washington after the current recess and remain there until Congress adjourns," he said.

At Aquacade Pageant

Diane Ellenson To Seek Queen Crown

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of interview features on candidates for the Miss Aquacade title in the Miss America Preliminary pageant to be held Saturday, August 1, at the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Designing of her own clothes and compiling scrapbooks on her activities are hobbies for Miss Diane Ellenson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ellenson of rural Warroad. Diane will be one of eight candidates for the title of Miss Aquacade at the 10th annual Jaycees Aquacade August 1 in Thief River Falls.

Diane is a 1964 graduate of Warroad high school where she was a member of the band and chorus and Snow Prom queen. She is five feet, five and one-half inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, has light brown hair, blue eyes and a 34-21-35 figure.

For the past five years Diane has played snare drum in the Warroad high school band and for four years has sung soprano in the high school choir. She is also a member of the Zion Lutheran church choir at Warroad and has served as secretary of the church Luther league.

Designs Own Clothes

With a flair for clothing design, Diane has designed most of the clothes in her own wardrobe. "I usually take several patterns and use parts of them or change them until I get the effect that I want," she said. She designed the evening gown which she will wear for that phase of the competition in the August 1 pageant.

Dramatics have also been part of Diane's busy high school career, as she was a member of the junior and senior class play casts. In addition, she was a cast member of the one-act play which won sub-district and district competition and was runner-up in Region 8 competition in 1963. She has also participated in high school speech contests.

Snow Prom Queen

A year ago she was Snow Prom princess at Warroad high school and last year was queen of the event. She took art in the school operetta and minstrel show, has modeled for the J. C. Penney company's spring fashion show and modeled for company promotional advertising in Roseau.

Employed as a waitress at Cal's restaurant for the four past summers, she plans to attend Rogers and Banner School of Cosmetology in Minneapolis this fall and when she reaches the age of 21 to become an airline stewardess.

Youngest In Family

Youngest in a family of eight children, Diane has three sisters, including twins, and four brothers. Her sisters include Mrs. Jack (Margie) Isaacson of Roseau, Mrs. Roger (Jean) Christian and Mrs. Harold (Joan) Bakke of Warroad. Her brothers include LaVerne and Kenneth of Warroad, Richard of Boston, Mass., and Donnelly, who is living on the home farm.

For her talent presentation at the pageant she is planning a dance number.

Langen Plans To Visit in District

Congressman and Mrs. Odin Langen set out Monday on a brief tour of the Seventh Congressional district before leaving for the Republican national convention in San Francisco. The Langens will attempt to cover as much of the 23-county district as possible before flying to the convention on Sunday.

"It will be impossible to visit every city and town in a week," Langen said; "but we will attempt to see as many people as possible in that limited time."

The House of Representatives in Washington has recessed and will re-convene July 20. The Langens will return to Washington after the convention to be on hand when the Congress takes up the remaining business of this session.

APPEARING at the Pennington county fair on Sunday, July 26, for a full hour of musical entertainment beginning at 2 and 8 p.m., will be the Browning Family show. All 10 members of this family — six pretty sisters, two little brobers and their parents—combine their talents to form a unique band. Throughout the show the sisters sing, dance and play six accordions and three marimbas together, while their brothers fill in with comedy and fast drum solos. The show promises a mixture of comedy and musical ability which is said to be highly entertaining. The fair will be held Thursday, July 23, through Sunday, July 26.

Legion Juniors Score Two Wins This Week

Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team opened its week's schedule by scoring a pair of "on the road" wins on Monday and Tuesday, defeating Grand Forks in a Northwest American Legion league game. On Thursday evening a doubleheader with Stephen will be played on the fairgrounds diamond; and on Friday another doubleheader, with Argyle and Fertile providing the opposition, will be played on the fairgrounds diamond.

Coach Ralph Skay's local club edged out coach Marv Skaar's Grand Forks juniors, 12 to 11, in a game played in the municipal park diamond in Grand Forks on Monday night. After Grand Forks, for the fourth time during the game, had overcome a Thief River Falls lead in the bottom of the sixth inning, taking a 10 to 9 lead, the locals, on John Aune's three-run triple, tallied three runs in the seventh, to take a 12 to 10 lead. Grand Forks, making a strong bid to continue their winning streak over the locals, added a run in the last half of the seventh to pare the lead to 12 to 11.

Tony Poole, although touched for 10 hits and doling out 10 walks, went the route for the locals. Grand Forks used three pitchers against Thief River Falls, with Jerry Hebert, Alex Cooley and Bob Skaar doing the hurling, with Skaar being the loser.

In a Northwest league game played at Warroad on Tuesday evening, the locals, with lefty Pat Fischer giving up but one hit, defeated the Warroad juniors, 7 to 2.

The locals picked up a pair of runs without a hit in the second inning on walks to John Aune and Wayne Smith, a muffed fly ball, a hit batsman and an error. In the third, on Paul Klungness' triple and Aune's sacrifice fly, coach Skay's squad added another run for a 3 to 0 lead.

Warroad broke into the scoring column in the fifth inning on a walk to Dave Hallett, a stolen base and an error. And, after the locals had scored a pair of runs in the sixth, on a walk to Smith, a sacrifice and singles by Karl Poppenhagen and Billy Poole, Warroad notched their final tally. A walk to George Ganyo, an outfield error, an infield out and a sacrifice fly by Dumais, tallied the run.

The locals added another pair of runs in the seventh inning, utilizing a walk, a fielder's choice, a wild pitch and a single by Poppenhagen, with Aune and Smith carrying the runs across the plate.

Fischer gave up but one hit, a single to Dick Heppner in the first inning, walked three and struck out six batsmen.

For the all-women Mostue's team, Myrt Wilson had a 22-5, Yvonne Hedlund a 15-10, Carol Stenseth a 14-10, Pat Ball an 11-10 and Julie Mattson a 13-10.

Crookston Golfer Wins Region Title

In a match which required one extra hole to decide the winner, Greg Klein of Crookston won the Region 2 Jaycees junior golf tournament held Monday at the Thief River golf club. Keith Spindler was chairman of the event.

Klein fired a 37-39 to finish in a first-place tie with Bob Stordahl of Thief River Falls who shot 35-41 for an 18-hole total of 76. Both bogied the first play-off hole but Klein birdied the second hole to close out the match. Dennis Helberg of Moorhead finished in third place with an 80.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Could Get Interesting

When Times' editor Marv Lundin lined a home run over the tennis courts in right field in the eighth inning of the Bridgeman's vs. Bea's Food Market softball game on Monday evening, breaking a 2-all tie and giving the Bridgeman's the win, the league race became interesting.

The loss, which was the second of the year for the Bea's brought the league-leaders within reach of the Vets, and perhaps the Bridgeman's and the Hartz teams. Should be some exciting evenings in store for the softball fans as the city league moves into its closing weeks of the schedule.

The Bridgeman's were very, very fortunate to come out of Monday evening's game with a win, for the game should have been closed out in the seventh, with Bea's the winner, 2 to 1. The Bea's held a 2 to 1 lead moving into the top half of the seventh inning, and with pitcher Wiley Bogie hurling steady ball, it appeared the Bea's would be the winners.

With one out in the top of the seventh, John Drury drove out a single. Drury was forced at second on Gary Klungness' ground ball to shortstop. Klungness stole second, and when the catcher's low throw skipped into center field, Gary headed for third base. Marc Selness made a hurry-up throw to third, with the ball bounding past the bag and to the fence. Klungness took off for home and about twenty feet from the plate tripped, and crawled the distance on all fours to score the tying run.

With two men away in the top of eighth, Lundin pulled a high pitch into right field for the game-winning home run.

The Bea's made a last-inning effort to get back into the game in their half of the eighth when, with two men out, Bogie drew a walk and Selness beat out an infield hit. But the Bridgeman's veteran hurler, 38-year old Bob Carlson, forced Ken Noreen to ground out, third to first, to end the game. (Bob is't quite 38 years-old, but with a birthday due next month or so I'll call him a young 38-year old).

The Bridgeman's and the Hartz Stones have an outside chance of getting into the league championship race, but the Bea's and the Vets will have to lose another game before this happy event can occur. The Bea's have but three games remaining on their schedule, with Hamm's Beer, Rasmussen Insurance and Thorp Loan on the slate. The Vets, with two postponed games to be played, have five games on their schedule, and a pair of these games are with Bridgeman's.

The league playoff will start on August 3, with single eliminations paring four teams out of the playoffs by August 6. The double elimination finals will start on August 10.

At Long Last

The local American Legion baseball team broke a six-year losing streak to the Grand Forks juniors by scoring a 12 to 11 win over Marv Skaar's North Dakota club on Monday evening. And it wasn't an easy victory for as coach Ralph Skay states, "We won the ball five times and lost it four times." The fact that the locals held a one-run lead at the end of seven innings of play is what counts.

In those six years, the local juniors have come up with some strong games against the Grand Forks juniors, but until Tony Poole's route-going job on Monday, the locals were unable to get into the win column. Last Thursday evening's game here against Grand Forks was typical, with coach Skaar's club winning on a home run by Gene Storbakken, 3 to 2. That game could have gone into extra innings, and, with a break or two, could been a win for the locals. But Grand Forks always, until Monday evening, seemed to be able to come up with the big play (they had a pair of double plays here on Thursday) to insure a win. It's fine to report the score of Monday evening's game, 12 to 11, for the local juniors.

Duck Population In State Down From Last Year

Spring Survey Reveals Decline During Nesting Season of 12 Per Cent

Minnesota game and fish division reported today that the annual spring survey has revealed a decline from 1963 in the number of ducks present in Minnesota for the nesting season.

A decrease of 21 per cent was noted in 10 selected counties while state-wide aerial counts indicated an average decline of 12 per cent. Reductions in the breeding populations were noted on southern, west-central and northwestern Minnesota. Increases were recorded for central and northern areas.

Ground surveys showed a 43 per cent decline in blue-winged teal, a 10 per cent increase in mallard, increases in ring-necked ducks and somewhat fewer redhead and canvasback. Aerial counts recorded no change in the number of mallards, increases in redhead and canvasback and decreases in pintail, shoveler and ringnecks.

There was some indication that nesting success may be higher this year than last. However, heavy rains and cold damp weather in June may have had an adverse effect on survival of newly hatched ducklings.

Water conditions were reported good over the state with southern, western and northwestern Minnesota having an abundance of water.

Surveys on selected study areas varied, some showing increases and others decreases in the duck breeding population. Later surveys will be made to determine the success of the hatch in Minnesota and the number of ducks that will be available to hunters when the season opens in October.

These figures, together with the results of surveys in other states and in Canada, will be used by the Federal Fish and Wildlife service to predict the size of the fall migration flight.

Minnesota Ranks 17 in Number of Licensed Drivers

1,860,707 Licenses in Force in 1963; More Than 93 Million in U.S.

Minnesota ranks 17th in the number of licensed drivers in the nation, according to a report by the U. S. Bureau of Public roads. The state also ranks 17th in population.

During 1963, 1,860,707 licenses were in force in Minnesota, the report said, out of a total of 93,667,928 in the nation. In addition, 149,351 learner permits were issued by Minnesota in 1963. The state ranked 10th in the number of permits issued.

Minnesota ranks 16th in the number of motor vehicles registered, with 1,707,037 out of a national total of 81,557,060. California, New York, Pennsylvania, Texas and Ohio are the leaders in both categories.

Alaska has the lowest number of licensed drivers and registered vehicles in the nation, with 105,877 licenses in force last year and 89,412 vehicles registered.

The states issue driver licenses for varying periods. In 23 states they are good for two years, in three states for one year and in 11 states for three years. In five states, including Minnesota, they are good four years, and eight states have varying periods.

Bemidji Listed As Snuff Capitol In Magazine Story

According to an article in a national magazine, the title of "snoose-dipping capitol of the world" goes to Bemidji. This information is contained in a feature story entitled, "Snuff...Tobacco With A Soul" by Evan Hill, appearing in the July issue of "True" magazine.

Bemidjians consume about 3½ tons of snuff each year, the article states. This averages out to more than two thirds of a pound per man, woman and child, or about four times the national average.

The article traces the whereabouts of the many devotees of this smokeless form of tobacco in accounting for the 33 million pounds sold in America last year.

It proceeds to tell of the considerable favor snoose enjoys among farmers, hunters, fishermen, lumberjacks, miners, oil workers, military men and others at work or play in locations where smoking is either hazardous or inconvenient.

Wichterman Tells Fosston Legion About Courage

Will Be Needed in Nation To Accomplish Lasting Peace, Candidate Says

"Courage in battle and in principle that characterized America in the past will have to be even more alert if this generation is to accomplish lasting peace," Ben Wichterman, DFL-endorsed candidate for Congress in the Seventh district, said in a Fourth of July speech to members and visitors of the American Legion Post 114 in Fosston.

"As each generation has sought to build its step in the climb for a higher goal, each step has been more difficult, but each step has been accomplished," he said.

Courage on the battlefield and courage of conviction in defending the principles of freedom and justice required great sacrifices by past generations, he said. "We will need this kind of courage as we build our step for peace."

Wichterman, former state legislator, linked the accomplishments of former generals George Marshall and Douglas MacArthur on and off the battlefield in illustrating courage in war and in conviction.

The struggle will not be easy, Wichterman said, as "it takes faith and conviction to contribute more than half of our taxes for defense and world peace. But victory could be peace for all the world."

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

Don't spend your money on that preparation "absolutely guaranteed" to grow hair on a balding head advises the Minnesota State Medical association. Hair treatments claiming to prevent or cure baldness have been around for hundreds of years, says the association, and the one thing they all have in common is that none of them could grow a hair.

The most common type of baldness is "male pattern baldness" which accounts for about 95 per cent of all baldness. The association says it progresses slowly for several years as the hair follicle gradually degenerates and finally produces a colorless hair only a few millimeters in length.

There are no known drugs, remedies or "magic cures" for this type of baldness, and it is considered permanent and incurable. The exact cause, says the association, is not known, but sex, age and heredity are involved. Therefore, if Dad's hair is getting a little thin on top he'd better grin and bear it.

There are other types of baldness but most of these are temporary. Diagnosis by a qualified physician is needed to determine the cause of hair loss in these cases, and if treatment is required the doctor will prescribe it. So don't waste your money on treatments to regrow hair. They don't work.

The "hair and scalp specialists" (as the hair quacks like to call themselves; often use "before-and-after" pictures of persons who have suffered from one of the temporary forms of baldness. This is a shady gimmick to attract gullible persons. The deceit lies in the fact that the hair on the persons pictured would have regrown without the treatment "recommended" in their advertisements.

The association says that in spite of action by government agencies and campaigns by health and consumer organizations, advertising for worthless hair preparations and devices continues, and the public spends huge sums of money on them each year. The association urges you not to fall into this group.

Whitney Flails McCarthy Vote on Senate Pay Hike

U. S. Senate candidate Wheelock Whitney said this week he is shocked by Sen. Eugene McCarthy's vote Thursday to increase his own salary by $7,500 per year.

"It is unbelievable that our junior Senator, who has hidden behind the cloak of fiscal responsibility when voting against aid to college students, should vote to increase his own salary now—at the exact time that the fiscal year is ending with a huge deficit of 8½ million. When the administration is asking business and labor to 'hold the line' on wages and prices, how can a Senator justify a 30 percent pay increase for himself?" Whitney asked.

"He has now voted himself a total salary of $30,000 per year," Whitney said, "to put himself in the top one per cent income bracket in Minnesota. The increase alone is more than three times the average per capita personal income of Minnesotans."

"It will be interesting to hear the Senator's excuses when he returns to Minnesota," Whitney said.

Speed Laws Are Aired by Dep't.

Minimum Speed Posting Confusing to Motorists

Many Minnesotans apparently are still confused by "minimum" speed postings on various segments of the state's highways, according to the Minnesota highway department. The department has received numerous questions concerning posted "minimum" speeds.

Any speed below the posted minimum is prima facie evidence that the speed is not reasonable or prudent and that it is unlawful, under Minnesota law. The 1963 legislature gave the highway department authority to erect the "minimum" speed limit signs following engineering and traffic studies.

Purpose of minimum speed limit postings is to eliminate slow moving traffic on high speed highways. On a freeway, for example, a motorist travelling at 30 miles per hour in a 65 mile per hour zone will create serious traffic conflicts and unnecessary hazards.

Questions have also arisen over "maximum" speed limit postings. The 1963 legislature enacted legislation giving the department authority to post maximum speeds and provided that any speed in excess of the posted maximum is unlawful. There is no room for argument if a motorist is apprehended for going over a maximum speed limit.

Posted speed limits in urban districts are alyays maximum speeds, and any speed in excess of posted or statutory speeds is unlawful.

Dividend Voted By Federal Land Bank Directors

Board of directors of the Federal Land Bank association of Warren has declared a dividend on capital stock outstanding May 31, 1964. The dividend paid to 870 members will total $18,635.70, according to Harold Sorensen, manager of the FLBA.

The association initiates and services loans for the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul in Marshall, Kittson, Roseau, Pennington and Red Lake counties and now has more than $5,100,000 in long-term real estate loans outstanding.

Money used for making land bank loans is obtained by the sale of bonds in the investment markets of the United States.

"In framing a government, which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty lies in this: You must first enable the government to control the governed; and in the next place, oblige it to control itself." —Alexander Hamilton

A Case In Point

An interesting comparison was made in a recent editorial in the Chester, S. C., "Reporter". For what opinion it may arouse it is reprinted here:

> "Even while farm program costs soared, the farm population dropped about 13 per cent to 13.8 million. With about $7.7 billion of our tax money poured into the program in the last fiscal year, it figures out that per capita costs of the program now stand at about $558. On a family basis—figuring four to the family—this would be an average of more than $2,200 per farm family in the country.
> "Despite such whopping allocations to our farmers, most of whom labor long and hard and have substantial land and equipment investments, government officials sometimes talk about the poverty that exists in rural America. This has its interesting aspects, as often the same people who defend this farm program turn around and contend a little federal money would eliminate poverty in other areas of our national life."

About Taconite

Information provided by the Citizens Committee for the Taconite Amendment indicates that Minnesota has much to gain from passage of the proposed amendment. We are inclined to agree that passage would be of benefit to the state's economy, although we are not fond of making changes in the state constitution.

However, as the taconite committee indicates, unemployment on the iron range creates a $6 million annual drain on the state's unemployment compensation fund. Fewer and fewer dollars from iron ore are going into the state's educational fund and the northeastern Minnesota market for farmers, food producers, service companies and other business is shrinking steadily.

While iron ore supplies of high quality have been depleted, Minnesota is estimated to have enough taconite to manufacture 60 million tons annually for more than 300 years. Taconite is available in other states and Canadian provinces, and we must act now in Minnesota to do our best in meeting competition.

Because of the increasing demand for high-grade taconite, the iron industry plans to increase capacity now. It is in the process of building plants to fill the demand for taconite pellets for the foreseeable future. Three companies are committed to build in Minnesota more than half a billion dollars in new plants, employing some 5,000 additional workers, if the taconite amendment is passed this fall.

The amendment assures the taconite industry its taxes will go up no more than taxes on other industries in the state within the next 25 years. Direct and indirect tax income from the present taconite industry in Minnesota now exceeds $5 million a year. Tax revenue will increase as the industry expands.

People who do not vote for the amendment will in reality be voting against it. Under Minnesota law, a constitutional amendment must be approved by a majority of the people casting a vote for any office in an election.

A Slanted Story

When the "CBS Reports" television program was presented on June 10, the topic of the show was "Murder and the Right to Bear Arms". Not being addicted to television viewing, we missed seeing the program. According to the National Rifle association and many NRA members, the show was a miserable failure in an attempt at objective reporting.

In a letter written to the NRA, a New York NRA member stated: "In my view this was a very unfair presentation on the subject of gun ownership and use in the United States. The very title of the program ....strongly suggests that CBS did not intend to present both sides of a complex matter. The visual presentation was largely a kaleidoscope of short film clips very pointedly edited to convey the impression that small-arms were really unessential, and that those who sold them and those who used them were mostly weird and indifferent."

In commenting on the television program, the editor of the "American Rifleman", NRA's official magazine, states: "We now see that it was naive to believe that millions of law-abiding gun owners (the real subjects of this report) would be entitled to a fully balanced presentation of meaningful facts ....From every standpoint, 'Murder and the Right to Bear Arms' was a notable example of slanted and colored reporting."

Another NRA member called the editor of the "American Rifleman" on the night of the broadcast and said: "I only hope that CBS Reports gives a better presentation on some of the other vital issues that it treats than it did to this one. If they don't, then they are responsible for me reaching some pretty poor conclusions."

The right to keep and to bear arms is guaranteed in the Constitution. An unarmed citizenry is at the mercy of armed hoodlums or, in advanced stages, state police, federal troops or government militia. Our constitution was written by men familiar with what happens in a nation where citizens were denied the right to be armed. We think they were better informed than a TV producer who was disillusioned by an unfortunate assassination.

Exhuberant Youth

There should be some red faces around a number of places in the nation following riots resulting from exhuberant Fourth of July celebrations. Taking part in the riots were groups of predominantly college students whose celebrating had little to do with Americanism or patriotism. Their actions were disgraceful at best.

According to Associated Press reports of the riots, all involved youngsters had been drinking. One sheriff described a crowd of 5,000 to 10,000 beer-drinking college students as being "like a keg of dynamite waiting for something to set them off".

Americans will likely pass off the riots to the tune of "kids will be kids." We have a tendency to forgive and forget. The 200 persons arrested at five places mentioned should be a reminder, however, that lack of restraint results in mob violence.

Youths participating in the riots should have been old enough, and bright enough, to know better. Had they been taught anything about Americanism and the significance of Independence Day, their actions might have been different. At any rate, if they have sufficient intelligence when in a more sober condition, they should be highly embarrassed by their misconduct.

Was It Suicide?

There are those who claim that Sen. Barry Goldwaters' vote against the Civil Rights bill in the Senate was politcal suicide. They say that it will cost him the chance to run for the nation's most prestiged position — that of President of the United States.

As much as the Arizona senator has sought the GOP endorsement, and as much as he would like to be President, he has apparently put first things first. Even as the front-running candidate for endorsement, his primary duty is to the people of his state as U. S. Senator. He believed parts of the Civil Rights bill were wrong, and had enough courage of his convictions to vote as he felt right—public opinion notwithstanding.

We cant' help but feel a tinge of admiration for an individual who says what he thinks, votes as he feels right and doesn't attempt to be all things to all men. It is unusual, to say the least, to have a man with these characteristics turn up on the political scene—particularly seeking the highest post in the land.

There is another attribute which Goldwater has that merits consideration. He has made his decision to run for the Presidency early and has actively campaigned for the position. Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, who is now considered Goldwaters' prime opponent, has been guilty of shuffling his feet until the race was underway. From this standpoint he is not deserving of equal consideration.

Sen. Goldwater has a tendency to act impulsively, and he has been criticized for it. Sometimes, however, it is better to act on impulse than to procrastinate or not act at all.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"It is said of administrative law that no way has yet been discovered for carrying out modern governmental functions without the exercise of discretionary power. When discretionary power is granted to an administrative agency of government, there has been a delegation of legislative authority by the legislative body. Congress, in enacting laws, generally speaks in broad terms. The interpretation of the law is left, largely, to the administrative agencies, which 'fill in the gaps'. As a result, a law as passed by the Congress is not the law which will confront the citizen on the street."

"It takes a bad shake from Mother Nature, like last year's drought, and it takes Mother Nature's smile, like last week's rains, to make us feel how utterly dependent we are on things we can not control as men. Call it the jet streams, the air flow, a quirk of nature, or call it God, but the fact is that many of us are not masters of our fate and are keenly aware of our dependence on Somebody Up There Who Likes Us."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Two counterfeiters with a stupid engraver found themselves with a quantity of $18 bills — not $10 as planned. They headed for the country and talked a crossroads storekeeper into changing one of them. "How do you want it?" he asked. "Would two sevens and a four be okay?"

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—What is meant by "release of liability to the government?"

A—It means that the government will not attempt to collect from the veteran if the purchaser defaults on the loan and VA pays a claim under the guaranty.

Q—What basis does the VA use to determine if it will release a veteran from liability?

A—The purchaser must qualify from a credit standpoint, the loan must be current and the purchaser must assume all of the obligation of the veteran on the loan.

Q—Can a veteran with a VA direct loan be released from liability?

A—Yes, he may be released from liability under the same conditions as a veteran with a guaranteed GI loan.

Q—A veteran's spouse signed the note when the GI loan was made. Will she also be released from liability?

A—Yes, if the veteran is released.

Q—Is there any cost to the veteran involved in obtaining a release of liability from VA?

A—The cost of a credit report on the proposed purchaser must be borne by either the proposed purchaser or the veteran. Also the cost of recording the Assumption of Liability Agreement and Release must be paid by the veteran or the purchaser if recording is necessary.

Q—A veteran purchased his home with a first mortgage loan insured by FHA and a second mortgage loan guaranteed by VA. Will VA release the veteran from liability on the second mortgage if he sells his home?

A—Yes, if the conditions for release are met and the first mortgage loan is current.

Q—Does a veteran have to get VA's consent to sell his property if GI loan is not being paid off?

A—No, he does not need VA's consent to sell his property. If he wishes to be released from possible liability to the government, however, he must apply to VA.

Q—Does a veteran have to get VA's approval of a prospective purchaser?

A—No.

Q—If a veteran is released from liability to the government but his original loan remains on the property, can the veteran's guaranty entitlement used on this loan be restored?

A—No, it may not be restored because the government continues to be liable.

Q—Will the fact that a veteran is receiving cash, in addition to the purchaser assuming liability on the loan, keep him from obtaining a release of liability to the government from VA?

A—No.

STRANDQUIST . . .

Kasprowicz-Kleinwachter Nuptials Spoken at Florian

Before an altar graced with red roses and white carnations, Miss Theresa Kaprowicz of Stephen became the bride of Laures Kleinwachter of Strandquist in a double ring ceremony at Assumption Catholic church in Florian on Saturday, June 20th. Rev. Father Datko officiated at the 10:00 a. m. high mass, with Mrs. A. L. Rominski at the organ, who accompanied the church choir as they sang the wedding hymns.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stefan Kasprowicz of Stephen, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kleinwachter of Strandquist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of nylon taffeta and lace with an overskirt of satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, which had long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a sweetheart neckline. Her veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of miniature pearls. She carried a streamer bouquet of American Beauty red roses with white carnations.

Miss Evelyn Kasprowicz of Thief River Falls, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while Miss Leona Kasprowicz of Thief River Falls also a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both wore identical street length dresses of pink nylon over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted lace bodice and long lace sleeves. Their head peices matched their dresses and were worn with short veils. They carried streamer bouquets of red roses and white carnations similar to the brides bouquet.

Best man was the groom's brother, Eugene Kleinwachter, of Dickenson, N. D. and the groomsman was another brother Leland Kleinwachter of Strandquist. Men of the bridal party wore white dinner jackets, and each had a deep pink carnation boutonniere.

Ushering were Frank Kasprowicz, brother of the bride and Darwin Knutson of Viking, a friend of the bride and groom. The ushers and the fathers of the bride and groom wore dark business suits with carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kasprowicz wore a blue taffeta lace dress with white accessories. Mrs. Kleinwachter wore a silk blue flowered dress with white accessories. Both mothers had corsages of red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The Kasprowicz home was the setting for the wedding reception, attended by about 100 guests. The threeptiered white square wedding cake was decorated with red roses, and featured a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Thomas Kasprowicz, godmother of the bride, cut the wedding cake. At the guest book was Miss Beatrice Kasprowicz, cousin of the bride. Servicing the gift table were Mrs. Harry Adamski, sister of the bride, and Miss Beatrice Kaprowicz.

Waitresses were Miss Linda Taylor of Grand Forks, N. D., Miss Grace Hjelle of Newfolden, friends of the couple and Miss Kay Kleinwachter of Strandquist, cousin of the groom.

For the past three years, he has been employed by Ralph Hirdsten of Stephen. In February of this year, he entered the U. S. Army and is presently stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. MAIN STREET, U.S.A.

BY BERT MILLS
Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

President Lyndon B. Johnson's consumer crusade is now more than six months old and thus far the results are more satisfactory to businessmen than to consumers.

This is a strange turn of events. When Mrs. Esther Peterson was elevated last January from assistant secretary of labor to special assistant to the President for consumer affairs, housewives applauded and businessmen shuddered.

The ladies, or their official spokesmen, were delighted to have their own representative at the elbow of the President. This was a recognition of housewives never before granted by any President. At last there was a person in a position to do something about the complaints people have against manufacturers, retailers and those in the service trades.

The business reaction was less evident but just as strong. Trade associations sent warning bulletins to their members, noting that the President had promised Mrs. Peterson and her aides "will be vigilant to keep consumers informed so that they are not completely at the mercy of those who exact unfair prices or levy unfair charges."

Two Regional Conferences Held

After assembling a small staff, Mrs. Peterson's first move was to plan a series of regional conferences. The first was held in St. Louis in April and the second at Salt Lake City in June.

The sites were hand-picked by Mrs. Peterson, the first because it was the home territory of a leading consumer spokesman, Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan (D., Mo.), and the other because it was Mrs. Peterson's own home town.

From the beginning, Mrs. Peterson had made it plain she did not intend to crusade against business. She did seek certain reforms in business practices and passage of certain legislation opposed by many businessmen, like the so-called "Truth-in-packaging" and truth-in-lending" bills.

She welcomed cooperation in the regional conferences. Again the alarm was sounded by trade groups — "watch the St. Louis conference." Business responded nobly, swelling the attendance to over 1,000.

Some executives even brought their wives to be sure the panel discussions were not completely dominated by anti-business agitators, many of them from college faculties. Business was indeed well represented at St. Louis.

The Chamber of Commerce of the U. S., which had stimulated much of the business attendance at St. Louis, reported in its summary: "This conference was not harmful to business, unless one considers that the mere conduct of such a government-promoted conference is provocative of a less-than-friendly consumer sentiment toward business."

Business Gets Top Billing

Then came the Salt Lake City meeting. This time the government planners found the local sponsors so active that Washington had little hand in planning the conference. Mrs. Peterson was not even th principal speaker, yielding top billing to a business spokesman, Richard H. Holton, assistant secretary of commerce.

Again business turned out in force and there were 700 present instead of the 400 expected. A single corporation had an employee in 11 of the discussion groups. The result was an even-handed exchange of views. Consumers aired their pet peeves against advertising and marketing practices and businessmen explained why they do what they do. Nobody got excited.

Government planners complained privately that not many new ideas had been put forth. Aides to Mrs. Peterson admitted to doubts that the regional gatherings were attracting converts to the consumer cause. Business representatives at Salt Lake City were more pleased with the outcome than consumer leaders.

That is where matters stand, with two more regional meetings ahead. Neither the packaging nor the lending bill is any closer to Congressional passage than they were months ago. Chances are heavily against enactment this year, despite White House support.

"The campaign of America's homemakers against sharp practices and unwarranted price increases" which President Johnson began when he appointed Mrs. Peterson is hardly setting the nation on fire.

Experience is what keeps a man who makes the same mistake twice from admitting it the third time around. —Terry McCormick savers and homeowners look ahead...get ahead

THE FIGURES HERE tell a story of growth, but there's another story behind that story. It's all about how people with an eye toward the future work in partnership to make plans become realities.

Many of those plans call for safe, profitable saving—the kind that ordinary people with ordinary incomes can do. Small amounts put away regularly for generous earnings and compounded growth. Or larger amounts invested in one lump sum for extra income and a fluctuation-free principal. Here savers find the profit, safety, and convenience they want in a savings program.

People with home-owning plans get low-cost, practical help here, too! Our home financing programs, made possible by savings funds, enable even families of modest means to enjoy the pleasures and security of home ownership. This worthwhile use of savings dollars generates earnings for savers... creates a better community for all of us.

If you're looking ahead to financial progress and home ownership, there's a place in our story for you. Why not stop in soon and get in on the happy ending?

A NEW LIBRARY is being constructed for Knox school. Shown here are book shelves being built in one end of a large room on the school's first floor. This is one of the main remodeling projects being carried out in the city's schools during the summer's vacancy. Work is being done by Ranum Construction Company.

It's A Busy Vacation . . .

School Maintenance is Summertime Project

by Jim Wills
Times Reporter

Maintenance and administrative work has shifted into high gear at the city's four public schools this summer, as preparation for fall's influx of students is under way. Eighteen men—17 full-time and one employed for the summer—are on the custodian payroll, according to George Erickson, chief custodian.

Jobs done by the maintenance workers include painting, refinishing desks, washing and refinishing floors, repairing roofs and ceilings, repairin electric motors, mowing lawns and repairin furniture.

Full-time custodians employed include Floyd Borgen, Leonard Helgeland, Lindet Miller, Robert Ortloff, Maynard Waldron, Marvin Johnson, Robert Hendrickson, Ray Krohn, Lloyd VeVea, Ray Ortloff, Douglas Olson, Floyd Johnson, Alfred Olson, Neary Louze, Frank Schmitz, Leslie Paetznick, Clayton Molstad, Clare (Nicky) Carlson, Ralph Dowers and Samuel Honebrink. Carlson is in charge of bus transportation and Dowers and Honebrink are mechanics. Lawrence Brown, Lincoln high school science instructor, is hired for summer work.

In addition to other duties, each custodian cleans an average of 10,000 to 15,000 square feet of floor space each day. Three types of materials are used in floor construction in most schools—terazzo, wood and asphalt tile—and Thief River Falls schools have all three types.

Praises Terazzo

In explaining the relative merits of the three types, Erickson said that terazzo costs more than asphalt tile to install, but is about three times more economical to maintain. Since labor is the main item of expense, he said, terazzo is far cheaper in the long run. If given reasonable care, it will last through the life of the building, whereas asphalt tile will need replacement at least in part in about 15 years.

Countless man-hours are saved by the use of terazzo, Erickson said. Asphalt tile must be scrubbed and waxed at least once a month, hereas terazzo is gone over only once a year, and then only a seal is used.

Fine quality hardwood is becoming more and more expensive, and wooden floors tend to warp and buckle and must be varnished at least twice a year to be protected from wear. It is rarely used in new schools today except in gymnasiums and shops. The local gymnasium floor is sanded and given a special seal about every five years.

Office Work Continues

Along with maintenance work, much office work is done during the summer. Scheduling for fall starts in the spring, according to Richard Edlund, senior high school principal. Students are given a registration sheet in the spring on which to show what courses they intend to take the following fall. This gives an idea of the size of classes in each course. Then classes are scheduled acording to room and instructor. The entire process takes about eight weeks during the summer, Edlund said.

Supplies Ordered

In charge of bookkeeping and ordering of supplies is Mrs. Anne Yon. Most supply ordering is done during the summer, Mrs. Yon said. She compiles requisitions from elementary, secondary and vocational schools in the city, which she obtains from principals who in turn receive them from teachers.

Mrs. Yon quoted figures from her financial records which reveal the cost of operating the city's schools. Salaries totaling $885,116.50 were paid to 200 persons on the school payroll last year. Other figures include $47,000 for instructional supplies, $13,000 for textbooks, $84,000 for library expenses, $8,700 for office supplies, $141,338.41 for operation of plant, $18,895 for rent, $76,962 for food, $10,810 for community services, $20,882 for attendance and health, and $69,082.42 for janitors and bus drivers, contracted services and insurance.

BEAMING from behind her desk in the Lincoln high school main office is Mrs. Howard Helum, secretary to M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of Thief River Falls public schools. School office workers, like the maintenance personnel, have their work cut out for them as the school system prepares for the school term beginning September 8.

CLEAN FLOORS are always desirable, but are sometimes difficult to maintain. Be that as it may, hard-working custodians like Marvin Johnson and Lloyd VeVea, shown here, are well-equipped to tackle the job. Many classrooms receive this treatment as often as once a month. The target for the operation shown above is room 43, Washington school.

Browning Family Will Appear at Fair Here

Appearing in two performances at 2 and 8 p. m. Sunday, July 26, at the Pennington county fair in Thief River Falls will be the Browning Family show. This family of six beautiful sisters, two little brothers and their parents produce a full hour of musical entertainment, according to Jon Metusalem, secretary of the Pennington County Fair association.

Throughout the show the sisters sing, dance, and play six accordions and three marimbas, while their brothers fill in with comedy bits and novelty instrumentals. Mother and Dad join in to produce unique and thrilling band sounds. Music includes the latest pop tunes, lively Dixieland jazz and imitations of the big names of the past—Clyde McCoy, Wayne King, Tommy Dorsey or Henry Busse.

James Milhelland of Ohio called them a "tremendous success" and "largely responsible for the unexpectedly large turnout we had in the arena at the Hutchinson, Kan., State Fair." Herbert Hoffman of the Royal Order of Jesters says that "the Browning family gave us one of the finest shows that it has been our pleasure to witness." And Jerry MacDonald of the Red River exhibition in Winnipeg points out that "they are not only excellent performers, but wonderful personalities, too."

"The Brownings have appeared in 14 of the United States and have made several appearance in Canada. Grandstand audiences at many state fairs and hundreds of county fairs have been completely thrilled by this fabulous group. They are always in demand for conventions, club dates, promotions, and special occasions, and have appeared on hundreds of TV shows throughout the Mid-West," Metusalem said.

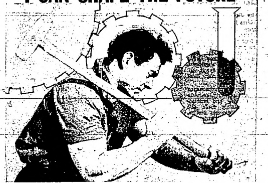
I CAN SHAPE THE FUTURE



When I watch the stone mason at his trade . . . then I'm sure I can shape a stone. If . . . I had the right tools! If . . . I could apply just the right driving force!

But my stone always splinters, shatters.

It should be easier to shape the future. Tomorrow seems so formless, so pliable.

Yet there are so many tools. Which to use? So many kinds of force, of power. Which will shape, not destroy, my hopes?

I am realizing fast that the vital tools must be spiritual. My Church is training me to understand, to use them.

And centuries of Christian heritage convince me that the driving force ought to be spiritual. A Power that flows from God . . . is grasped by faith . . . and in the reverent hands of dedicated men will shape — rather than shatter — tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

The Republican national convention gets under way in San Francisco on Monday, and on Monday, August 24, the Democrats will do their nominating at Atlantic City. The Democratic convention will be a friendly meeting, there being no doubt as to who will be nominated for the presidency, and the presidential nominee probably will select his running mate for the vice-presidency. There of course will be much speech making.

The Republican meeting is likely to be a stormy session, with only an outside chance that it will end in harmony. That I believe is fortunate for both the party and the country.

The party's chances for victory in the coming election are anything but good, and, actually, the Republicans, based on the party's record over a period of years, do not deserve to win any more than do the Democrats. We have had several decades of bad government, for which the Democrats are mainly responsible, but for which the Republicans are also responsible because of their failure to resist that which obviously was unsound.

Over a period of years there has been a steady decline in Republican party strength. A Gallup poll in 1940 found that 42 per cent of the people classified themselves as Democrats, 38 per cent as Republicans and 20 per cent as Independents. A recent poll finds that 53 per cent of the people now classify themselves as Democrats while only 25 per cent call themselves Republicans, and 22 per cent are Independents.

The increased strength of the Democrats is understandable. Starting with President Franklin Roosevelt, who incidentally campaigned against Hoover because Hoover was a spendthrift, the Democratic party has been the party of Santa Claus. It has been the give-away party, the party of reckless spending and irresponsible fiscal policy. Proving this conclusively is the record of steadily increasing debt, with the present debt limit at $321 billion, and, according to competent observers, this debt limit will have to be raised again next year to meet the commitments already approved. And adding to the proof is the steadily declining value of the dollar, now estimated at less than 38 cents.

As a party the Republicans have been shamefully lax in their resistance to this trend. The Republican party has become a me-too party, going along with the reckless spending as long as their cities received a reasonable share of the spoils. There have been notable exceptions within the party, one of them being our own Congressman Odin Langen, who, time and again, has voted for common sense and good management, but too often he was a member of a minority in his own party, the party that should have spoken up for sound government based on sound conservative principles.

I am satisfied that we need two parties under our system of government, one of them liberal and the other conservative. Both of them should be strong, and, as long as they were strong, we wouldn't need to worry about the lunatic fringes on the extreme right and the extreme left.

But in recent years our Republican party has not been a conservative party, and it therefore has degenerated into a party that commands the respect of only a minority of all of the voters. At our state level, the leadership of our Republican party has been pathetic, and that probably is the condition that prevails in most of the states.

Our leading newspapers have been corrupted by the same influences. They have been so eager to get their community's share of the spoils that they no longer dare to express an honest, independent opinion on political questions. Our own Twin Cities is an example of what this corrupting influence has brought to many of our large cities. Our Twin Cities no longer have a conservative press. Both in St. Paul and in Minneapolis the newspapers are cheering for Santa Claus. I can remember back to the time when both the St. Paul and the Minneapolis newspapers were debt-shy, and thought we should live within our means.

This, I believe, is the real background behind the Republican convention that meets in San Francisco on Monday. Senator Goldwater seems to have enough of the delegate votes to assure his nomination. But in matters of this kind there are no certainties. The unexpected may happen.

I like Senator Goldwater mainly, I suppose, because he comes closest to expressing my views of what the Republican party should be. He, along with all of the other candidates in both parties, has shortcomings. But taking these shortcomings into consideration, I believe he is the best qualified of all of the candidates in both parties, to be our next president.

His chances of being nominated as the Republican standard bearer appear to be very good. But his chances of being elected to the office he seeks are not good. And I am sure he recognizes this fact. Nobody hates Santa, and of course, the youngsters still believe that Santa and his goodies come for free.

And so, summing it all up, I am satisfied that Goldwater is the type of candidate who will best serve the interests of the Republican party and, ultimately, the best interests of the nation. As a candidate, talking common sense, he probably will not be elected to the high office he seeks. But by his campaign for good government he may help to elect a Congress that will come closer to having its feet on the ground than those that have misrepresented our best interests in recent years.

DRAINAGE ditches, such as the one at this crossroads, were filled with rapidly-flowing water after Thursday afternoon's downpour in the Plummer area. This particular ditch, located five miles northwest of Plummer, was not equal to the task, and water flowed over the built-up road on its way to the Red Lake river.

Whitney Files For U.S. Senate Thursday Morning

Wayzata Mayor Opposes Sen. McCarthy for Seat In National Congress

Wheelock Whitney of Wayzata filed as a GOP candidate for the United States Senate Thursday morning, and told a press conference at the Capitol immediately after, that the day was a doubley important one for the Whitney family.

"It was on this day, July 9, 114 years ago, that my great grandfather, Ephraim Whitney, first said, "Pioneering was a new way of life for Ephraim Whitney but he worked hard at it and he was successful. Running for the United States Senate is a new way of life for me; but I'm working hard at it and I expect to be successful."

Whitney said he expected to be successful because, "The people of Minnesota want a hard-working Senator. They want action, not excuses. From now until November this campaign is going to pick up momentum. I intend to take the issues to the people—in language which is plain. The people of Minnesota have a right to know why the junior senator has failed to go to work for Minnesota."

Final Painting And Repair Set At Fairgrounds

Final painting, clean-up and repair at the Pennington county fairgrounds will take place on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1 p.m., according to Jon Metusalem, secretary of the Pennington County Fair association. Actual staging of the annual county fair will be July 23-24-25-26.

Much of the painting and other work was accomplished by volunteers several weeks ago, but a considerable amount of work needs to be done. More volunteers are desperately needed for Saturday's labor session, Metusalem said, and anyone with a paint brush, ladder and a few hours to spare will be given a hearty welcome. Coffee will be served during the afternoon.

The fair association is depending upon volunteer labor and individual initiative to put the annual exposition back on its financial feet. Operation of the fair has been adopted by the new association following dissolution of the Pennington County Agricultural society, founder of the county fair.

Senator Maruska Speaks At Lions Meeting Monday

Junior College Topic Of Discussion; Mention Made of Reapportionment

Thief River Falls Lion's club met at the Elks club rooms Wednesday for their regular dinner meeting. President Ralph Luhman opened the meeting with introduction of guests and new members, and turned the meeting over to Wendel Olson, program chairman.

Olson introduced State Senator Harvey Dale Maruska from Angus who reviewed the history of the junior college situation up to the latest developments and progress. Sen. Maruska urged an easy-going approach to the junior college and not to get involved in situations through words and actions to endanger Thief River Falls' position.

Sen. Maruska pointed out to the group the lower priority position of northwest Minnesota. He said that even though people in northwest Minnesota don't agree the greatest need for additional college facilities is in the Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area. The Iron Range country is second and northwest Minnesota is next, he said.

Sen. Maruska also went on to say that until the State junior college board selected a site that there was little to do, but if Thief River Falls should be chosen, the next step is up to Thief River Falls. The city may be called upon to provide temporary facilities and should not expect any definite results until the fall of 1966. He did say that if cooperation in providing facilities and if money and staff should become available, it might be possible to have a college by the fall of 1965. His main emphasis was the willingness of a community to give extra effort to the project.

Sen. Maruska stated that he is sure that there is no conflict between the proposed technical school at Crookston and the proposed junior college for this city.

In conclusion, the senator spoke on the reapportionment of the state and the results that it will bring to affect the state. He mentioned that the U. S. Supreme Court in its actions approved a decision to reapportion all states on a population basis. Thus the rural area would again stand to lose valuable representation.

Persons interested in the granting or refusal of the petition to vacate the refuge will be given an opportunity to express their opinions at the hearing.

Rural T.R.F. Couple Hurt In Accident

Ingebrigt Dyrdals Injured Sunday in Crash West of City

Mr. and Mrs. Ingebrigt Dyrdal of rural Thief River Falls are reported in satisfactory condition this morning in Northwestern hospital following a two-car accident Sunday morning. This mishap occurred about 9:30 a. m. five miles west of Thief River Falls on highway 1 which is under construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyrdal were traveling east on highway 1 and attempting a left turn into the Norden Lutheran church yard when their pickup was struck by a car driven by Louis Carpenter of rural Thief River Falls and attempting to pass the Dyrdal vehicle.

According to the Minnesota highway patrol, which is investigating the accident, the Carpenter car remained on the road but the Dyrdal truck spun around on the road and went into the north ditch. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dyrdal were thrown from the pickup which came to rest on its side in the ditch. Rescuers from the church lifted the pickup to free Mrs. Dyrdal who was pinned underneath.

The Dyrdal's attending physician told the Times this morning that Mrs. Dyrdal had suffered a head laceration and a fractured pelvis and that her husband had sustained multiple bruises. None of the four occupants of the Carpenter car were injured. They included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carpenter, Bruce Schill, 20, and Curtis Carpenter, 11. The highway patrol estimated total damage to the two vehicles at about $350.

This year the fair association is ready for rain which has been known to dampen previous performances. In the event of rain, Saturday and Sunday shows will be held in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Painting and repair bees have been held at the fairgrounds to put the buildings in the best condition they have been in recent years. Auto parking on the grounds will be 25 cents while grandstand admission will be one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children.

SUNTAN SAFETY

Q. Is there a way to tan safely?

A. Gradual exposure to the sun is the safest way to get a tan. For the average person the first exposure should be 10 to 15 minutes—less for easy-to-burn skin. This can be increased a few minutes each day. The tanning process can be given a boost by certain drugs which, however, should not be taken without medical supervision. So, see your doctor if you have special "sun" problems.

BODY TEMPERATURE

Q. Does body temperature stay the same during summer and winter?

A. Yes. Body temperature is kept at normal levels, regardless of the weather, by a built-in heat regulator or body thermostat. There is, however, one exception—the Australian aborigine. These naked little people live in an area in which the air temperature drops from 90 degrees during the day to just above freezing at night. Strange as it may seem, the body temperature of these primitive people falls as much as 4 degrees at night. Their skin temperature often drops as low as 13 degrees below normal.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. E. O. PETERSON

If you aspire to being "the hostess with the most-est" (time for your guests, that is) here's an idea to help you along. This prepare-it-ahead-and-keep-it-warm entree is deservedly called "Chicken Supreme." And it's so easy! With a garden-fresh salad, hot rolls, and an airy dessert...voila! Madam is ready to entertain anyone from VIPs to her next door neighbor. The combination of chicken and spaghetti is such a happy one, yet I confess to never having tasted it before.

Mrs. Peterson admittedly loves entertaining, and we prevailed upon her to give us just such a recipe—a bit on the unusual order, and yet a last minute time saver.

Bone about 6 chicken breasts. Place between layers of waxed paper and flatten slightly. Season with salt, pepper, and Accent (MSG). Flour lightly. Saute in butter until nicely browned, then remove from pan and keep warm. Pour 2 cups cream into the pan, and add 1 tablespoon onion juice. Work juice into the cream. ....

Meanwhile, cook 1 medium package of thin spaghetti according to package directions. Drain. Toss with butter, and about a tablespoonful of onion juice. Make a bed of this in a large pan and place chicken on top. Pour over it the cream sauce. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. If you wish to keep this warm for later serving, turn oven to low setting and cover the dish to prevent the juices from evaporating.

Mrs. Peterson is a newcomer to the city (she arrived here in October), but is already absorbed into its life. She is director of the hospital auxiliary, a member of the Friends of the Library, and of the local Business and Professional Women's club, and the OES. She is a past-president of the American Legion auxiliary, having served as state president. She was also national committeewoman for that organization; in public relations work for four senators at the state caitol, and for 12 years worked for the U. S. Treasury Dept., serving as deputy director and area manager in 51 Minnesota counties. She gave up her career last year when she and Mr. Peterson were married.

Mr. Peterson is chairman of the board of Union State Bank, was an organizer of and has been treasurer of the Thief River Falls Foundation since its inception, is a member of Rotary International and of the Elks lodge and golf club, a Shriner member of OES, and American Legion.

They are voracious readers, as time permits, also Izaak Waltonites. And Mrs. Peterson, when she has time to indulge in hobbies, paints in oils, and adds to her collection of bells.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

President Johnson covered a lot of ground in his recent week-end visit to the Twin Cities and he made many promises. He no doubt is one of the most promising presidents our country has had. It is difficult to reconcile the fact that Lyndon Johnson's party is the party that was the party of Hamilton - by name only, of course. Hamilton, our third president, was a strong defender of states' rights, a leader in the opposition to the Federalists who favored stronger central government. President Johnson on the contrary, is a strong advocate of centralized power at the federal level and much less self-government at the local levels. That is the general direction we have been moving in during the past 30 years, and during the past three years the momentum of that trend has steadily increased.

In terms of the buying power of our dollar in 1928 our dollar now is worth less than 38 cents. During the 10 year period from 1953 to 1963 that buying power dropped 11 cents. When President Roosevelt took office our national debt was down around the $20 billion mark. Congress recently increased our debt limit to $324 billion to take care of our immediate needs, and, if we continue to pursue that course, that limit will have to be raised again next year.

And who will be hurt most if our dollar washed out completely as the German mark washed out at the end of the first World War? The good citizens who have saved for the needs of a rainy day, or old age, and their savings and wealth are in the form of dollars. And that is the end of the road which we are now approaching, after thirty years of "liveral" government.

Unfortunately the Republican party is also saturated with liberalism under the direction of a spineless leadership at both the state and national levels. We do have a conservative faction within the Republican party, but the Republican party is no longer a conservative party, and that is unfortunate. We do not need two liberal parties and we have already had too many years of liberal leadership.

In his talk in Minneapolis, President Johnson boasted of how much had been done for the farmers under the Democratic administration since 1961, stating: that farm income was up and:

> "—the farmer has been rescued from the desponency and despair of the 50's after years of neglect."

The farmers will be glad to learn, I am sure, of how well they have been taken care of during the recent years. Maybe the President was referring to a few individuals like, for instance, Sol Estes. He did not go into detail however.

In referring to the Civil Rights law, he did admit that it might take a little time to make it really effective, but he looked forward to its early success and said:

> "For once a law is passed, no man can defy it and no leader can refuse to enforce it. If our laws are flouted our society will fail."

I think Mr. Johnson knows better than that. Good laws are being constantly defied and broken, and it is quite likely that they will continue to be, even though they may have great popular support. And laws that do not have great popular support are much more difficult to enforce.

Prohibition can be cited as one law that was not enforced mainly because it could not be enforced, and it could not be enforced, mainly because it did not have strong popular support.

I still believe that for the immediate future the race problem will worsen rather than improve in those areas where there is a serious race problem, with the attempts to enforce the civil-rights law in its present form. We have made good progress in the past without a federal civil rights law and, I hope, that progress will continue, not because of the law but in spite of it.

The DFL party is to be commended for taking favorable action on the taconite tax proposal that has been controversial for some time. The vote on the proposal at the recent state convention of the party was about 3 to 1 in favor of such an amendment. This action had the approval and support of Governor Rolvaag.

That should put an end to a disagreeable argument that had dragged out too long. The failure to act was a retarding influence in the development of the Iron Range country.

As I see it the argument was based largely on misunderstanding. The industry was not asking for any special tax consideration. All the industry asked for was assurance that it would be taxed on the same basis as other industries in the state, and considering the past records of Iron Range communities in distribution, the tax load, the defensive attitude of the industry is understandable.

Minnesota's deposits of direct-shipping, high grade iron ore, are being exhausted. The end is in sight unless new deposits are discovered. The low-grade, taconite deposits have been worthless until in recent years, following the development, here in Minnesota, of processes that convert the low-grade ore to high-grade ore.

And so we have a taconite industry in the state, and with almost unlimited deposits of taconite, this is an industry with a long range future. The important factor that should be taken into consideration in this tax problem is that the taconite operation is a manufacturing rather than a mining industry, converting a worthless raw material into a product for which there is a steadily increasing demand.

The future for Minnesota's Iron Range appears to be brightening.

"To laugh often and love much, to win the respect of intelligent persons and the affection of children; to earn the approbation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to give one's self; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to have played and laughed with enthusiasm and sung with exultation; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived—this is to have succeeded." —Ralph Waldo Emerson

Killing the Goose

Drug manufacturing firms, which spend millions of dollars on research in discovering, perfecting, manufacturing and merchandising drugs, have been fighting a running battle with government interference in the industry. There are risks to the public in the use of drugs, just as there is risk in crossing a street or mowing a lawn.

At present the drug industry is concerned about patent rights once a drug has been discovered, tested and released for sale. George Hagedorn, writing in the N.A.M. "News", has some interesting comment on the situation. His thoughts include the following:

> "In many of the major countries of the world, including the United States, an attack is being mounted on the patent system, which has been the source of so much of the improvement in human welfare. For the moment, the attack is concentrated on patents in the pharmaceutical field, but the same arguments could easily be applied to the whole principle of patent protection.
> "In the words of the United States Constitution, the purpose of patent protection is to "promote the progress of science and useful arts" and the method is to secure inventors, for a limited period, "the exclusive rights" to their discoveries. Compulsory licensing, as now contemplated, is hardly consistent with the concept of a patent as granting "exclusive rights."
> "The basic argument advanced to support such proposals is a humanitarian one—people should not be compelled to pay more for lifesaving drugs than they would pay in the absence of patent protection. This sounds appealing, but it overlooks the question of whether these drugs would have been developed at all without the promise of patent protection. Inexpensive drugs may save more lives than expensive ones, but non-existent drugs will save no lives at all.
> "Patent rights are property rights, in just as real a sense as the ownership of a home or automobile is a property right.
> "Research in the pharmaceutical field is both costly and risky. Huge sums must be spent, with no guarantee that the results will be successful or that it will not quickly be superseded by something even better. Obviously, no firm will undertake such a program if it will have to share its successful discoveries with other firms who bore no part of the expense or the risk."

Faulty Listening

Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, a "Billy-come-lately" in the GOP Presidential race, is creating quite a stir as the Republican national convention opens today in San Francisco, Calif. Gov. Scranton, who carried a "maybe yes, maybe no" attitude about running for the Presidency, now wants to collect the entire pot with his first hand and accuse others in the game of cheating.

The Pennsylvania governor has been so busy talking that he hasn't been doing a proper job of listening. When Sen. Barry Goldwater, a front-line campaigner for the nomination, was quoted as stating he (Goldwater) could not win the Presidency at this time, Scranton apparently missed part of the statement. He has accused the Arizona senator of a "can't win" attitude, but his accusations are unfounded.

Sen. Goldwater offers the American people something Gov. Scranton will not be able to offer—a choice between conservative and liberal philisophies. Sen. Goldwater is also correct in his statement that he couldn't beat President Johnson "at this time"—but it is a long time until November. The senator will conduct a good campaign, just as he has for the endorsement. He built the bandwagon on which Scranton has hopped for a free ride.

We appreciate political candidates who actively campaign for an office "all the way", who speak and vote their convictions without regard for pressure groups and who talk issues rather than personalities. These attributes we have seen in Sen. Goldwater. What we are waiting for is for Gov. Scranton to retract his statements after Goldwater wins the endorsement. The "un-saying" is often more interesting than the early statements.

VFW Loses 1-0 In Extra Innings

Zamolsky Fans 20 Men, Singles In Winning Run

Augie Zamolsky pitched and batted the Kallod Carpet team to an extra-inning 1 to 0, win over the V. F. W. team in an exciting first-round game in the softball tournament played at Grand Forks on Sunday. Zamolsky, with two men out in the top half of the ninth inning and Kallod runners on second and first, drove a ground single into center field, scoring Dal Hertz with the game-winning tally. Zamolsky, who gave up but two hits to the Vets, both by Joey Poole, whiffed 20 batsmen in the nine-inning tilt.

Wiley Bogie, on the mound for the Vets, pitched a steady game, giving up seven hits and proved to be unyielding in runs until the ninth. In the seventh inning, Hertz led off with a three-base hit, but Bogie whiffed Jerry Throndset, retired Zamolsky on a pop fly to second baseman Roy Pederson, and forced leadoff batter Gary Loberg to ground out, short to first.

Playing in the consolation round, the Vets were sidelined by the Seven-Ups of Grand Forks, losing by a 5 to 3 score.

Legion Juniors Have Full Pre-Tournament Schedule

4 Games Slated This Week With Two on the Road

Coach Ralph Skay's local American Legion junior baseball squad will conclude its pre-tournament schedule this week. On Monday night, at 8 p. m., the Fosston juniors will meet the locals on the Fairgrounds diamond; on Tuesday, with game time at 6:30 p. m., coach Skay's squad will meet the Newfolden juniors at Newfolden in a Northwest American Legion league game; on Wednesday the Thief River Falls squad will travel to Detroit Lakes for an 8 p. m. game against the Laker juniors; and on Thursday, coach Ray Kavangh's Roseau juniors will play here, with game time at 8 p. m. on the Fairgrounds diamond.

After losing a Northwest league game to coach Roger Achen's East Grand Forks nine, 9 to 2, at East Grand Forks on Wednesday evening, the locals rebounded to score wins over Argyle and Fertile in a doubleheader played here Friday night, by scores of 14-1 and 13-1.

The East Grand Forks club, behind the steady pitching of Louie Lopez, took advantage of some lack-lustre play by the locals, tallying nine unearned runs to gain a 9 to 2 decision. The East Siders had two big innings, the first, in which they tallied three runs, and the fourth, during which they scored six runs, getting three of the tallies on a home run by Wayne Ostlund.

In the doubleheader played here Friday night, and both games were called after five innings because of the 10-run rule, the locals received fine pitching from veteran Tony Poole and Rick Jensen. Poole limited the Argyle batsmen to two hits—a double by Jim Helberg and a single by Dick Hebert; and Jensen also fashioned a two-hitter against the Fertile juniors, giving up a first-inning single to Jon Lindberg and a fourth-inning single to Rod Olson.

The locals rapped Fertile's Rod Olson for seven hits in the four innings he pitched, with Jerry Erickson having two-for-two and Paul Klungness rapping out a pair of triples and an infield hit in three tries against the former Fertile high school fast-baller.

TRF RECREATION

Park and Recreation Director

Favorable weather these past few weeks has filled our parks to or near capacity. Tindolph beach has had very fine attendance with large crowds daily. Because of this, I would remind everyone that the swimming beach hours are from noon through 9 p.m. The beach is not open any morning to the general public since swimming classes are conducted at this time.

Any boy or girl interested in learning how to row a boat and paddle a canoe should be at Tindolph beach every Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Class instructor is Gary Kelly.

The new combination softball - baseball field at the fairgrounds is now ready for full use. This will be a big asset to our baseball leagues and allow all teams to make up their rained-out ball games. The Midget league will be using this field daily for league play. The Pee Wee league will remain at the east side field.

Softball for girls is now played at 6:30 p.m., at Knox elementary school on Mondays and Northrop elementary school on Thursdays. Girls interested in joining a softball team should report to the field at the designated time. Last Thursday's game was rained out and the girls met at the arena for a roller-skating party. About 25 girls attended.

COMING EVENTS:

Monday evening at 6:30 p.m. girl's softball games get under way at Knox School. All girls age 15 and under who report to the field may take part.

Thursday evening at 6:30 p. m. girl's softball games at Northrup school, with all girls 15 and under invited to participate.

Thursday at the city auditorium at 7 p.m. the archery class will meet briefly, then proceed to the fairgrounds for the archery shoot. The public is invited.

Friday at 9 a.m. the boat safety class meets at Tindolph beach. This class is open to all boys and girls.

Friday at 2:30 p.m. at the east side field a special event day will feature a doll and hobby show for girls. Also Friday at 2:30 p.m. at the Fairgrounds will be baseball field day for boys.

Saturday morning at 9 a.m. the diving class gets under way at Tindolph beach, and is open to any swimmer.

The week's play in the city golf league, which continued to find the Hamm's Beer squad holding first place, was featured by the hole-in-one carded by Dr. A. E. Jacobson. Doc Jake, playing with Frank Tunberg, Elmer Benson and Bob Lund, used a number five iron off the tee on the par three 145-yard fourth hole, and the tee shot, after a couple of bounces, rolled into the cup for an eagle ace.

The Bridgeman's squad of Rudy Mehlhoff, Lloyd Bennes, L. L. Tygeson and Bob Bredeson, moved up into fourth place in the league standings, carding a fine 127-stroke net. For the Bridgeman's, Mehlhoff had a gross 34 and net 28, Bennes a gross 37 and net 32, Tygeson a gross 41 and net 33, and Bredeson a gross 43 and net 34.

Mehlhoff picked off the evening's individual honors, shooting a 34 for the low gross honors, and having a 28 for the low net total.

In Minnesota...
after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Headline Event

The headline event, of course, was the winning of Minnesota state trapshooting title by Stan (Sandy) Wilson. Sandy won the 1964 state title with a score of 199x200, dropping but one bird to edge out the defending Jimmy Higins of Duluth, who had a 198x200.

The state tournament, which was concluded on Sunday, was held at the Twin City-Hopkins Gun Club. Sandy won the title by breaking 100 straight on Saturday as Higgins, who had broken 100 straight on Friday, faltered in Saturday's shooting and missed a pair of targets.

Sandy won the High-Over-all honors in last year's tourney, so the pressure of Saturday's competition wasn't anything new to the University of Texas student.

According to the information that I have, Sandy's win marks the second time that a local marksman has won the state trapshooting title. Back in the early 1900's, around 1916 or '17, Charlie Nason won the state trapshooting honors, but of course in those days the tournament was not as well-organized as at present. And the number of shooters participating in the tournament in these later years is many, many times the number which competed back "in the old days."

And, too, while mentioning Sandy's feat in winning the state title, it is proper to call to mind the record of the late A. F. Jones, who, for many years, was a top-notch competitor in state and national tournaments. And one year, in the national at Vandalia, Ohio, A. F., or Jack as he was called, won the Grand American Preliminary.

But it's congratulations to Sandy on winning the state trapshooting title. Sandy, incidentally, is the high-average gun in the local trap shoot leaue, and last season he led the Bjorkman's Clothing team to the league championship. He carries a 24-plus mark in league shooting to date, and just recently ran off a string of 75 straight.

Note, for the Golfers

I know that it has been mentioned several times previously, but it is perhaps as a word of reminder to state that as of July 1, resident golfers who do not hold a membership in the local golf club may play the course only on Mondays on a greens fee basis. Prior to July 1, resident non-members were eligible to play the course at any time, by paying greens fees.

This restriction pertains to local residents only. Non-residents and visitors are welcome to play the course, on a greens fee basis, at any time.

And it is congratulations to Dr. A. E. Jacobson for the hole-in-one that he scored on Wednesday afternoon during a city golf league match. Doc Jake's tee shot on number four, using a number five iron, found the cup for an eagle ace. Doc Jake joins such golfers as Dr. Myron Johnson, Dr. Orlon Belch, Russ Embury, Fosston's Ed Haugstul, Crookston's Monte Klein as hole-in-oners on number four. And I must not forget the hole-in-one that lefty Phil LeGault made on number eight some years ago.

It Was a Classic

That softball game, on diamond number two in Grand Forks' Riverside Park on Sunday morning, between the Kallod Carpet of Fargo and the local Vets team, developed into a classic. The game carried over into two extra innings before the Kallods, one of North Dakota's top-ranked teams, were able to edge out the Vets, 1 to 0.

And the game, which had a fine crowd of fans in attendance, proved to be a pitcher's duel between a pair of righthanders, Augie Zamolsky for the Kallods and Wiley Bogle for the Vets. And Zamolsky earned the victory as it was his single in the ninth inning, scoring Dal Hertz, from second base, that accounted for the game's lone run.

Zamolsky, a native of Saskatoon, is a student at North Dakota State University. During the nine innings that he pitched, he whiffed twenty of the Vets' batters, retiring the side on strikeouts in the second, third, eighth, and ninth innings. He whiffed every Vets' batsmen at least once, and he set down Harlie Drees four times on strikes and Frank Harger three times. Joey Poole, who struck out in his last time at bat, solved Zamolsky's delivery for two hits, both being hard ground singles past second base.

The Twins at Winnipeg

The Minnesota Twins will play an exhibition game against the Northern league All-Stars in the Winnipeg stadium this evening, with game time at 7 p.m. Doug Tegtmeier and KNOX radio will broadcast the game.

The Twins, after playing and losing a doubleheader to the Los Angeles Angels at Los Angeles on Sunday, flew by United Airlines charter to Winnipeg, and were to arrive at Winnipeg's International field at about 3:30 a. m. Monday. The team was to be quartered in the Marlborough hotel, and following this evening's game the squad will leave by plane for the Twin Cities and the opening of a series against Washington on Tuesday night.

Prichard Bros. Given Contract For Roseau Bldg.

July 14, Rasmussen Ins. vs. Bea's Food Market
July 15, Thorp Loan vs. Bridgeman's
July 16, Hartz Stores vs. V.F.W.

Play in the city softball league will move out to the new diamond at the fairgrounds this week, with Monday evening's tilt between the Hamm's Beer and Thorp Loan being an inaugural game.

In last week's play, the Bridgemans, in an extra-inning game, defeated the league-leading Bea's Food Market, 3 to 2. It was the second defeat of the season for the Bea's.

The Bridgeman's league championship and playoffs hopes were dampened this week when veteran Bob Carlson was hospitalized. Bob, in a water-skiing mishap during a brief visit to Minneapolis, suffered injuries to his chest, and he entered the Northwestern hospital here on Thursday morning. Latest reports are that Bob is resting comfortably, but that he will have to take a "recess" from softball for awhile.

A couple of important games are on this week's slate, with the Bea's meeting the surprising Rasmussen Insurance team on Tuesday evening, and the Hartz Stores attempting to snuff out the championship hopes of the Vets on Thursday evening.

Krazy, Krazy, Krazy-Everyone has gone completely crazy for Crazy Day on Friday. Thief River Falls retailers have gone all out to make this annual selling event a bargain paradise for shoppers.

First event of the day will be the scramble for coins by children 12 years old and under. This starts at 10 a. m. and runs spasmadically until 4 p. m. Also on the program is a crazy German band which is scheduled to play all day, or until members become exhausted, which ever happens first.

In the afternoon, KTRF will hold a crazy auction sale at 2 p. m. in front of the Falls Theatre. Should be a lot of fun for everyone. Evening entertainment will start with a concert by the Municipal-Legion band at the corner of Third and LaBree at 8 p. m. The final event of the day will be a square dance in the street. The dance is free and the public is invited to participate. Special guests for the dance will be a group of Canadian square dancers.

Everything from Christmas trees to automobiles are marked way down for the big promotion. Retailers will be selling items from their sidewalk displays as well as in the stores. Sales personnel will be dressed in costumes for Crazy Day and some of them are way out. As yet there is no indication the topless bathing suit will appear, but then you never can tell.

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has informed this office that they are working on a plan for Crazy Day to get the Red Lake River to flow upstream for this one day. Dick Hamilton, Chamber secretary, reports that the Army corps of Engineers has been very uncooperative along this line. Best of luck, Dick.

Shoppers are urged to come early to get in on the best bargains, but good. Buys will be in evidence all day.

Wichterman, who has received the DFL endoresement, restated his pledge to conduct a campaign "on the issues." He said he will continue campaigning throughout the district "at the same pace that has taken me over 8,000 miles of road since the DFL district convention May 10."

Margo Reopelle Is Queen Candidate

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in aseries of eight interview features on candidates for the Miss America Preliminary pageant to be held Saturday, August 1, at the Lincoln high school auditorium

Among Thief River Falls' four entries in the Miss Aquacade pageant August 1 will be Margo Reopelle, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reopelle of 410 Duluth av. N. An employee of Union State Bank during the summer months, she will be sponsored by the bank in the contest.

Margo is a 1962 graduate of Mount St. Benedict at Crookston and has attended one year at Bemidji State college where she is planning a double major in English and psychology. She is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighs 112 pounds, has dark brown hair, brown eyes and a 34-22-35 figure.

One of the top students in her graduating class at Mount St. Benedict (she was salutatorian), she received an award for knowledge of history from the Polk County Historical society in 1961. Last year at Bemidji State college she received a $150 scholarship from the school in recognition of academic achievement.

Interested in music, Margo studied piano for three and one-half years and also studied voice for one year. While at Mount St. Benedict she sang in the school chorus for four years, was a member of the school sextette her senior year and also did vocal solo work at a number of recitals.

As president of her senior class, she was also class representative on the student council. She served as fashion editor of the school newspaper, "The Dove," participated in the Christmas pageant four years, was in the cast of the operetta, "The Model Bride" in 1961 and in the chorus of the operetta "Maria" in 1962.

While attending Bemidji State college last year she also worked part time for a Bemidji insurance agency, finding little time for extra-curricular activities. Upon completion of her education she hopes to enter the field of clinical or social psychology.

Reading is one of her major hobbies, with historical fiction novels and poetry rating high on her list of favorites. She also enjoys swimming and skating as participation sports and also does a bit of sewing as a hobby. Margo is at home in the kitchen where she likes to cook and bake, claiming she comes by it honestly since her mother is "a wonderful cook".

Margo has one sister and four brothers. Mrs. William (Joyce) Stright lives in Little Falls, Gerald and Robert Reopelle live in Thief River Falls. Maurice Reopelle is in the U. S. Air Force and will leave soon to serve in Viet Nam. The fourth brother, Gregory, is in the U. S. Army and will return from Viet Nam this fall.

For her talent number at the pageant, Margo will present a soprano solo.

Legion Juniors To Enter Tournament

Defeat Fosston 16-4 on Monday; Meet D. L. tonight

The local American Legion junior baseball team will conclude its 1964 schedule this week, playing the Detroit Lakes juniors at Detroit Lakes tonight, Wednesday, at 8 p. m.; and meeting the Roseau juniors on the Fairgrounds diamond here on Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Ralph Skay's squad will move into sub-district tournament play on Monday night, meeting coach Maynard Ranstrom's Warren Juniors in a first-round game at 8:30 p. m.

In a game played on the Fairgrounds diamond on Monday evening, and which was called at the end of the fifth inning with the ten-run rule being invoked, coach Skay's team defeated the Fosston juniors, 16 to 4.

Tommy Cummings doled out but three hits to the Fosston batsmen, but the visitors gained full mileage out of these hits, scoring four runs. Frank Bakken poled out a two-run double in the first inning, and added a run-scoring single in the fourth inning.

The local batsmen clubbed the offerings of three Fosston hurlers for eleven hits, with catcher John Aune leading the assault with a double and a home run.

Schedule, Thursday, July 16

Ekeren Pharmacy vs. Argyle St. Bank
Custom Motors vs. Bjorkman's Clothing
Wilson Bros. vs. Mostue's Floral

The Thief River Falls trap shoot league continues in a two-squad race for the league championship, with the Times and the Ekeren Pharmacy squads being in main contention. The Times, winners over the Custom Motors in last week's competition, 123 to 116, holds a two-point lead over the second place Ekeren Pharmacy. Times shooters were two birds off a "perfect" score last week in besting the Custom Motors, having a 123 compiled in this manner: Bob Mattson, 24-0; Clarence Mattson, 21-4; George Mostue, 15-7; Marv Lundin, 20-4; and Lewie Helfner, 19-6. The Custom Motors had a pair of "25" shooters in Arnie Johnson with an 18-7, and Walt Fischer with a 24-1.

The Ekeren Pharmacy scored a four-bird win over the all-women Mostue's Floral, 119 to 115. For the winners, Ole Ekeren scored a 20-6, Tony Dorn a 24-0, Ray Thyren a 24-4, Bob Ekeren a 15-7 and Tom Ekeren a 15-8. The Mostue's had Myrt Wilson with a 21-3, Inez Mostue with a 15-10, Carol Stenseth with a 12-10, Pat Ball with a 10-10 and Julie Mattson with a 14-10.

The Wilson Bros. had a 123-bird total as they scored a two-target win over the Argyle State Bank, and remain in third place Peterson, with a 22-3, Marv Skadsen, with a 22-3, and Wally Vagle, with a 23-4, had "25's" for the Wilsons. Stan Wilson scored a 24-0 and Si Schantzen had a 22-2. For the Argyle State Bank, three marksmen scored "25's" with Gordon Olen having a 24-2, Don Omdahl a 19-7 and Dick Omdahl an 18-8. Completing the roster, Reuben Carlson had a 20-2 and Del Lofstrom had an 18-6.

Sandy Wilson of the Bjorkman's had his consecutive string snapped as, after running up a total of 75 straight in league competition, he dropped a bird to score a 24-0 as the Bjorkman's defeated the Coast-to-Coast, 123 to 120. For the winners, Steve Skadsen had a 23-3, Wayne Bendickson a 22-6, Mark Mattson an 18-8 and Armond Kiel a 23-1. For the losing Coast-to-Coast, Ike Hoglin scored a 16-7, George Mackenroth an 18-6, Erling Torgerson a 23-2, Lynn Heibert a 15-8 and Howard Hagen a 24-1.

Here's Sandy's "Book"

Here's a further run-down on the accomplishments of Stan (Sandy) Wilson in last week's state trapshooting tournament in Hopkins. In addition to winning the state trapshooting title, with a mark of 199x200, Sandy made a successful defense of the High-Over-All title that he won in 1963, and he also won this year's High-Allround title. That is a record that the blond marksman can note with pride.

During the four days of competition in the state tournament, Sandy was offered 800 targets, and of these 800 targets he missed but 29 birds. Thirteen of these misses were made in the doubles event on Friday when, on the fifty doubles, he marked up a score of 87x100. Duluth's Bard Higgins won the event with a mark of 98x100.

But to check off the progress that Sandy made in the tourney I'll offer a "bill of particulars": On Thursday, in a preliminary 16-yard shoot at 100 targets, Sandy had a 99x100, which tied for runner-up honors. And also on Thursday, in a 100-target handicap shoot, with Sandy shooting from the 24-yard line, he scored a 95x100, winning third place. On Friday he participated in the doubles, and scored his lowest score of the tourney, having an 87x100. Also on Friday he competed in a 100-target handicap shoot, and, from the 24-yard line, had a 94x100, three birds off the winning mark of 97x100.

On Saturday, in the 200-target state trapshooting singles event, Sandy scored a 199x200, for the title. He had a 99x100 in his first round, and then came in with 100 straight to win.

On Sunday, during the wind-up of the tournament, Sandy, in a 100-target event, and shooting from the 25-yard line, scored a 97x100 to tie for first place.

In the High-Over-All compilations, Sandy, with a 771x800, retained the title he won last year. And, with the doubles event on Friday, the state trapshooting singles on Saturday, and the 100-target handicap on Sunday, he posted a score of 383x400 to win the High-Allround honors.

And now it is on to Vandalia, Ohio, and the Grand American trap shoot. And this year Sandy will represent Minnesota in the Champion of Champions event, wherein the state trapshooting champions from the various states compete.

Apologies to Wally

In my recital last week of the golfers who had scored holes-in-one on the local course (and the list was not complete) I inadvertently forgot to mention the name of Wally DuChamp. The veteran Plummer golfer, who will undoubtedly gain a niche in Red Lake county's "Hall of fame" for golfers, had a hole-in-one on the course here. And Wally has a certified document, displayed prominently in his place of business in Plummer, attesting to the fact that he scored a hole-in-one.

Worth a Dollar Admission

That's what Jack Houfek wanted to charge Dr. Jim Disse and I on Tuesday afternoon for a look at the mess of trout that he had in his car. And it was worth a dollar to look at the 10 rainbows that Jack had in the ice chest. It would have been worth another dollar if Jack had told where he made the catch, but that fact won't be drawn out of Jack for a thousand dollars. To a successful trout fisherman, the knowledge of where the brookies and the rainbows are hitting is more precious than gold.

And these rainbows were of a size, 12 and 13-inchers. Noting a worm can in his car, and noting too, that he was relatively free of wood ticks and did not appear to be mosquito-bitten, Jim and I decided hat Jack had been doing some fishing in a lake that had been stocked with rainbows. He did admit to using a small spinner, so it is possible that he was using a worm and spinner combination. But it was a fine string of trout, that's sure.

Editor Marv Lundin, and family, fished the Pine Island area of Lake of the Woods on Sunday, and reported fine luck, with limit catches being the rule. And acting on Marv's favorable report, I made a hurry-up trip to Morris Point on Monday afternoon, being accompanied by neighbor Ole Ness. And we made limit catches of walleyes, with Ole having his limit in about an hour. We did not go out on the lake proper, but confined our fishing to drifting with the current as it carried past the western point of Pine Island. And I had the experience of catching a smallmouth bass, and that's the first time in the many years that I have angled at Morris Point that I have caught a bass. It wasn't a very big fish, but he broke water and made quite a tussle before he was brought to the net. I released the fish with the hopes that he will grow bigger and bring more of his kind to the Morris Point area. Smallmouth bass fishing, on light tackle, is one of angling's greatest attractions.

But I wonder where Jack Houfek caught those rainbows?

Veterinarians Report Rabies Problem Grows But No Need to Panic

Rabies problem in Minnesota is a matter of growing concern to everyone including health authorities, citizens with children, farmers with livestock and the veterinary profession.

The high point of reported cases in Minnesota was in 1958 when 461 animal cases were reported, after which the number rapidly declined. During the last three years, however, the reported cases have again been increasing and vigilance as well as protective measures are being urged. The count as of June 30 this year was 277, with six months still remaining.

Authorities emphasize, however, that there is no reason for panic and that a common sense program of alertness plus known measures of protection for both people and animals can aid in reducing the hazard.

Apparently rabies will always be a threat because the chief carriers today are found primarily in the wildlife population. Incidence of the disease in dogs and cats is not increasing, probably as a result of increasing immunization by pet owners. The danger arises when livestock and unvaccinated domestic pets come into contact with infected wild animals.

Skunk Is the Real Villain

The disease appears most commonly among skunks and civet cats, which have accounted for more than half the total reported cases of rabies in Minnesota. It has been found that most of the dog cases as well as the cattle and horse cases started from contact with an infected skunk.

One of the peculiarities of the disease in animals is the way it changes an animal's nature before it finally succumbs. Watch for abnormal behavior. For example: A normally timid animal suddenly becomes aggressive and attacks other animals — even horses, cows and people. One farmer in Owatonna was attacked in his garage by a spotted skunk — later confirmed as rabid. He immeditately took the approved course of treatment.

On the other hand an infected wild animal may evidence unusual friendliness, show no fear of approaching people or livestock. This is unnatural and is a danger signal.

Since rabies is a virus that is spread by rabid animals when their saliva enters an open wound, it is important to stay away from animals acting abnormally. It is also extremely important to know what to do in case of exposure to rabies — and to act fast, without delay.

Simple Safety Rules

Veterinarians and health and livestock authorities urge everyone to observe the following safety rules:

1. Be alert for signs of abnormal behavior in wild animals such as aggressiveness or lack of normal fear. Teach your children to stay away from wild animals that seem unusually friendly.

2. Call a veterinarian if a pet or any domestic animal has been bitten or otherwise exposed to another animal showing abnormal behavior.

3. Call a physician immediately if a person is bitten by any animal — including bats and rats. Such exposure is dangerous because the disease is transmitted by saliva.

4. A laboratory diagnosis is needed to determine the presence of rabies in a suspected animal. This means capturing and confining the biting animal according to the instruction of your veterinarian or a representative of the state health department.

5. In rural areas, watch for symptoms of unusual behavior in livestock such as hoarse bellowing, salivation, partial paralysis. There is probably more rabies in cattle than most people realize, and an infected animal must be isolated as soon as possible.

6. Protect your pet dogs and cats by having them vaccinated as recommended by your veterinarian, especially when skunks are present in the area.

Veterinarians report that present vaccines effectively establish immunity in pets. Most hunters protect their dogs by having them vaccinated before the hunting season. These are preventive measures only. Once the signs and symptoms of rabies become evident there is no known cure.

All 650 veterinarian members of the Minnesota Veterinary Medical association are on the alert to meet the rabies problem and are working closely with the state livestock sanitary board and the state board of health in recommended measures of prevention and control.

Plumbers License Exams Are Set For Sept. 14-15

Examinations for the state master and journeyman plumbers license will be held 8:30 a.m. Monday, September 14 and Tuesday, September 15 in rooms 20, 303 and 305 of the agricultural building, University of Minnesota, St. Paul campus.

Examination for the journeyman plumber license will be held Monday, September 14, and the examination for the master plumber license will be Tuesday, September 15. The examinations will be conducted by the Minnesota state board of health.

State law relating to the licensing of plumbers provides that in any city or village having 5,000 or more population, and having a system of water works or sewerage, no person, firm or corporation shall engage in or work at the business of a master or journeyman plumber unless licensed to do so by the state board of health.

Applications for the examination must be filed with the Board of Health by August 15. Write to the Plumbing Unit, 359 State Office Building, St. Paul, for application blanks. Applications will not be accepted after August 15 for the September examination. (Next Examination will be given in March 1965)

No Major Change From Last Year In Grouse Count

Ruffed grouse drumming counts made this spring by state game managers showed no important change in the breeding population from 1963, according to the Conservation Department's game and fish division.

Although the over-all breeding population remained at a low level, the drumming counts indicated a slight increase in the northeast and some of the northern counties. There was a slight decrease in the central hardwood area.

The continued low population level is attributed primarily to the cold winters and less than average snow depths occuring over the past seven years. Some of the northern counties had more snow this past winter but heavy crusts made it difficult for grouse to burrow into the snow for roosting.

In general however, the counties showing an increase in grouse numbers were those in which there were improved snow roosting conditions.

Spring drumming counts continue to prove that the gun has little effect on over-all grouse numbers, the report said. Counts made in areas closed to hunting, such as Itasca and St. Croix parks and the Cloquet Forest Experiment Station refuge, actually showed lower drumming counts this year than the areas open to hunting.

On the Mille Lacs Wildlife Management area, which has consistently high hunting pressure, drumming counts showed some improvement this year. These comparisons of grouse populations in areas opened and closed to hunting indicate that hunting pressure has little influence on the size of the grouse population.

The report explained that the number of birds available to the hunters in the fall varies annually according to the size of the breeding population which survives the winter and the success of the spring hatch.

During the 1963 hunting seasons, 201,000 grouse were killed in the state. The highest kill during the past 20 years was in 1951 when 1,420,000 grouse were shot, while the average kill for this period was 604,000 birds.

Editorials . . .

"This flag, which we honor, and under which we serve, is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. The choices are ours."

—President Woodrow Wilson

Power of Incentive

Russia operates its agricultural program on a collective basis with farmers producing goods for a common pool in return for common goods. The Soviets believe this is ideal, but neglect to recognize that it is human nature for a man to expect return in proportion to his efforts. When there is no recognition for greater effort, there is no incentive to do a better job.

Not very long ago the high officials in the country decided to let some of the farmers keep cows and chickens for their own use and to raise their own crops on small plots of ground. Although only five per cent of the agricultural land in the Soviet Union is in these plots, the results have been significant.

These small plots now produce 65 per cent of the potatoes, 82 per cent of the eggs, 47 per cent of the meat and 49 per cent of the milk produced on all Russian farms. The collective system falls apart when the government does all the collecting and the farmers are pressed into merely doing the work. It is a good lesson for the free world to remember.

Vital Expenditures

We note with interest several comments in the recent newsletter from Rep. Odin Langen, Minnesota's Seventh District Congressman. The tall man from Kennedy, seeking his fourth term in Congress, paid a call at the Times office last week when visiting in the district prior to attending the Republican national convention as one of the state's delegates.

"While I am pleased that appropriations bills have been disposed of in more orderly fashion," Rep. Langen said, "I am not particularly pleased to note that we have appropriated more funds than last year. I still maintain that these budgets could have been cut much further.

"It is obvious that despite the promises to hold spending down to accommodate last year's tax cut, the Administration and Congress have not done so. During this past month we have seen the Congress pass a pay raise bill that will cost $540 million a year, increase the national debt limit by another $9 billion to accommodate more deficit spending and approve over $3.5 billion for foreign aid.

"I not only opposed salary increases at a time when we're running further in debt, but I also opposed the total figure appropriated for foreign aid. While I realize there is a need for international assistance, there is still entirely too much waste and improper use of foreign aid funds. It is ridiculous to spend $16,000 for Metrecal for Cambodia, $10,000 for Airwick deodorant for Turkey, plus a long list of similar items."

The Congressman is right. We would suggest the deodorant be kept at home—for use in the departments that dole out foreign aid funds. We suspect there is a good deal more use for it there.

Now It's Explained

Sen. Eugene McCarthy has been reading his press clippings. In a recent release to the Minnesota press, an enclosed "Memo to Editors" states that, "During the past four months a number of Minnesota weekly newspapers have carried editorials critical of Senator McCarthy's vote against the Hruska amendment to provide beef import quotas."

The memo goes on to state the enclosed news release contains a summary of the actions taken to date by the Senate on beef import legislation. The release notes that the recent Senate finance committee vote recommending beef import legislation was reached "in accord with traditional and responsible procedures of the Senate."

McCarthy is a member of the Senate committee on finance. The commitete bill provides import quotas on beef which closely approximate the average annual imports of beef for the last five-year period. The committee had also asked for a thorough study of the beef situation last November, Sen. McCarthy stated.

"There was every prospect that it (Hruska amendment) would result in the defeat of the (wheat-cotton) bill in the House of Representatives, or at least it would delay action on the wheat program so as to make it ineffective for the 1964 crop," Sen. McCarthy said. "The finance committee bill has been reported on its own merits and without threatening passage of other needed farm programs."

The part of the release that confuses us encompasses these statements by the Senator: "The bill I joined the majority of the finance committee in reporting for Senate action is in substance the same as the Hruska amendment. But the committee decision, in contrast to the hasty action urged by some in behalf of the Hruska amendment, has been in accord with the traditional and responsible procedures of the Senate."

In other words, the Hruska amendment was all right, even if it was hastily presented. The traditional and responsible procedures of the Senate (commonly called procrastination when applied to individuals) served only to delay action and place beef producers in a still more uncomfortable position. And we're not sure the wheat-cotton bill was such a desirable gem of legislation either.

An Eye Opener

Today the Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Resources commission parks subcommittee begins its field trip to northwestern Minnesota. If there are members of the committee who have not visited our area of the state before, they are in for an eye-opener.

Our area of the state has much to offer in the way of natural resources and recreation. While we don't have the crowded beaches, golf courses or ski slopes of the metropolitan areas, we don't particularly want them. Within relatively easy driving distance (and without congested traffic) we have some of the little remaining natural beauty in the state, some of the best fishing and hunting, ample golf and picnic areas and winter sports facilities.

Perhaps one of the most important things which we do have is elbow room—space for expansion of what we have and undeveloped areas which could be improved for greater utilization. This is an enviable position and we should make the most of it.

We don't doubt that some members of the commission will be surprised at what development has been done. No reflection on the commission members, but we are occasionally annoyed by Twin Cities residents who assume that northern Minnesota is somewhere around St. Cloud and that beyond that point lies a profusion of scalp-hunting Indians, untamed wilderness, timber wolves and frontier cabins. Fortunately, there are fewer and fewer of these city-locked individuals whose conception of open spaces is a shopping center parking lot.

People here in God's country have been wondering for some time when the folks down below were going to come up and look around. It might help for them to know whereof they speak and act.

We welcome the sub-committee members to our area, whether they have been here before or are doing their first browsing.

In Case You Wondered . . .

Inconvenience and discomfort caused by the mosquito pestilence of this summer have raised a number of questions regarding the pesky little insects. A recent issue of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company publication contains a number of questions and answers about mosquitoes, and some of the information may be of interest to area residents.

For instance, only female mosquitoes are equipped to bite or sting. Principal food of the mosquito is plant nectar, but some entomologists believe that many mosquito species need an occasional sip of animal or human blood as a kind of essential vitamin. If this is not obtained at least once every 25 generations, the breed weakens and dies out.

Common house mosquitoes usually do not travel more than two or three city blocks from their birthplace. The singing sound a person hears when a mosquito moves in for the attack is simply the vibrating of wings.

The average male mosquito's life is about eight to ten days. The luckier females live about 30 days—and they may hibernate if winter catches them before they have had a chance to deposit their eggs. In warm weather it takes 10 days for an egg to develop into an adult mosquito. In a temperate climate, from the first warm days of spring to the cooler days of autumn, about 15 generations of mosquitoes may be produced. A female mosquito lays about 100 eggs at a time. In six generations, the eggs normally laid by a common mosquito could result in 31 billion descendants—if they were left unmolested.

Spreading of oil on water in mosquito breeding grounds destroys mosquitoes in larval and pupal stages since they can not thrust their snorkels through the film and they smother. Most effective mosquito repellants contain ethyl hexanediol or dimethyl phthalate. Itching from bites may be alleviated by use of baking soda solution, ammonia water, rubbing alcohol or calamine lotion.

We thought you might like to know this vital information. Happy swatting.

Auto Daredevils Will Open Pennington Fair

'Suicidal, hair-raising, and spine-tingling' are among the terms that have been used by the nation's press to acclaim the performances presented by the Johnny King Daredevils in past years," according to Jon Metusalem, secretary of the Pennington County Fair association.

"The 1964 edition of the show, which may be seen at the fair in Thief River Falls Thursday, July 23, at 8 p.m., tops any thrill show ever seen before. Promised is precision driving, in gleaming new automobiles, with more intricate maneuvers performed over and between rampway structures, devilishly designed to cause loss of control.

"Daredevil drivers display seemingly impossible skills at speeds which push both man and machine to the very limits of endurance. Sure to be a favorite with thrill seekers are the high wingovers described by Kine, with new cars careening off rampways almost on their sides, traveling hundreds of feet precariously balanced on two wheels, and at speeds most would consider unsafe with all four tires on the roadway.

"New and different motorcycle stunts are also promised in this year's program, such as a machine being hurdled over a row of parked cars. Many variety acts have been booked, each selected to be more thrilling than the last. The program will be topped off by a full measure of crash stunts in which the Daredevils will demolish a number of old cars, employing such methods as rolling them end over end at breakneck speeds, T-Bone or intersection crashes at a mile a minute, dead head-on crashes, and speeding them off high rampways to a nosedive into the parked cars.

Personnel of the 1964 Johnny King Thrill Show is considered the elite of the stunting world," Metusalem said, "since they were selected from a large group of motion picture stunt men, race track daredevils and automotive test drivers, who tried out at the spring training grounds at Ottawa, Ill., home base for the King organization. It was also interesting to discover from King that at no time is any driver protected by more than a standard seat belt and crash helmet."

AT THE CHURCHES

Community Methodist
A. Denn Headley, Pastor

"A Larger Vision" will continue the series on Church Goals for the new Conference year, at 9:30 worship service. What we get from an experience depends largely upon what we bring to it. . .One man who viewed the earth from outer space said, "I saw no God or no angels. . ." Another said, "The God I pray to is not so small that I expected to see him in space. . ." Thus, as we send our youth to schools, they will see a new dimension, but the home background will help bring implications of a God-filled world. Let us worship together in preparation for setting goals for the work and hopes of the church.

The week of July 20-24 the Building Committee will meet for an organization meeting at the call of temporary chairman. The pastor's Exec. and Relations Committee will also meet at the call of the chairman to bring general goals to the commissions as they meet during July and August. On Aug. 17, there will be a workshop for all workers and teachers on the new Children's materials. A rewarding year in church work can be experienced by all if we plan well and carefully. Let all members attend when called if at all possible.

Registrations for camp are being taken, call the office or Elmer Porter's. Blanks are available at worship hours. Plan for this high experience as a total family unit. Attend worship every Sunday in town. Bring your guests, come dressed informally. Come, let us worship God together.

CHOICE

John is thinking about "what he wants to be." No, he doesn't want to be a jet pilot, nor a nuclear physicist, nor a lawyer, nor an actor, nor a doctor, nor yet a banker, baker, or chemist. John has decided. He wants to be a MINISTER.

I wondered if his father or his uncle or anyone else in the family is a minister? Strangely enough, no! He won't make a lot of money, and knowing John, he certainly won't particularly like the idea of getting up to "preach" to people. Definitely he won't have a big shiny car to make his calls. I wondered why John had decided to devote a lifetime to service in the Church.

I asked John for a frank answer and he told me many small accumulative experiences which boiled down to this: A strong Christian influence from family, friends, and church kindled a spirit of awareness and devotion which seems to be latent in every human heart. Of course, we can't all be like John. Few of us have received the stimulus to devote our entire life to the Church. But some of John's spirit does dwell in all of us. Too often we are unaware that we possess this miraculous gift from God. Rekindle your spirit by going to church this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Scott Weberg Burned by a Firecracker

The village of Trail had a little excitement on Wednesday when some children locked 3-year old Scott Weberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Weberg, in an outdoor privy. Mrs. Albert Aaknes was making doughnuts when she heard the childs screams. She thought that he might have been locked in an old refrigerator that stands in their back yard, so she hurried out to see what the trouble was. After unlocking the door of the privy, she returned to the house, where she discovered that the lard in which she had been frying doughnuts had caught fire. Luckily enough she put the fire out with some smoke damage, although the stove may have to be replaced. When this excitement had subsided, the same children decided to put a lighted firecracker down the back of Scott's shirt. The boy was burned quite badly and was taken to the hospital by his parents. At this writing the seriousness of the burns is not known.

50 Acres Destroyed

Armyworm Infestation Is Noted on Goodridge Farm

Armyworms have destroyed 50 acres of hay and pasture for Roy Anderson of Goodridge, according to Pennington County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Ten acres of timothy, canarygrass and quack hayland has been completely stripped of leaves and 40 acres of wild grassland pasture has been defoliated. The infestation was reported to the extension office last Friday and is located seven miles northeast of Goodridge.

The armyworm moth lays eggs on grasses and grain and as the eggs hatch the larvae eat the grass or grain leaves. A heavy infestation of armyworms has also been reported in Polk and Norman counties.

Because of abundant moisture in Pennington county and immature grains in eastern Pennington, conditions are ideal for armyworm buildup. Farmers should check late grain carefully, especially low-lying portions of their fields. Check drill rows closely for small grey-green, or grey-brown larvae less than one inch long. Fully grown larvae reach 1½ inches in length.

The armyworm head is pale grey-green and honeycombed with darker lines. The general body color ranges from light grey-green to grey-brown. There is a fine, whitish, broken line down the middle of the back, bordered by a darker mottled one reaching half way down the side. Below this is a pale orange stripe with a white border; next a brownish mottled stripe and just above the legs, a pale orange stripe with a white edge. Each leg along the middle of the body has a dark band along the outer side. Field identification should be confirmed by sending larvae to the county extension office.

To control armyworms farmers can use either four ounces of dieldrin, three to four ounces of endrin, or one and a half to two pounds of toxaphene per acre. Chemical control is recommended when there are three to four worms per square foot. The best time to check fields is at night when armyworms are on the plants eating. During the day the worms are in the ground. Also look for bitten leaves and droppings as evidence of armyworms.

Adequate, uniform coverage can be achieved with ground or aerial equipment. Take care when handling these insecticides. Follow directions as listed on the labels of the containers, and be sure to wait the required number of days after treatment before harvest.

With the use of dieldrin, seven days after application should elapse before the crop is cut for grain. An exception to this rule is barley which should stand 14 days after application before being cut. Straw should not be fed to livestock. Endrin is highly toxic and extreme care should be exercised in handling. Particular attention should be given to time lapse after application on chemicals used to control insects on pasture or hay land.

TRF Employment Figures Listed

Total Employment Rises 89 Workers from Year Ago

Employment in Thief River Falls as of mid-June amounted to 2,679 workers; a decrease of 73 workers from mid-March, acording to a release from the Minnesota department of employment security.

Government and finance divisions decreased by 213 workers. All other categories increased by a total of 140 workers. The drop was caused by the ending of the school term and the departure of school personnel for the summer vacation period. Total employment, compared with a year ago, was up 89 workers.

Supply of labor is now adequate in most categories, but a shortage of workers is expected toward fall. The demand for workers is very light, except for office workers. The city is experiencing a normal year for construction work.

The local Land O'Lakes turkey processing plant opened Thursday and created some demand for workers; both male and female.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Gorman visited in Washington D. C. while on a 10-day vacation. In the capital city they were guests of their daughter Kathleen and her roommate, and took a number of bus tours of the points of interest there.

OKLEE community will be represented in the Thief River Falls Jaycees' Miss Aquacade pageant by Karen Chervestad, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juell Chervestad and a junior at Moorhead State college. One of nine candidates for the crown, and one of six from outside the Thief River Falls community, Karen is pictured following participation in the Pioneer Days parade at Crookston a short time ago.

Aquacade Contestant

Karen Chervestad Seeks Queen Title

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of interview feature stories on candidates for the Miss Aquacade title at the Miss America Preliminary pageant to be held Saturday, August 1, in the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Rushing her way through college by attending summer school sessions, Karen Chervestad of Oklee is taking time out from her busy schedule to compete in the Miss Aquacade pageant August 1. The pageant is a featured event of the 10th annual Jaycees Aquacade.

Twenty-year-old Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juell Chervestad of Oklee, a 1962 graduate of Oklee high school and a junior at Moorhead State college. She is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, has brown hair, blue eyes and a 34-24-34 figure.

While in high school, Karen participated in a number of activities. In spite of her heavy study schedule at Moorhead State college, she had found time to be a member of the college union planning board and to work at Slater Food Service at the college. She has studied interpretive dance for two years, is a member of the Orchesis Dance club and will present a dance routine for her pageant talent number.

Karen is no stranger to queen competition. She was a candidate for Sigma Tau Gamma Sweetheart last year and one of eight finalists selected from a group of 32 entries in the Miss Wells Fargo contest at Fargo, N. D., a year ago. First runner-up in the Miss Aquacade pageant here a year ago, she was urged by the queen committee to make another bid for the title this year.

A member of the Psi Delta Kappa sorority, Karen is majoring in art at Moorhead State. Upon graduation she plans to be a high school art instructor.

An enthusiast for participant sports, Karen enjoys swimming, tennis, skiing and bowling. She also enjoys sewing as a hobby and made the formal which she plans to use for the evening gown division of the contest.

Karen is the eldest in a family of six children. Her brothers and sisters include Ramona, 17; Joy, 12; Kim, 9; Dawn, 7; and Tami, 5.

THESE KIDS are not looking for needles in a haystack, but rather for money. The Chamber of Commerce provided the money scramble for Crazy Day as a way of letting the youngsters entertain themselves and work off energy while their parents went on bargain-hunting expeditions. Nickles, dimes and pennies were tossed into the straw, which was then thoroughly raked. Then the word was "GO."

Fire Following Lightning Razes Valle Church

Valle Lutheran church east of Oklee, a landmark since 1911, was struck by a bolt of lightning the evening of July 9. Despite early discovery and efficient work by firemen and volunteers, the structure burned to the ground.

Fire-fighters were sucessful in removing most of the church's furnishings and equipment, including the pews, altar, electric organ and chairs, but were unable to save the building.

Insurance of $10,000 was carried on the building, with $4,000 on its contents. The church was in a good state of repair, having undergone many improvements in recent years.

Valle is one of the three congregations of the Oklee Lutheran parish, Rev. R. A. Saethre, pastor.

Heat Wave Ends Abruptly With Sudden Shower

Cloudburst and Wind Sunday Evening Causes Temperature to Plummet

Sudden relief from the season's worst heat wave was felt by northwestern Minnesota Sunday night as a cold front passed through the area, bringing a welcome drop in temperature along with violent thunderstorms. An inch and a quarter of rain fell on Thief River Falls Sunday night, accompanied by high winds causing minor damage in and near the city.

The immediate forecast calls for variable cloudiness today and mostly fair tonight and tomorrow. Cooler temperatures are on tap for northwestern Minnesota today, with the high expected to range from 78 to 92 degrees, with a predicted low tonight of 45 to 65.

Daily high and low temperature and precipitation readings, recorded by the North Central Airlines weather station at the municipal airport, are as follows: 89 and 58 on Thursday, 94 and 63 on Friday, 88 and 55 on Saturday, 93 and 57 on Sunday and a low of 65 and 1.25 inches of rain recorded this morning. A thunderstorm with hail occurred in southeast Pennington county Thursday night. Glenn Tasa reported 2.80 inches of rain at his farm.

Wheat in this area is from short blade to milk or light dough stage, according to the Soo Line crop report released July 13. Tillering has been extra good and stands are extra heavy, the report states. Boe-Hunstad Marriage Vows Are Exchanged

Miss Shirley Mae Boe of Viking spoke marriage vows June 27 at Bethlehem Lutheran church of Newfolden, with Marwood Hunstad of Argyle. Miss Boe is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl Boe of Viking and the late Mr. Boe, and Mr. Hunstad is the son of Jens Hunstad of Argyle and the late Mrs. Hunstad.

Officiating at the 8:30 evening service, in which the double-ring ritual was used, was the Rev. Loren Nielson. Baskets of pink and white gladioli and pink carnations banked the candle-lit altar. There were 250 guests in attendance. Miss Anita Stanghelle of Warren played traditional wedding music on the church organ. "The Lord's Prayer", and "O Perfect Love", were vocal solos sung by Mrs. David Ramsey of Detroit Lakes.

Giving the bride in marriage was her brother, Gene Boe of Alvarado. She wore a floor length gown of angelskin, with a bell-shaped skirt, a fitted bodice with lace detailing, and full-length sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was of bridal tulle and was secured by a nylon flower with pearl trim. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Maid of honor, Marlene Hunstad of Argyle, the groom's sister, Mrs. Dale Carews, Grand Forks, N. D. sister of the bride, and Mrs. Warren Brenna, Viking, were the other attendants. They wore full-length dresses with bell skirts, fitted bodices, and scoop necklines. Sleeves were elbow-length. Veiled headpieces were in a shade mathing their dresses. Their bouquets were pink carnations, with white roses. Nancy Bergos, Willmar, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a floor-length dress of aqua.

Best man was Merlin Boe, Viking, a brother of the bride. Eugene Jorgenson of Argyle, and the groom's cousin, Robert Elseth of Warren, were groomsmen, and the ushers were Oscar Bergos of Willmar, the bride's brother-in-law, and Wesley Bring of Newfolden. The groom wore black trousers and white jacket, and the attendants wore black tuxedos and pleated shirts. Ricky Erickson, Warren, a cousin of the groom, served as ringbearer.

The bride's mother selected a light blue dress, white accessories, and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The reception in the church parlors was given by the bride's mother and attended by 250 guests. Hostess was Mrs. Verne Green. Waitresses were Janice Bennett, Mrs. George Boe, Janet Homstrom, Deanna Jarshaw, and Cathie Moen. Miss Diane Nelson, Grand Forks, registered the guests, and Lynette Harstad and Mrs. David Flaten served punch. Wilfred Welin carried the gifts, and the gift table was arranged by Mrs. Myron Anderson, and Sharon and Susan Homstrom. Mrs. Florence Myers, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Ewald Clausen, the groom's cousin, cut the bridal cake, while Mrs. Sam Jarshaw, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Narve Hunstad, the groom's aunt, poured. Guests attended from Argyle, Warren, Thief River Falls, Crookston, Willmar, Minneapolis, Holt, Strandquist, Stephen and Goodridge, Minn.; Grand Forks, N. D., and Manitoba, Canada.

The bride graduated from Newfolden high school in 1963, and attended the Area-Vocational school here this year. Mr. Hunstad graduated from NW school of Agriculture in Crookston and also attended the U of Minnesota. He is engaged in farming at Argyle, where they are now at home after a wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells. For her travel outfit, the bride wore an off-white two-piece dress, with black accessories.

Louze-Mitterling Vows Spoken Here July 12

Wedding vows were exchanged Sunday, July 12 between Miss Sharon Janet Louze of this city, daughter of the Neary Louzes, and James Mitterling of Northfield, Ill., son of the Ted Mitterlings of Warroad.

Rev. Harold Peterson performed the double-ring ceremony at Trinity Lutheran church at 3 p.m. Floor baskets with white gladioli and deep pink carnations, and fern stands, flanked the altar and tapers provided the altar background. Organist Mrs. Harold Peterson played a prelude of soft music, and Bryant Ulseth, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Peterson, sang, "O Perfect Love", before the service and "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Miss Louze's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a full-length gown of white organza, fashioned with scoop neckline with nylon embroidery detailing, elbow-length sleeves, and nylon embroidered front panel and a chapel train. A fabric rose headpiece edged in seed pearls held her chapel-length veil of English illusion. Her bouquet was a crescent cascade of pink roses and white carnations.

Maid of honor, Nancy Mitterling, Warroad, a sister of the groom, wore a gown of blue taffeta with short sleeves, rounded neckline, and a V-yoke at the back, and featuring a full-length skirt. She wore a matching veiled headpiece and blue shoes. Her bouquet was styled like that of the bride but was of pink carnations.

Best man was the groom's twin brother, John Mitterling, also of Northfield, Ill., while Norman Ortmann of Warroad and John Theissen of Minneapolis, ushered. All wore white dinner jackets with black trousers and wore pink carnation boutonnieres. Fathers of the couple had boutonnieres of white carnations.

Mrs. Louze's dress was of powder blue nylon over taffeta and featured a brief jacket of scalloped Chantilly lace. She chose matching blue accessories and wore white gloves. Mrs. Mitterling's dr of navy blue was accessorized with white. Their matching corsages were pink sweetheart roses and miniature carnations.

The bride's parents were hosts to approximately 50 guests at a reception held in the church parlors. Ruth Circle, of which Mrs. Louze is a member, served. Mrs. Le Roy Berglund, Minneapolis, a sister of the bride, cut the wedding cake and Mrs. Robert Cameron, Ada, another of the bride's sisters, was at the coffee service. The punch bowl was attended by Miss Eileen Knutson, the guest book by Miss Wanda St. Martin, and the gift table by Misses Margaret Linskey and Karen Voecks, all of Thief River Falls. Guests were registered from Evanston, Ill., South Dakota; Minneapolis, Warroad, and other Minnesota towns.

Three lighted tapers on either side of the cake graced the table. The square three tiered cake which was trimmed in pink, was topped with white satin bells edged with seed pearls, and lily of the valley accent.

Miss Louze graduated from Lincoln high school in 1963, and has been employed at the Credit Bureau in Minneapolis. Mr. Mitterling, a graduate of Warroad high school and of the Area-vocational technical school here, is employed in the engineering department of an Evanston, Ill. hospital.

For her travel costume, the bride chose a white lace dress over pink. She wore white accessories and her corsage was a purple orchid. They are at home at 611 6th street, North fild, Ill.

The Library Corner

Vacation hints!
Read!

Going out of town? Notify your paperboy, your postman, your milkman, and your LIBRARIAN! Why? Often borrowers haven't time or forget to return their books before going out of town. If such is the case with you, a phone call will save a great deal of unnecessary work to the librarians; a bit of tax money and some of your own.

You may, or may not, know postal cards are sent to borrowers keeping books past the due date. If books are not returned following receipt of the card, a telephone call is made! (Sometimes two or three phone calls.) Fines, at the rate of two cents per day, are charged for overdue books. If borrowers would just remember to call and renew their borrowed books before they go out of town, if they haven't time to bring them by and leave them at the desk or drop them in the slot, it would save inconvenience and cash for the borrower.

Many times prospective borrowers are waiting for books checked out by another. Oftentimes they are rural, or out of the county, borrowers. Sometimes they'll make several trips to the library to see if the book they want has been returned. Possibly the librarian has made phone calls or otherwise tried to get in touch with the tardy borrower, but to no avail. One phone call before you leave town may possibly save another borrower miles.

And now...back to books!

"The Cart and The Horse" by Louis Kronenberger looks to be an amusing volume that might make you wince if the barbs hit a little too close to home. The author gives his views of American life today — urban culture, attitudes, manners and ambitions.

Speaking of the "close to home" element....are you dieting? If you're not now, chances are you will be soon! It seems to be something everybody does at least oncee! So if you are, or did, or will be....take home "Cooking Without a Grain of Salt", by Bagg. The recipes therein are for low-sodium, calorie-controlled goodies which use herbs and seasonings and flavors and blends and add up to 250 superb dishes....fit for the non-dieter....as well as the dieter.

And while the Swedish Meat Balls (low sodium variety) are cooking...begin to read Benjamin's "The Medical Itch"-a giggley account of advenutes in the life of one Dr. Benjamin and his assistant, Betty. You'll be amused for quite a spell as you follow the doctor around for a bit.

Bruce Lancaster's last novel "The Big Knives" revolves around Geo. Rogers Clark...an inspiring figure for all, especially midwesterners. Historical novels require much research and great knowledge about the period if they are to be worthy of the reader. Lancaster, a Harvard graduate, entered the foreign service of the state department and remained in it until 1937 when he devoted all his time and energy to writing. He succeeded in completing 20 volumes before his death in 1963. This one is excellent.

Another artist no longer with us is Brendan Behan, the Irish rebel! His novel "The Scraperer"....is a bit different from the general run of crime stories. It was first published, under the name of Emmett Street, as a serial in "The Irish Times". Unfortunately, the author did not live to see it published in book form. If his writing is new to you, here is an excellent chance to compare his talent with English, French, American and German authors. (This is not suggested reading for the timid.)

"The Man Who Had Everything" by Murray is a stirring story of deep love, great understanding and an almost endless search for self. This is not too good to read if your are easily depressed....but it is a good one to read if you like something not frivolous and with depth.

Then there are books on gardening, on canning, on freezing and painting. Books for the young, the younger and the older.

Books are written, printed, sold and borrowed for one reason! Reading. Have you borrowed your share?

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Consumers can look for an abundance of beef and of fresh plums at attractive prices during July. These two items lead the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods. Others in bounteous supply will be turkey, canned pink salmon, watermelon, early summer vegetables and vegetable fats and oils. All of them are good buys. From this list homemakers can whip up a variety of summertime menus whether it be cold or hot.

Beef supplies this summer will continue at record levels. Food markets are featuring a variety of high quality cuts at the lowest prices in several years. You should have no trouble getting "choice" grade steaks for your July cookouts.

Turkey is another possibility for your July picnic. Farm marketings of tender young turkeys are as much at 10 per cent greater than a year ago.

Stocks of canned pink salmon remain particularly high. Salmon has many possibilities for summer meals whether it be as a loaf, casserole, salad or sandwiches.

One of the most bountiful harvests this summer will be fresh, tree-ripened plums; California has a crop 5 per cent above the average. Larger than usual plantings of watermelons should yield ample quantities of ripe, juicy melons for eating. Both these fruits are ready-made desserts for your picnics.

Local supplies of garden-fresh summer vegetables will vary from market to market. As the month progresses, look for locally grown green beans, tomatoes, lettuce and sweet corn.

How safe is your home? You may not know that the home ranks second to the highway as the most frequent scene of acidental deaths in Minnesota. Since Farm and Home Safety week is July 19-25, why not try to make your home more safe?

Last year 447 Minnesotans lost their lives in home accidents. The largest group of these died as a result of falls. Fires and burns ranked second as a cause of home accident deaths. Suffocation was third and poisons were fourth.

Accidents in the home were also responsible for injuries such as broken bones, wrenched backs and burns to some 45,000 residents in the state last year. No economic yardstick can measure the grief, pain and disruption of families and aspirations resulting from home accidents. This is to say nothing of needless hospital and other medical expenses.

You homemakers should take the lead in making the entire family safety conscious and in seeing that the theme for this year's National Farm Safety week, "Safer American Families Everywhere", becomes a reality. Here are a few suggestions for preventing falls which are the major causes of fatal accidents in the home:

Teach the children to pick up toys from the floor, stairs or lawn where people might trip over them. Teach the younger as well as the older children to "park" tricycles, bicycles and wagons in specified places when not in use. Be sure to keep them out of driveways, too.

Store rakes, hoes and other garden tools in places provided for them as soon as you are through using them.

If you get up during the night, snap on a light or leave a dim night light burning.

Mend holes in stair carpeting and keep other steps in good repair. Use skid-retardant materials on basement steps and other stairs that are not carpeted.

Install adequate lighting in stairways and light switches at both the top and at the bottom of stairs.

Invest in a sturdy step stool for use in the house.

Avoid over-reaching and thus losing your balance when standing on a step stool or ladder.

If you follow these suggestions, you should have a safe home with few accidents.

Don Stewart Tells of Peace Corps Activities

Local Resident Tells Experiences When in Morocco

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Don Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Stewart of Thief River Falls, who is serving with the U. S. Peace Corps in Morocco. The Times expresses its appreciation to Don for a well-written, interesting and informative story and candid opinion.

The tansistor radio crackeles with static and Andalusian music which, to unaccustomed ears, closely resemble each other. Bouhali, our trusty driver, cook, rod-man and sometimes translator; Boujma, the forestry agent in whose post we are staying; and Mohammed, the agent's assistant, all have their ears glued to the radio waiting for the news in Arabic from Rabat and, maybe a little later, a Moroccan-style soap opera.

On the short, round table at my feet sit steaming hot glasses of mint tea of which the average Moroccan drinks a quart each day. Across from me John Taylor, my partner, squats on a cushion with his nose in an Arabic textbook which he occasionally leaves to swat a fly, pump up the kerosene lantern or slurp his tea. The last is not impolite as in western custom, but very much in caida (Moroccan custom).

John and I are on one of our surveying trips in the bled (countryside) and the scene described above is typical of the evenings we pass when out in the field. Our lives here in Morocco are ones of constant contrasts; sometimes we live in what is almost luxury, but other times we face the hardships and dangers that are expounded by Peace Corps' literature. Taza, our assigned area, is in eastern Morocco on the main highway and rail line between the Algerian frontier and Rabat, the country's capital on the Atlantic coast.

John, Ken Dehtman, the third volunteer located in this area, and I share a three-room apartment there that is very comfortable, even by American standards. We have a fatima (maid) who comes every day of the week, we eat in a good restaurant with Moroccan and French friends, take in the latest American movies with dubbed in French, and spend our weekends at the beautiful municipal swimming pool.

Land of Contrasts

In contrast, while out in the bled, we usually live in a tent, have trouble finding decent drinking water, let alone enough with which to er, let alone enough with which to scrub off the day's accumulation of grime, and are bothered by withering heat and all sorts of crawling and flying pests. Dysentery, with which I have had a number of bouts costing me a total of 34 pounds, is a constant worry.

John and I were lying in the shade just outside the foresty post taking a siesta yesterday afternoon when we were awakened by a horrible roar. The forestry agent had just shot a deadly, four-foot viper not 50 feet away from us. We hope, though, that it is all worth it for on trips like these the real people-to-people contacts in which the Peace Corps is so interested are made.

The Peace Corps' contingent in Morocco consists of 101 volunteers working in the ministries of waters and forests (Eaux et Forets), education, health and youth and sports, and in the national office of irrigation. In September a third group will come in to replace those of us in the Morocco I project who finish our contracts and will depart by October.

No "Smashing Success"

Contrary to the greater part of Peace Coprs' publicity about their projects in the underdeveloped areas of the world, the Morocco I and II projects have not been smashing successes. The volunteers of the first project, which arrived in early February of 1963 after four months' training in California, ran into a number of difficulties; lack of work, no housing, distrust and lack of confidence by local supervisors, boredom, etc. These problems, along with the hindrances of a new language and an entirely different culture, made adapting especially difficult. To this date, almost a year and a half later, many of these problems still have not been solved.

For fourteen months my former partner, Hall Hill from Dublin, Ga., and I lived in one of the worst situations run into by the Peace Corps in the country. We were sent to Beni Mellal in the central part of Morocco in Casablanca province to work for the Eaux et Forets as surveyors and to train forestry agents in surveying techniques. In Beni Mellal we had all the difficulties mentioned above and, although during our training we had been told to expect some of these troubles at first, we were hardly prepared for the long months of sheer frustration that we spent there.

Makes Many Friends

To try to enumerate and explain it all would be next to impossible and would, also, make boring and uninteresting reading. Although technically we acomplished very little in Beni Mellal, hopefully we did make many friends in the city, both among the Moroccans and the Europeans which included people from France, Spain, Russia, Holland, Greece and Yugoslavia. And the uneducated people of the middle and high Atlas mountains and of the Casablanca plains, whose homes we lived in on our few jaunts into the countryside, now have an idea what Americans are like and now know that America is not a part of France, a common belief among the more isolated people.

The Peace Corps is fortunate, however, in that it can constantly change and adapt. Situations such as ours in Beni Mellal were (are) common among many of our surveyors and irrigators; thus the Morocco III project will not include these types of volunteers, but instead, more teachers, coaches, and possibly health technicians, who have met with greater success in the Morocco I and II groups.

Sent to New Post

After spending the month of March in Tangiers at the Peace Corps" Arabic language school, I returned to Beni Mellal to find the situation there worse than before. I felt that a transfer to another post where I still might accomplish something in the few months remaining would be worthwhile. Subsequently, I was transferred to Taza to join Ken and John. Their situation here after many long months of hard work and patience had finally started to jell and they were in need of an extra hand. For me the change was shocking. Instead of long days and nights of inactivity and boredom, I have found long hours of good, hard, satisfying work. The old saying that work is health now has a special meaning to me.

John and I are now on our second trip into the bled in as many weeks. This present job is at a small village in the Rif mountains northeast of Taza called Mezguitem. We are surveying the land of a private landowner who is donating some of his farm to the government for the construction of terraces and planting of fruit and pine trees.

Hospitality Terrific

The hospitality has been terrific. Upon arrival three days ago we were treated to a magnificent diffa which is the Moroccan name for a feast. These feasts, which are given for almost any occasion of any significance, are almost always the same. They begin with a glass of hot mint tea and then the mishwi (whole, roasted mutton) is brought in and set on the table. Everyone sits on rugs or cushions around the table and with the thumb and first two fingers of their right hands rip off the choicest and more succulent morsels. All the rest of the meal will be eaten in this fashion.

After the mishwi, platters of chickens roasted with almonds and lemons are carried to the table. This may be followed by as many as four or five tagines which are dishes of different baked meats and vegetables. Coucous, a rice-like dish covered with sugar and cinnamon and eaten all across North Africa, is the last hot dish served and the only one eaten with spoons, although it is proper, if a little messy, to eat it with the hands. Then come huge platters of all sorts of fruits, melons, cookies and cakes. By the time the hands have been washed in copper basins and the finishing glasses of mint tea are brought around, you have eaten three times as much as you thought humanly possible and much more than you should have!

Leaving such hospitality, I think, is going to be difficult. At the moment all Ken and I can think about is our imminent future; termination, a short vacation in Europe and returning to the States. Yet, for almost two years these simple, friendly people of the plains, the Atlas and Rif mountains, and the desert have been a part of our lives. We may not have accomplished one-third of what we thought we would when we first entered training, but we have been given one compliment which shows that we have accomplished something: we are simple.

"You Are Simple People"

An old Barber told me this a few weeks ago after I had spent some time with him and his family. He said, "You young Americans here are not complicated like the French were. You eat our food, clap your hands with us to our music, dance our dances and and laugh with us. You are simple people like us and we enjoy having you.' That may not sound like much pay for two years of tedium, boredom and frustration, but I shall probably never forget those words or that old man's face.

Now the lantern is burning low; Bouhali is saying his prayers for the fifth and last time today; and John is rolling up in his sleeping bag. Outside the post the watch dogs howl and are answered by a chorus of comrades around the mountains; the moon illuminates the plains far below where the lights of Taza still twinkle and reflect off the snow-capped peaks of the Atlas mountains lying in the south. For a Peace Corps volunteer in Morocco, a long way from Thief River Falls, this marks the passing of another day and the promise of a new one lying ahead.

TRAINING in surveying techniques for agents of the ministry of waters and forests is one of the main parts of the Peace Corps' surveyors' job in Morocco. Don Stewart of Thief River Falls is shown at left above, working with a brussole forestier, a French forestry instrument. The waters and forests agent is becoming familiar with the instrument while surveying is being done on a parcel of reforested land.

UNSUCCESSFUL in his coaxing is Don Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Stewart of Thief River Falls, and a Peace Corps worker in Morocco. "Solmiyn, the forestry agent's daughter, is three years old," Stewart writes, "and much to my disgust, her Arabic is already better than mine. Try as I would, in Arabic, French and English, I couldn't talk her into giving me a bite of the bread and honey she has in her hand."

Better Health Through Knowledge

MOTION SICKNESS

Q. I can hardly go on a vacation because of car sickness. Would I get just as sick if I traveled by air?

A. You might or might not. It seems strange but a person can be affected by one type of motion and not by another. For example, someone could be unaffected in a small boat but be made sick by the slower movements of bigger ships. A dancer or skater who can spin like a top without discomfort may get extremely sick after a few ups and downs on a seesaw.

STINGS

Q. Last summer I was stung by a wasp and became violently sick. Would the same thing happen if I am stung by a bee?

A. Venom of the wasp, hornet, yellowjacket and honeybee contains a common poison. A person who reacts violently to the sting of one of these insects would probably react just as violently to the sting of the others. People who are known to be very sensitive to insect stings can be desensitized or make less reactive. Your doctor can give you all the information about how this is done.

Welfare Official Organizes Meet

Adoption Group Meeting Planned Here Aug. 18-19

Charles Rector, adoption home recruiter and consulatnt for the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare, came to Thief River Falls from Minneapolis on Wednesday to help organize the adoption group meeting scheduled for August 18 and 19. Rector reported that enough couples have sought invitations to the meeting so that it can be held as planned.

Pennington county, of which Ronald Mooers is welfare director, will host the meeting in the welfare office in the courthouse. Only 10 couples may participate in each meeting; if more than 10 couples are interested, other meetings will be held on the same dates.

According to Rector, the meeting will enable couples in this area to adopt children without traveling to the Twin Cities to undertake adoption proceedings. "What it amounts to," Rector said, "is our department coming to people instead of people coming to us."

In commenting on the change in adoption practice in recent years Rector said that children placed on the adoption list now range in age from 0 to 12 years, though the majority of children adopted are still under five years old. Older children are more carefully screened, however, as are the families intending to adopt them.

Rector also mentioned the cutting of red tape in present-day adoption proceedings, though he pointed out that standards have remained high. "We are trying to make the basic process easier," he said, "but our standards have not gone down."

The coming meeting will be the first time in Minnesota that all private adoption agencies in the state have banded together for a group meeting. Represented at the meeting will be Catholic social service, Children's Home society, Lutheran Social service, Lutheran Children's Friend society, the Department of Public Welfare and the county welfare departments of Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman and Mahnomen counties.

"We are trying to stimulate more interest in adoption problems and processes in as many people, churches and organizations as possible," Rector said.

Lions Club Has Talk Wednesday On Recreation

James Foley, Director Of Parks and Recreation, Is Club's Guest Speaker

Thief River Falls Lions club met Wednesday at the Elks Club rooms for the regular dinner meeting. President Ralph Luhman called the meeting to order. Fred Sorensen gave a brief talk on the work. Sorensen mentioned that another painting-bee was to be held Saturday to finish the job.

Wendel Olson, program chairman, introduced James Foley, parks and recreation director, who spoke to the group on the activities being held this summer and those hoped to be held through the fall and winter.

Foley expalined the goals and aims of the recreational program and noted that it is a program of equal opportunity for all ages. He spoke on the 13 principles of recreation and stated that the program was not only for recreation but leadership developement as well. He told the group about baseball activites, crafts for children, girls activities and some of the programs planned to be made available to adults.

Among the programs mentioned by Foley for adults were tennis, touch football for men, archery, basketball, volley ball, broom hockey, softball, horseshoe and adult crafts.

In conclusion, Foley asked the Lion's club to sponsor the building of a "spray pool" for children. A spray pool is a 24-foot diameter slab of concrete, round in shape, with a five-foot piece of pipe in the middle and topped with a spray nozzle. It operates much the same manner as a lawn sprinkler. The club took no immediate action, but on a motion by Dr. Orlon Belch, financing the pool was recommended for discussion by the board of directors.

July 31 Deadline To File Social Security Reports

July 31 is the deadline for employers to make their quarterly reports of wages paid in the second quarter of 1964, according to Clifford Kittelson, manager of the Grand Forks social security district.

All non-farm employers must report the wages they paid to their employees at the end of each calendar quarter of the year. The employers are required by law to report their employees' names, social security numbers, and total wages. They must also send in the appropriate amount of social security tax. The present tax rate is 3⅝ per cent on both the employer and the employee.

Farm employers only have to make one report at the end of each calendar year. Quarterly reports by non-farm employers and yearly reports by farm employers are made to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

Marilyn Kruschke Cast Member at Summer Theater

Marilyn Kruschke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kuschke of Thief River Falls, is a member of a cast of 21 Moorhead state college players performing at the Falls Summer theater, Fergus Falls, which will present the award-winning musical comedy, "Once Upon a Mattress", July 15-20 at the Fergus Falls junior college auditorium.

Curtain time for the play is 8:15 p. m. (daylight time). This satire of the old fairy tale, "The Princess and the Pea," is the fourth Moorhead state college production staged during the current Falls Summer theater season.

ADDITIONS to the wardrobe were available at bargain prices and were the object of much interest as they were displayed outdoors on Crazy Day. This entire block was closed to traffic for the event as hundreds of persons from Thief River Falls and nearby communities and farms thronged the city streets in search of bargains.

Yard 'n' Garden

C. GUSTAV HARD ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

There's no need of letting your garden become unsightly during your vacation. Careful culture before you leave can help to keep the garden beautiful even while you're away. Here are some suggestions for conserving moisture, preventing weeds and keeping insects in check.

Use a summer mulch to conserve moisture and control weeds. It may be a well-rotted barnyard manure, compost, buckwheat hulls or commercial peat. Careful weeding and fertilization should precede the application of the mulch. Then water the planting so that both planting and mulch are well soaked.

Use a good all-purpose spray or dust for insect and disease control. For additional protection, use a miticide such as Ovex, Aramite, Tedion and Kelthane.

Remove all flowers that are faded or mature. The garden will look better and flowers will continue to bloom better.

If you expect to be gone longer than two weeks, arrange to have the garden watered if normal rainfall is inadequate.

By this time your June-bearing strawberries have finished fruiting and you should consider renovating the old planting to assure a good crop for next year.

If your planting is like many, you probably have a solid bed of plants by now. Many of these are too crowded and will not produce good quality berries next year.

To renovate your planting, mow the plants with a scythe or a mower. Rake up the leaves and mulch and remove them from the patch. This debris can be either burned or placed on a compost pile at some distance. Remember that strawberry diseases and insects may be harbored in the old mulch material.

Stretch strings across the patch to mark the location of new rows. These should be on either side of the original row of plants. The new rows should be about 4 feet apart.

Cultivate or plow out all the plants between the strings, leaving a narrow row about 8 inches wide under each string. With a hoe, thin out the plants in the remaining rows so they are spaced about 6 to 8 inches apart.

A side dressing of a complete fertilizer applied at the rate of 1 pound per 25 feet of row will help the planting.

New plants will soon form, and by fall you will have a new, well-established bed ready for production next spring. Keep the planting cleanly cultivated and apply moisture during dry spells. Keep the new planting limited in width to 18 inches.

AAA Says Motor Bike Fad Growing Menace

A growing manace on Minnesota's streets and highways should be stopped before it gets out of hand, the Minnesota AAA warned today. The problem is the new motor bike craze and the dangers caused by inexperienced cyclists renting the vehicles and driving them haphazardly on streets and highways.

"The problem arises when a person, usually a youngster with no motorcycle or motor bike driving experience, rents one of the vehicles," said Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive secretary of the motoring organization. "Any person can rent one of these motor bikes by simply showing his driver's license and producing the necessary cash. Rental operators usually have the customer sign a statement which exonerates the rental shop from responsibility in case of accident. At the same time, little or no instructions are given on how to operate the vehicle. Usually, the motor bike renter is shown how to start and shift the motor bike and that's all."

What motorists, expecially parents, should know is that automobile liability and medical insurance does not cover themselves or members of their family while riding on a motorcycle or motor bike, the AAA official added.

So far this year, 11 persons have been killed in Minnesota accidents involving motorcycles, motor bikes or motor scooters. This is more than double the number killed for a corresponding period a year ago when five fatalities were recorded.

"There seems to be a growing fad for riding motorcycles and motor bikes in Minnesota this summer," Tomlinson said. "AAA has nothing against the vehicles but we do believe some controls or laws are necessary to halt wide-scale renting of motor bikes, motorcycles and motor scooters to inexperienced drivers who know little if anything about operating the machines."

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

The recent decision of our liberal, lawmaking Supreme Court, in regard to legislative districts in the states, is going to result in control of the states completely by the large cities. Up to now the outstate areas have maintained control of the Senate because representatives to this body have been elected on a population and area basis, following in general the pattern for the election of United States senators where area alone is the consideration, each state having two members, regardless of the population of the state.

If this new concept of equality and balance of power within the states is justified, then it should be justified for the nation as a whole, and both bodies of Congress should be elected strictly on a population basis. State boundaries then should no longer be a factor in the election of our United States senators.

In the interests of this new concept of equality then Minnesota and the two Dakotas, that now elect six senators, probably should be made one senatorial district and elect only one senator. And to balance this off, the state of New York, which now elects only two senators, probably should be divided into at least four senatorial districts. That, according to the politically inspired members of our Supreme Court, presumably would be a fair distribution of power.

I have much more confidence in the political sagacity of the founding fathers than I do in the misfits who are predominant in our federal government today. The founding fathers established the legislative branch of our government on a two-body basis, requiring the approval of both bodies in the enactment of any law. They provided, wisely I think, that one of these bodies should be elected on the basis of population and one on the basis of area. For nearly 200 years we have accepted that as a reasonable system of checks and balances. And since then, all of the states have adopted that as a proper pattern for the organizations of state legislatures.

And if that pattern is to be changed, it should not be changed from the top down. Better then that we have another revolution and decide whether we still want government "of the people, BY the people, and for the people".

We obviously have had too many years of so-called liberal government, now dominated by crackbrains. Until now the Supreme Court has been a restraining influence in curbing the actions of the extremists. Now the extremists are in the saddle and the Supreme Court is no longer a restraining influence.

The Senate Rules Committee has closed the books on its investigation of the Bobby Baker scandal. It did find him guilty of "gross improprieties" in building a financial empire while a Senate employee. But the committee, dominated by Democrats, was very insistant that the matter be dropped.

There seems to be no denial of the charges that Bobby Baker was the errand boy for influential Democrats, including President Lyndon Johnson who, at that time, was boss-man of the Senate. The decision of the committe to drop the matter is, in effect, an admission of guilt. The distinguished Senators, including our Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy, preferred not to be questioned as to their conduct or misconduct.

My guess is that in taking this position they made a mistake. Most of the facts will eventually be revealed, and, in the meantime, they will be looked upon with suspicion. And properly so.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press featured a UPI report from Washington stating that Secretary of Defense McNamara had cut defense spending $2.5 billion. Well, I was encouraged by the headline, which was encouraging, but at the bottom of the column came this rather discouraging information:

> "The effect of savings achieved through cost reduction and better operating efficiency was not to lower the over-all defense spending budget of 51 billion dollars but rather to prevent it from going higher."

That is typical of the kind of baloney we are getting from press reports released from Washington these days. Unfortunately reports of this kind are featured too often by newspapers that should deserve our confidence.

Over a period of many years I have been a regular reader of several newspapers and magazines that have achieved both national and international recognition in their various fields. Among them has been the Wall Street Journal, for which I have developed the highest regard.

The Journal now is celebrating it's 75th anniversary, and in one of its anniversary issues the Journal refers to a statement on policy made 13 years ago by Vermont Royster, editor of the paper at that time. Here is a part of what Royster said:

> "We are a business newspaper. Yet in our subscription lists there are many subscribers — many college students for instance — who are not usually considered as business people. They like a publication which presents the meaningful news and the news interpretations of the day, which presents them without bias, which omits the fires, the assaults and the murders and does not club them over the head with black type.
> "On our editorial page we make no pretense of walking down the middle of the road. Our comments and interpretations are made from a definite point of view. We believe in the individual, in his wisdom and his decency. We oppose all infringements on individual rights, whether they stem from attempts at private monopoly, labor union monopoly or from an overgrowing government. People will say we are conservative or even reactionary. We are not much interested in labels but if we were to choose one, we would say we are radical. Just as radical as the Christian doctrine.
> "We have friends but they have not been made by silence or pussyfooting. If we have enemies, we do not placate them."

I have liked the Wall Street Journal because of its recognition of the realities. I have found it to be factual. While it is basically a business newspaper, reporting on national economic problems to those who are interested in the business world, I have found it to be informative, without prejudice, on the problems of labor and agriculture.

To me the Wall Street Journal is one of the nation's really great newspapers.

Conservationists To Organize Hall Of Fame Aug. 3-4

Gov. Rolvaag Extends Invitations To Heads Of All 49 Other States

Outstanding conservationists from throughout the United States, the Dominion of Canada and the Republic of Mexico are expected to gather in St. Paul August 3-4 for the first organizational meeting of the North American Conservation Hall of Fame and Museum, called by Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag.

Scheduled for the veterans' building on the Capitol approach, and termed by the governor "the most significant gathering of conservationists ever assembled on one occasion", the meeting is to be an organized workshop to establish the Hall of Fame, slated for a permanent site at historic Fort Snelling. The meeting will cover articles of incorporation and by-laws; standards for nomination, method of selection and recommendations for membership; and administration—physical plant, personnel and operating procedures.

Plan for a conservation hall of fame and museum to memorialize those in North America who have made a classic contribution to the science of conservation was first proposed by Governor Rolvaag in Minneapolis at a September 9 meeting of the International Association of Game, Fish, and Conservation commissioners; and the American Fisheries society. The plan won immediate endorsement from the two great conservation organizations and other endorsements followed.

Rolvaag has sent personal letters of invitation to the governors of the other 49 states; to the premiers of the provinces of Canada; and to the President of the Republic of Mexico, requesting that they send official representatives to the conclave. Invitations from the Governor went also to key conservationists and organizations throughout North America.

"It is our hope," Gov. Rolvaag said, "that this meeting not only will see establishment of the Conservation Hall of Fame, but, conceivably, the initial candidates nominated and elected to membership. We anticipate a gathering of the best minds in the field of conservation today, to lay the foundation for this historic development."

Consumer Price Index Holds at April Level

Consumer price index in May remained at its April level of 107.8 (1957-59=100), the U. S. Labor department's bureau of labor statistics announced. Slightly lower prices for food and housing offset fractional advances for most other types of consumer goods and services.

As compared with May of 1963, the index was 1.5 per cent higher, reflecting higher prices for most consumer items, except meats, bread and fuel oil.

Food prices declined 0.2 per cent in May, primarily because of lower prices of eggs and meats. Egg prices dropped seasonally as production reached record high levels. Prices of most types of meats were lower, with abundant supplies of beef and pork, but lamb and cold cuts were up a little.

Prices of fruits and vegetables remained unchanged as reductions in vegetable prices offset generally higher prices for fruits. Dairy products prices were 0.2 per cent lower, with seasonally higher milk production. Sugar prices also declined, reflecting reductions for May "white sales" and appliance prices also were lower. Residential rents were unchanged. Costs of maintenance and repair of owner-occupied dwellings were up.

Apparel prices increased 0.1 per cent with small advances for most types of apparel except children's shoes, which declined slightly.

70 Young Geese To Be Moved to Wildlife Areas

Roseau River Wildlife Area To Receive Most Geese from Game Farm

Seventy young geese hatched this year at the Carlos Avery game farm north of the Twin Cities are on their way to points west and north, the state game and fish division reported today. Most of the geese will be sent to the Roseau River wildlife area in northern Minnesota and the remainder to the Lac qui Parle wildlife area in the western part of the state.

There the geese will be held until they are three years old when they and their offspring will be allowed to migrat south in the fall.

A certain percentage of both young and adult birds are expected to return to nest the following spring in response to the homing instinct. The project is aimed at developing sizeable flocks of geese which will use the stateowned wildlife management units year after year for nesting purposes.

The first state-owned goose flock was established at Thief Lake in 1959 when 32 pairs of young Canadian geese were sent to the Thief Lake Wildlife Management area. In 1960 and 1961 an additional 64 pairs of geese were transferred to this unit. Preliminary counts this spring indicate that over 200 geese were transferred to this unit. Preliminary counts this spring also indicate that over 200 young geese were raised at Thief Lake during the past nesting season.

If successful, the project will result in a substantial increase in the number of geese nesting in Minnesota and should provide greater hunting opportunities for sportsmen.

Wildlife Survey Team Notes Duck Population Drop

Wildlife Federation Team Says Duck Numbers Down 20 Per Cent from 1963

Preliminary report from a National Wildlife federation survey team studying duck populations in North Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan has revealed declines from the low levels of 1963. Although the study is not complete, the federation said it does not believe further surveys will materially change figures obtained to date.

Water areas are down 18 percent to 20 per cent and the number of ducks observed indicate a 20 per cent decrease from last year and a 10 per cent decrease from the previous three-year average.

Mallards show the greatest loss, registering a decrease of 25 per cent from 1963 and a 35 per cent reduction from the average of the previous three years.

The federation pointed to the mallard's nesting habits, low water levels and to hunting pressure as possible causes of the continuing downward trend in the population noted during recent years.

Summarizing its findings, the report said there were fewer water areas in the region surveyed than at any time since 1961, when the lowest water levels in recent years were recorded. Breeding populations of ducks are also the lowest since that year.

The report observed that despite complete protection from hunting pressure in the states during recent years, canvasback and redhead populations have remained static. The National Wildlife federation is a private conservation organization.

Legion Juniors Split Season's Final Games

Coach Ralph Skay's local American Legion junior baseball squad closed out its 1964 schedule last week, losing a 7 to 3 decision to Detroit Lakes at Detroit Lakes on Wednesday evening, and defeating the Roseau juniors, 11 to 3, in a Northwest Conference game played here Thursday night. For the season, coach Skay's squad posted a 15 wins and 7 losses record, a creditable mark which they will carry into tonight's (Monday) sub-district tournament game against the Warren juniors at 8:30 p.m. on the Fairgrounds diamond.

Other first-round sub-district tournament games to be played today, weather and playing-field conditions permitting, will find Middle River meeting Warroad at 1 p.m.; Roseau playing Stephen at 3:30 p.m.; and the defending champion East Grand Forks team meeting the Crookston juniors at 7 p.m.

The semi-finals are slated for Tuesday, with games at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. And the championship finals will be played at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday. The winner and runner-up will gain berths in the Ninth District tournament to be played at Detroit Lakes.

Playing at Detroit Lakes on Wednesday night, coach Skay's club was held without a hit and a run for six innings by the Lakers' fast-balling Bill Hawkins. But in the top of the seventh, Paul Klungness led off by beating out an infield hit to short; John Aune drove a sharp single to right field; Tony Poole lofted a pop to shortstop; Tom Cummings drew a walk, loading the bases; Billy Poole grounded out, third to first, with Klungness scoring on the play. A wild pitch scored Aune and moved Cummings to third, and Pat Fischer's single to left plated Cummings with the locals' third tally.

The Lakers, on three hits, including a double by Joe Saller, a walk, and a fielder's choice, tallied three runs in the first inning. And in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, the Lakers utilized bases on balls doled out by Tony Poole to score four runs, with a throwing error aiding in scoring the Lakers' sixth inning score.

On Thursday night, the locals, after spotting the Roseau juniors a 2 to 0 first-inning lead, came back to tie the game with a pair of runs in the third, and then moved into command of the game with four runs in the fourth inning. The locals raked the offerings of Mike Baumgartner for 11 hits, and tagged Lynn Larson for a triple, by Tony Poole. In the sixth, when coach Skay's team tallied five runs.

T RECREATION F

by Jim Foley
Park and Recreation Director

Favorable weather the past week has made it possible for the city Pee Wee and Midget baseball leagues to play most of their rained-out games. The play in both leagues has been very close. In the Pee Wee league there is a two-way tie for first place, the Cardinals and the Mets both having six wins and two losses. The Giants are in first place with seven wins and two losses, followed by the Dodgers with six wins and three losses.

The Pee Wee scheduled for the coming week is as follows:

Monday, July 20: Dodgers vs. Tigers, 1 p.m.; Giants vs. Senators, 2:15 p.m.;

Tuesday, July 21: Orioles vs. Cardinals, 1 p.m.; Cubs vs. Braves, 2:15 p.m.;

Wednesday, July 22: Senators vs. Tigers, 1 p.m.; Braves vs. Mets, 2:15 p.m.;

and Thursday, July 23: Dodgers vs. Tigers, 1 p.m.; Giants vs. Cardinals, 2:15 p.m.

The tennis league got a good start last week with all matches being played. Tennis matches for next week are as follows: Don Ulferts and Dave Olson vs. Roger Delap and Dave Jones; Bob Ihle and Tom Lindberg vs. Gary Kelly and Frank Mousley; Paul Peterson and Brian Mostue vs. Peter Prichard and Jim Ewing; Wayne Liden and John Ihle vs. Mike Aune and Elroy Frolland.

Those who have matches scheduled for this week are reminded to play them and report the scores to Brian Mostue at 681-3097. Any person interested in playing in the doubles league is asked to call Brian Mostue so that a match may be scheduled for you.

With the weather as warm as it is, attendance at the beach has been very heavy. Because of this I would like to remind everyone riding a bike to the beach to be sure and lock the bike while they are in swimming.

Monday: Girls softball [illegible] at Knox school.

Thursday: Girls softball 6:30 p.m. at Northrop school. Archery meeting 7 p.m. at the city auditorium, to discuss the plans for a field range.

Friday: Special Event Day. Free roller skating party at the arena. Starting time is 2 p.m.; roller skates will be furnished.

A Busy Week.

There will be plenty of activity at the Fairgrounds this week, that is if the weatherman is in a cooperative mood. On Monday, that's today, the first round of play in the American Legion's sub-district junior baseball tournament will begin on the Fairgrounds diamond. Coach Jerry Snyder's powerful Middle River club will meet the Warroad juniors at 1 p. m. At 3:30 p. m. the Roseau juniors will play the Stephen juniors; and at 6 p. m. coach Roger Achen's East Grand Forks team will meet coach Dick Halvorson's Crookston club. Thief River Falls will play coach Maynard Ranstrom's Warren juniors at 8:30 p. m.

The tournament semi-finals will be played on Tuesday, with games at 6 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. And the championship finals, with both teams gaining a berth in the District tourney at Detroit Lakes, is slated for 8:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

And, of course, the city softball league will be using the diamond adjacent to the baseball field on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings. The game scheduled for Thursday evening, between the Bridgeman's and the Vets, will probably be shifted to the East Side diamond as the Pennington County fair will be taking over the grounds on Thursday evening, with a daredevil auto show on the evening's program.

But to get back to the sub-district American Legion junior baseball tournament. Middle River and East Grand Forks have been installed as pre-tournament favorites; but the odds are that Warren or Thief River Falls or Roseau or Crookston may turn in an upset or two along the way. None of the teams in the tournament are blessed with powerhouse pitching, so the finalists will probably be the teams that have the best all-round strength and deepest pitching staff. And on that basis coach Ralph Skay's locals can prove troublesome—that is if they get by lefty Paul Knutson and Warren this evening.

It's Been a Tough Week

As if the heat and high humidity this past week haven't been enough, those of us who are Minnesota Twins fans have had to put up with the harassing tactics and snide remarks of the New York Yankee enthusiasts. Russ Embury, who is the executive secretary of the local chapter of the Yankee fan club, has been particularly irritating. Russ has memorized the "We're Gonna Win, Twins" theme song, and at the slightest provocation (and even without provocation) he will burst forth with a refrain or two. I wouldn't be surprised if Russ even knows the second verse of the song!

And Bob Carlson, who is on the board of directors of the local Yankee fan club, had a very enjoyable weekend, what with the Twins dropping the series to the Los Angeles Angels. And making Sunday's doubleheader loss especially enjoyable was the fact that Bob Craik and Frank Clinton made a modest contribution to the Bob Carlson hunting and fishing fund. A few more weekends like this, with Craik and Clinton and the boys in a contributing mood, Bob will be due for retirement.

It was a very frustrating series for the Twins and Twin fans, losing to the Angels. That Los Angeles club isn't too far away from being pennant contender, and give manager Bill Rigney a couple more seasons, and a couple more young and improving ball players, and the Angels will be a threat. They have the strongarmed pitchers, and a capable catcher, and a first-rate shortstop, and if Rick Reichardt, the bonus player from Wisconsin, blossoms into an outfield star, Los Angeles will be shoving into the first division. The Twins, meanwhile, have defensive weaknesses that have proven costly, what with Rich Rollins' limited range at third base, and an unsatisfactory situation at second base and at first base.

And what's that song again? "We're Gonna Win Twins".

Softball League Moves Into Final Week of Schedule

Bea's Food Market Is Maintaining the Pace In League Leadership

City Softball League

Bea's Food Market	8	2	.800
V.F.W.	6	2	.750
Bridgeman's	7	3	.700
Hartz Stores	5	4	.555
Hamm's Beer	3	4	.428
Rasmussen Insurance	3	8	.273
Thorp Loan	1	10	.000

Results of last week's games:
Hamm's Beer, 18, vs. Thorp Loan, 8
Bea's Food Market, 8, vs. Rasmussen Ins., 2
Bridgeman's, 6, vs. Thorp Loan, 4
V.F.W., 9, vs. Hartz Stores, 4

This week's schedule:
July 20, Rasmussen Ins., vs. Hartz Stores
July 21, V.F.W., vs. Hamm's Beer
July 22, Thorp Loan vs. Bea's Food Market
July 23, Bridgeman's vs. V.F.W.

The city softball league is moving into its final week of the 1964 schedule, except for the re-scheduling of several postponed games, and the league championship race continues in a three-team contest. The regular schedule will be completed on July 27, with the Hamm's Beer playing the Hartz Stores, but the July 28, 29, and 30 dates will be utilized for make-up games. The league playoffs are scheduled to begin on August 3.

The Beas's Food Market, who have been the league pacemakers since the opening of the season, hold a one-game lead over the second place Vets, and a game and a half lead over the third-place Bridgeman's. The Bea's have a game against the cellar-dwelling Thorp Loan on Wednesday evening, and a postponed game to be played against the Hamm's Beer. A pair of wins in these two tilts would clinch a tie for the league championship for manager Marc Selness' squad.

In last week's feature game, with the Vets playing the Hartz Stores, the Vets, with Wally Grovum on the mound, defeated the Hartz, 9 to 4. Hartz picked up a pair of runs in the top of the first inning, but the Vets came back with a four-run cluster in their half of the first, and never looked back from there on in.

The Bridgeman's had a tussle in besting the last-place Thorp Loan, breaking a 4-all tie in the late innings to mark up a 6 to 4 win.

The Bea's Food Market, after a bit of unsteady play in the early innings, took control of their Tuesday evening game against the Rasmussen Insurance, winning by an 8 to 2 margin.

Boat Owners Urged to Check Expiration Date And Renew Licenses

Minnesota bureau of boat and water safety has issued a warning for all boat registrants to carefully check the expiration date on their license cards.

All boat licenses with expiration date Dec. 31, 1963, must be renewed before boats can be put into operation in 1964 on state waters; this includes all watercraft registered or renewed in 1962 with alphabetical suffixes BA through BH.

The current registration procedure gives boat registrants one full year to renew after license expiration and all unused boats must be renewed before Dec. 31, 1964, in order to keep the same number. If renewal is not obtained during the renewable year, the boat owner will be required to obtain a new registration.

After Jan. 1, 1965, all boat registrants who failed to renew their licenses with expiration date Dec. 31, 1963, shall have forfeited the right to keep the same license number and will be required to remove the present number from their boats.

The 1964-65 renewal watercraft licenses are available for issuance from county auditors and their agents throughout the state, when an applicant presents the previous license card. If the license card has been lost, a watercraft license application must be fully completed, notarized and submitted with the required fee directly to the Department of Conservation, Bureau of Boat and Water Safety, 190 Centennial Office Building, Saint Paul, Minnesota, 55101.

Auditors and agents cannot issue licenses for unregistered or new boats and duplicates of lost licenses. All registrants who fail to renew watercraft license cards during the year following expiration forfeit the right to retain the original number assigned, and a new license must be obtained by application directly to the department of conservation. Application forms are available upon request from the department of conservation, county sheriffs, county auditors and agents throughout the state.

Wardens Make 358 Arrests in Jnue

There were 335 arrests made by game wardens last month for violations of the state's fishing laws, the conservation department reported last week. Fishing law violations accounted for all but 23 of the total of 358 arrests for violations of state game and fish laws during June.

Fishing with more than one line was the most numerous violation noticed by game wardens and accounted for 137 arrests. There were 105 arrests made for fishing without a license and five non-residents were apprehended for fishing with resident licenses.

Last week, chief game warden F. W. Johnson announced that there was an unusually high number of arrests being made this summer for fishing without a license and that game wardens had intensified efforts to find such violators.

Wardens found 23 persons with over the legal limits of fish and 16 in possession of fish taken illegally. There were three arrests for illegal trapping or netting. Transporting loaded or uncased firearms in motor vehicles and miscellaneous violations of both large and small game laws brought 15 arrests.

Miscellaneous infractions were responsible for the balance of arrests for the month.

ABLE HANDS can offset a handicap such as useless legs, living proof of which is 94-year-old Mrs. Gunhille Gundersen, seated here behind a collection of some of the fruits of her labors. "Grandma" Gundersen has been an able seamstress since her girlhood on a pioneer farm, and has used her talents to create an almost unlimited variety of things made with needle and thread. A selected group of her projects will be shown in the senior citizens booth at the Pennington county fair next week.

As County Fair Entrant . . .

"Grandma" Gundersen Has Many Handiwork Articles

by Jim Wills
Times Reporter

Probably the oldest and most experienced of those who plan to enter needlework at the Pennington county fair is 94-year-old Mrs. Gunhille "Grandma" Gundersen. Mrs. Gundersen is a real old-timer in this area, having lived in Pennington county since 1918.

Mrs. Gundersen's parents met and became engaged on the ship traveling to this country from Norway, she said. In 1867, soon after they were married, they moved by covered wagon to Houston county, Minn., where she was born in 1870.

When Mrs. Gundersen was a year old, her family moved to Clay county. "That country was a wilderness in those days," she said. At the age of 15, she taught grade school children in a country school near Park River, N. D.

Mrs. Gundersen has been adept at handwork since girlhood, when she began by knitting the long stockings then in their heyday. She was the second of 14 children, all of whom helped with milking and farm work. Most of the sewing work fell on her shoulders.

Married in 1891 to O. B. Gunderson, the pioneer woman and her husband moved to Pennington county in 1918. The couple ran a successful farm, despite being hailed out their first year. They reared a family of nine children—four boys and five girls. Mrs. Gundersen did all her children's sewing and also sewed for her neighbor's children. Two sons and two daughters, Arnold, Gordon, Amy and Gena, are now living in the Thief River Falls area.

After being widowed in 1940, Mrs. Gunderson rented out the farm, but continued to milk and care for seven or eight dairy cows until she was 75 years old. "Then I decided to quit," she said.

Idleness was not agreeable to a woman who had been busy all her life, so Mrs. Gundersen began doing all types of handwork. She has made a cross-stitch table cloth, three crocheted table cloths, four bed spreads, and innumerable aprons, mittens, socks, tams, sweaters, handkerchiefs, purses, afghans, doilies and embroidery.

Mrs. Gundersen is now in the process of deciding which of her many accomplishments to enter in the coming fair. As a contestant, she obviously has grounds for potimism.

State Park Rules Need Repeating

No Teenagers Permitted To Camp Without Adults

Minnesota's conservation department reminded those planning on visiting state parks this season that no one under the age of 19 is permitted to camp in the parks unless accompanied by an adult.

Again this summer, some state park managers have had the unpleasant duty of turning sway youngsters who have apparently never heard of the regulation, according to U. W. Hella, director of state parks.

He said it became necessary to impose the restriction when numerous complaints of rowdyism were received. Some persons reported young vandals had cut their tent ropes and committed other acts of vandalism. Hella cited the rule as another case of a malicious and irresponsible few spoiling things for the majority.

He also warned that camping is permitted only in designated camping areas. Park managers say they have found people setting up tents in parking lots and other unauthorized locations.

Economist Lists Three Ways for U.S. Growth In Export Business

Three approaches to expanding dollar markets for U. S. crop products in foreign lands were outlined at Morris Thursday by a University of Minnesota agricultural economist.

Reynold P. Dahl suggested these areas for special attention: Development of crop varieties which best suit the needs of export markets; establishment of adequate grades and standards to market crops abroad; and increased efforts to improve the reputation of the U. S. as a reliable source of supplies for foreign buyers.

Dahl, speaking to field day visitors at the West Central school and experiment station, used soybeans as an illustration of varietal development. He pointed out that U. S. soybean expansion in the past 20 years would not have been possible without a strong export demand. About 40 per cent of U. S. soybeans now go overseas.

Japan is the largest single foreign customer for soybeans, and its people consume a major share of beans as foods made the whole soybean. Therefore, Dahl said, it is important to know the kind of soybean Japanese like for these foods. Plant breeders are working on development of soybean varieties that best suit the Japanese market.

Grades and standards satisfactory for the U. S., Dahl said, are not necessarily adequate for the world market. Since domestic buyers often check grain samples, they can determine grain characteristics before they offer a price.

In the foreign market, the situation isn't the same. Foreign customers usually buy on a grade basis which, Dahl said, makes it a must for grades and standards to reflect adequately the factors that determine grain quality.

Special wheat export grades, Dahl continued, might reflect such quality factors as protein content, fat acidity and loaf volume. None of these factors are now part of domestic grades—although they do affect wheat value.

Dahl saw need for concern about the U. S. reputation as a source of supplies. "We have been inclined to be concerned about export markets only in years when we have supplies in excess of domestic needs," he said. "Importing countries like some assurance of a dependable supply."

"Perhaps we can learn some useful lessons by observing the operations of traditional exporting countries such as Denmark. This little country has captured a significant share to the big British market by carefully gearing the quality of her exports to market demands."

Dahl noted that one acre in every five is harvested for export by American farmers—making the U. S. the world's largest exporter of farm products. Last year, U. S. exports accounted for over half of the total wheat output, over 40 per cent of the total soybean output, for over a fourth of cotton and tobacco, and for nearly a tenth of the total U. S. output of feed grains.

During the 1962-63 fiscal year, the U. S. exported $5.1 billion in agricultural products. About 30 per cent of these exports moved under special government programs, such at Title I sales under Public Law 480.

Under this program, surplus commodities are sold to countries for their currencies, which are then deposited to the U. S. government account in the countries involved.

Warren Let Contract for Storm Sewers
(Warren Sheaf)

All bids for street paving and curb and gutter installations for the 50-block street improvement program for Warren were rejected by the City Council Monday when council members and Engineer L. W. A bid for storm sewer construction in the proposed paving area, submitted by Robert Gibb & Sons, Inc., Fargo, totaling $24,897.80 was accepted and work on this phase of the project will be completed this fall, said Mr. Sands.

The council will readvertise for bids for the paving and curb and gutter projects during the winter months with the hope that more favorable bids will be submitted by the contractors.

Farm Safety Week

Sunday marked the official opening of Farm Safety Week in Minnesota—an observance sponsored annually by the agricultural extension service, farm section of the Minnesota Safety council and the Minnesota Implement Dealers' association.

There was a time in agriculture when the biggest dangers were from run-aways when horses became frightened or from following a bundle into the cavernous mouth of a threshing machine. With the advent of power machinery, the number of accidents has substantially increased in proportion to the opportunity for them to happen.

Farm safety week calls attention to the dangers of personal injury involved in farming—not only in operating machinery but in home and yard accidents. Accidents resulting from failure to follow safety rules cause untold suffering as well as loss of time and money each year. Not taking the time to stop moving equipment or install safety shields is a poor way to conserve time.

Prevention of farm and home accidents is good business. Safety first on the farm, as well as in the home and on the highways, should be observed every day of the year.

A Little Courage

In the newspaper field, as in almost any field where an individual deals with a large number and great variety of people, we can't help but notice the vast difference in personalities. Recently we ran across these words of Sydney Smith, and they make a great deal of sense:

> "A great deal of talent is lost in the world for want of a little courage. Every day sends to their graves obscure men whom timidity prevented from making a first effort; who, if they could have been induced to begin, would in all probability have gone great lengths in the career of fame.
> "The fact is, that to do anything in the world worth doing, we must not stand back shivering and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can.
> "It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances; it did very well before the Flood, when a man would consult his friends upon an intended publication for a hundred and fifty years, and live to see his success afterwards; but at present, a man waits, and doubts, and consults his brother, and his particular friends, till one day he finds he is sixty years old and that he has lost so much time in consulting cousins and friends that he has no more time to follow their advice."

Those Trading Stamps

According to one of the nation's oldest and most widely-recognized trading stamp companies, use of trading stamps forces prices down and means a saving to consumers. There has long been the argument that stores offering trading stamps must charge higher prices to compensate for the cost of stamps.

The trading stamp company cites a study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture which examined food prices for three years as trading stamps became increasingly used. Overall, the department found a gap of six-tenths of one per cent opened up between prices in stamp and non-stamp stores—with non-stamp stores on the low side.

According to the company, the department made two important observations: The difference may have been caused by non-stamp stores cutting prices to meet competition and the stamps received when redeemed were worth several times the fractional gap in prices.

There is little question that the issuing of trading stamps has been popular with the nation's women, and men, too, in some cases. We have even heard of churches offering trading stamps to parishoners attending Sunday morning services. Personally, we class them in the nuisance category, but can see no real harm in them. Where controversy about stamps is hot, however, it is a sticky situation.

A Little Late

Pennsylvania Governor William Scranton's crushing defeat at the Republican national convention, and his resulting plea for unity in the Republican party, make for interesting reading. Following an eleventh-hour campaign in which Sen. Barry Goldwater's thoughts and actions were bitterly attacked, the plea for unity by Gov. Scranton seems to be a little late.

Sen. Goldwater is likely right in stating that Gov. Scranton's criticism has done more to hurt his election chances than President Johnson's forces ever could. A person expects criticism from opposing parties, but sharp differences in opinion among members of the same party carry much more weight. There is still the question, however, of which opinions are the right ones.

We like to think that Gov. Scranton's defeat on the first ballot was exactly what he deserved—at least politically if not personally. His late entry into the race after a "maybe I will, maybe I won't" attitude earlier would not indicate that he would conduct a good campaign for the Presidency. His campaign tactics in opposing the Arizona Senator—once Scranton did decide to run—also left much to be desired.

Occupied with other things closer to the home community, we did not witness much of the televised convention coverage. What we did see was not particularly impressive. We suppose the exhuberant demonstrations, childish hats and buttons, rude indifference to the speakers at the rostrum and catering to minorities are all part of the democratic system, but they do seem a little silly when something as important as the leadership of our nation is at stake.

We will now watch with interest the campaign which Sen. Goldwater wages in attempting to wrest the reins of government from Prsident Johnson. We fully expect the outcome in November will be much closer than many people think it will. In spite of polls, poverty and publicity, the President is certainly vulnerable.

Come to the Fair

Pennington county's 63rd annual fair opens Thursday, and from early indications it promises to be another good one. Our county does not have an exceptionally large fair, but what it lacks in size it makes up in quality and enthusiasm of exhibitors.

Beset by misfortune a number of times, the fair has been rescued each time by community - spirited individuals, organizations and business places which believed the fair to be a valuable asset. Several years ago it was floundering in a sea of debt, and was about to go down for the proverbial third time. The lifeline was then extended by a new organization which assumed the obligations of the fair association and took over operation of the fair.

This new organization also has its problems, not the least of which is lack of operating capital. This lack of funds, however, is not entirely bad. It has resulted in the necessity of volunteer work, creating a personal interest which the public has not had in previous years. The response to pleas for help by volunteers has always been gratifying for the new fair organization, and these volunteers may rightfully claim a feeling of pride and accomplishment.

All of which brings us to the fact that the 1964 exposition gets underway Thursday for the four-day run and that good crowds are necessary for a successful operation. Grandstand shows promise to be thrilling and entertaining with a good variety available. Livestock entries should again be good and the 4-H division, women's exhibits and crop show will be worth a visit.

There is no gate admission with only a nominal charge to be made for auto parking. The fair offers a golden opportunity to view the accomplishments of area residents. Why not join the crowd and be among those attending at least one day of the exposition?

Statistics Show . . .

Study of statistics can be an interesting business, but it is confusing and time-consuming. With a moderate amount of statistics, a person can prove nearly any point he wishes to make—simply by ignoring some figures and emphasizing others.

One may take the U. S. labor situation for example. A recent report from the U. S. Department of labor indicates that total employment reached a new high of nearly 72 million in June—a fact which proponents of the tax cut and other administration policies would claim is directly attributed to these policies. They would also cite the over-the-month gain of 850,000 employed as proof for their argument.

On the other hand, those skeptical of deficit spending by the government and the tax cut without a corresponding cut in appropriations, would use the same figures to prove their point. They would note that the over-the-month increase was less than usual for that time of year. They would point to the fact that unemployment rose by 1.1 million between May and June and that the number of unemployed persons 20 to 24 years of age increased by 175,000—somewhat more than seasonal.

Total employment rose to 71,950,000 in June, with all of the 850,000 increase occurring in the agricultural sector. Nonagricultural employment was unchanged (66.1 million) in June, a month when seasonal expectations call for a rise of almost 400,000.

If the tax cut was to create a massive expansion of business with more employment opportunity, it could be argued that it both succeeded and failed. The same figures could be used to support both sides of the argument. It is something to consider when the political wheels start grinding out statistics to support their opinions this fall.

Wouldn't it be nice to be promised free beer "for life?" A Birmingham, England brewery has promised this to Harriet E. Brooks, who claims to have downed two pints a day since age 18 (or an estimate of some 200 barrels). Happy beer-drinking to Harriet . . . a spry and thirsty ninety-one!

Tongue-Wetting at the Tee
This Spring the club president and tournament chairman at Doral Country Club, Miami, tried to determine whether beer improves golf scores. One day participants downed a glass of beer; the next day, none. Result: 45% improved putting scores at least 10%! No change in skill was noted by 40%, while 15% didn't do quite as well. But all agreed it was a fine survey!

Beer Coney Islanders
2 tbsp. butter
½ cup chopped onions
1 lb. ground beef
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. paprika
2 tsp. chili powder
1½ cups beer
1 cup catsup
12 frankfurters and 12 rolls
Cook onions in butter till soft. Break apart hamburger meat with fork, and stir in. Add seasonings listed above. Stir over moderate heat till meat is slightly browned. Blend in beer and catsup; bring to boil. Simmer over low heat 25 minutes, add more beer if mixture is too thick. To serve, place a piping hot frankfurter in each split roll. Spoon sauce over tops. Eat at once—two to a guest. Ideal accompaniment: cold, delicious beer! . . . Ideal kitchen-mate: my free recipe book. Write Minnesota Hostess, 333 WCCO Bldg., Minneapolis 55402.

IT'S A FACT: WHILE BEER CONTRIBUTES TO PLEASURE AND RELAXATION IN AMERICA, THE BREWING INDUSTRY MAKES A LARGE CONTRIBUTION TO THE AMERICAN ECONOMY. IN 1963, THE INDUSTRY PURCHASED MORE THAN A BILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF MACHINERY, POWER AND SUPPLIES... PLUS SOME 119 MILLION BUSHELS OF GRAIN. AND EMPLOYEES OF THE BREWING INDUSTRY EARNED OVER 480 MILLION DOLLARS!

Council Airs Natural Gas, Swimming Pool

Action Delayed To Special Meet Tuesday, Aug. 11

Bids by four natural gas companies were heard by the Thief River Falls city council at the regular council meeting last night as bids were opened for a franchise to bring natural gas service to Thief River Falls. Representatives of all four companies said that natural gas could probably be brought to the city by fall, 1965, if the franchise was granted soon enough and approval was given by the Federal Power commission.

Bidders for the franchise included Midwest Natural Gas, Denver, Colo.; North Star Natural Gas, Wadena; People's Natural Gas division of Northern Natural Gas; and American Gas Company of Omaha, Neb.

Midwest Natural Gas promised to complete the project six months after approval by FPC. The company would pay the city $5,500 for an engineering study to determine feasability and cost.

North Star Natural Gas would expect to have completed the project by the heating season of 1965, and would pay the city $5,100 for the engineering study. People's Natural Gas and American Gas would pay the city $1,000 and $2,500 respectively.

Final action on the bids postponed until a special meeting is held, at which the gas committee will give its report. The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, August 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Following discussion on the gas bids, Dr. H. D. Wendt presented the case for a public swimming pool in the city. The river swimming area, Dr. Wendt said, is not adequate or safe for use by children or by mediocre or poor swimmers.

Dr. Wendt cited five reasons for this contention. Any swimming area with a current, he said, provides a hazardous condition which can cause inexperienced swimmers to be swpt away and drowned. The turbidity, or murkiness, of the water presents another hazard. "No one," Wendt said, "can save somebody he can't see." Visibility in the river is frequently not more than two feet.

Close proximity of motorboats to the swimming area was cited as another factor. "Most places have rules as to how close to swimmers motorboats can run," he said, "but if we were to enforce any such rule, we would have to eliminate either the swimmers or the motorboats."

Dr. Wendt also noted the difficulty of supervising the deepest, most potentially dangerous part of the swimming area.

Three Accidents Checked Tuesday By City Police

Two Area Girls Are Injured As Car Hits Combine South of City

Three accidents, all occurring yesterday afternoon, were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. At 1:35 p. m. yesterday a bicycle ridden by 11-year-old Grant Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Reed of Thief River Falls, was going east on West 8th Street. The bike stopped for the Main avenue stop sign and proceeded east across Main when a tractor and trailer which had been behind him did the same. In the process of crossing Main, the axle shaft which protrudes from the wheel of the tractor caught in the rear wheel of the bike, breaking about half of the spokes. No injuries were received about half of the spokes. No injuries were received and the accident is under investigation.

At 2:10 p. m. yesterday, on highway 32 just north of the Family Bowl, a self-propelled combine owned and operated by Kenneth Ortloff, rt. 5, was traveling south on highway 32 when it was struck from the rear by a station wagon driven by Joyce Bowman of Thief River falls. Passenger in the car was Laurel Myhrer of St. Hilaire.

Both girls were taken by ambulance to Northwestern hospital, Miss Bowman with facial injuries and Miss Myhrer with lacerations of both legs. Ortloff was driven to the hospital by his brother for a checkup after he complained of chest pains. Damage to the car was estimated at $250 and to the combine $150. The accident is under investigation.

At 5:36 p. m. yesterday a car driven by Bruce Russell, rt. 2, was traveling west on East 3rd street and had just crossed LaBree avenue when he had to stop as another vehicle had stopped just ahead in his lane of traffic. Damage was estimated at $75 to Russell's car and $60 to Magner's. The accident is under investigation.

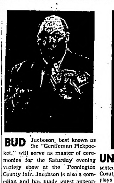
Exhibits Increase in All Divisions of County Fair



BUD Jacboson, best known as the "Gentleman Pickpocket," will serve as master of ceremonies for the Saturday evening variety show at the Pennington County fair. Jacobson is also a comedian and has made guest appearances on some of the nation's top television shows.

UNIQUE is the best word to describe the Skeets Trio which will be a featured act of the variety show to be presented before the grandstand Saturday evening at the Pennington Conuty fair. Stan Freese, a sophomore at the University of Minnesota, plays the tuba and has appeared with Lawrence Welk. Jim Aamodt, junior at the University of Minnesota, is recognized as one of the leading drummers in the Northwest. 63rd Annual Fair To Open Thursday For Four-Day Run

With exhibits in all divisions expected to show an increase over 1963, the 63rd Annual Pennington County fair will open Thursday in Thief River Falls for a four-day run. Livestock entries are expected to be particularly heavy, according to Ray Oen, chairman of the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., sponsor of the annual exposition. Entries in the 4-H division have increased by about 100 from 1963 to a total of about 1,600 this year.

In addressing a meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday, Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent, reviewed the current fair situation. He noted that the livestock pavilion at the fairgrounds is booked solid and added that it is likely a tent will be erected to house sheep crowded out of the sheep barn. Many out-of-county exhibitors will be showing at the fair this year, adding both size and quality to the livestock exhibits.

4-H Membership Gains

Membership in the county 4-H program has increased to 540 members, with the increased membership being partially responsible for the increased number of exhibits in the 4-H division. Five of the county clubs draw upon the city of Thief River Falls for membership, Stelmaschuk said, indicating that 4-H is not an exclusively rural program.

Basic reason for holding the fair is the same now as it was when the fair began in 1901, the county agent added. That is to provide an educational arena for the area and to stimulate area residents toward better work through competition. He urged participation in the fair from all residents of the entire community.

Grandstand Shows

Since the fair will have an entire four-day run, grandstand entertainment has been arranged for all four nights and one afternoon. Opening attraction will be the Johnny King Trans-World Auto Daredevils show at 8 p.m. Thursday. The show features automobile and motorcycle acts designed to keep spectators on the edge of their seats

The "twins" are Conrad Kvamme and Howard Newman, with Kvamme doing double duty as master of ceremonies.

Opening the program at 8 p. m. will be the parade of champions from 4-H competition, followed by a 15-minute performance by a group of 41 majorettes. Two county 4-H share-the-fun acts—"Douglas the Magician" presented by Douglas Aaseby and "Lars and Tina" presented by Gregory and Michael Radniecki—will also be included on the program.

James Maves Tells Of Experience at Scout Jamboree

Loca Boy Scout Among Thousands Attending Camp at Valley Forge

Editor's Note: The following is a letter received from James Maves, Thief River Falls Boy Scout, attending the Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. "Web" Maves.

9:30 A.M. Sunday
Valley Forge

Troop 68 with its 38 eager scouts and 3 leaders arrived at Valley Forge early Thursday morning.

The first morning was spent in setting up the 21 tents and dining flies of the troop. The rest of the day the boys were given free time and had a chance to rest up and recall the previous events of the Jamboree trip.

On Tuesday the 14th of July the troop had a bus tour of Washington D. C., and most of the boys climbed the Washington Monument. After the all-day tour of the nations capitol, the troop spent the night on the special Scout train and arrived in New York the next morning. The troop toured New York city in the morning and spent the afternoon and late evening at the World's fair.

The 6th National Jamboree officially opened on Friday night, the 17th of July with a spectacular opening day ceremony in the main arena. Lady Baden-Powell, the widow of Scouting's founder, gave a thrilling talk on the future of scouting. Following the arena show a huge fireworks display was given.

On Saturday most of the troops took a hike around part of Valley Forge and visited General Washington's headquarters. The Sioux patrol of Troop 68 has won first place in Scoutcraft for section one. Each member of the patrol was presented with a bronze medal to wear on his Scout shirt. On Wednesday they will have a chance to compete in the national contest for a gold medal.

During the arena show the boys will have a chance to see "Pa" and "Hoss" from the show Bonanza, Ted Williams, recording star, Lanny Ross and all the Astronauts. The President of the United States will also be present at one show, as will many U. S. Senators.

Mrs. Martin Engen entertained at a coffee party at her home on Wednesday afternoon. A special guest was Mrs. Barney Forbes of Everett, Wash.

Council Reviews Natural Gas and Swimming Pool

Finally, Dr. Wendt cited contamination of the water. Minnesota has low standards of cleanliness for swimming beaches, he said, whereas the laws governing swimming pools are much more strict.

Also speaking on the subject was J. M. Wilson, a member of the swimming pool study committee. He reported that in the results of a community attitude survey by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, 71 per cent of those who replied favored the construction of a pool. More persons favored this than any other single poject, he said.

The proposed pool would be 164 feet long and 75 feet wide, not counting deck area, or about the size of an "olympic" pool. The general consensus was that the pool should be in park surroundings to make it attractive. Discussion on this issue was also postponed to the August 11 meeting.

Also discussed at the meeting was leasing of the city scale to the City Cab company owned by Fred Johnson. Johnon would pay the city $50 per month rental. The transaction will be official after the drafting and signing of the agreement.

In other business, the council approved an application for a plumber's license by William Moser of Brooks; an application for renewal of an auctioneer's license by Donald Steinhauer; application for a building permit of $1,000 by Dwight Thrall for a domestic garage; and an application for a building permit of $650 by John W. Thorstad for a domestic garage.

Local talent will take over the grandstand program Friday evening when 4-H night will be observed at the fair. Talent acts from Pennington county and the surrounding territory will be presented with Conrad Kvamme of Ada as master of ceremonies.

On Saturday at 8 p.m. the Skeets Langley Trio will headline a professional variety show which also includes Gordon's Dogs; Holly Elwell, equilibrist; and Bud Jacobson, humorist and pickpocket. The show will be moved to the Lincoln high school auditorium if rain should prevent performance at the fairgrounds.

Persons who appreciate musical ability will be given a special treat on Sunday afternoon and evening when the Browning Family will present two programs filled with musical variety. The family consists of a man and wife, their six lovely daughters and two younger sons, playing a variety of musical instruments in highly entertaining fashion. For these performances also, the Lincoln high school auditorium will be used if rain prevents a program before the grandstand.

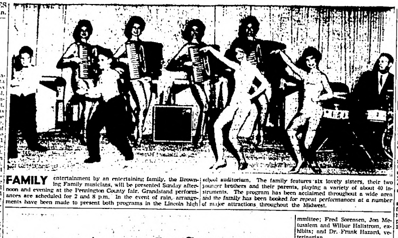
Kiddies Day Arranged

On the midway for all three days will be the Jack Thompson carnival with 20 rides and a large number concessions. Thursday and Friday will be designated as Kiddies Days with reduced ride rates both days from 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday will be designated as "Old Settlers Day" with arrangements being made by the Pennington county Historical society.

Superintendents of the various divisions at the fair this year include the following: Donovan Bruggeman and Art Stenberg, dairy and beef; Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, women's departments; Robert Parnow, sheep and swine; Wilbur Hallstrom and Edgar Naplin, crops; Ray Oen, Phillip Bergland, William Thompson and Merle Lundeen, police, parking and front gate; William Thompson and Wallace Payne, grandstand;

Also Dale Svendsgaard, 4-H livestock; Everett Amundgaard and Merle Lundeen, industrial exhibits; P. Stelmaschuk and Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, 4-H club work; Leonard Furuseth, Silas Hanson and Fred Sorensen, grounds and buildings; Ray Oen and Edgar Naplin, carnival and concessions; Ray Oen and Donovan Bruggeman, grievance committee; Fred Sorensen, Jon Metusalem and Wilbur Hallstrom, exhibits; and Dr. Frank Hazard, veterinarian.

Volunteer workers frmm a number of Thief River Falls organizations will again assist with ticket selling and taking during the fair.



FAMILY entertainment by an entertaining family, the Browning Family musicians, will be presented Sunday afternoon and evening at the Pennington County fair. Grandstand performances are scheduled for 2 and 8 p.m. In the event of rain, arrangements have been made to present both programs in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The family features six lovely sisters, their two younger brothers and their parents, playing a variety of about 40 instruments. The program has been acclaimed throughout a wide area and the family has been booked for repeat performances at a number of major attractions throughout the Midwest.

FLATTENED by rain and heavy winds on Sunday evening was this 45-acre field of oats on the Walter Czeh farm located one and one-half miles north of the Pennington county fairgrounds. Damage was estimated at 35 per cent although it can not be determined how well the bent and broken straw will recover prior to harvest.
